GOP Sweeps All Township Offices

But Demos Show Growing Strength

A full slate of Republicans was ushered into Wheeling Township office by a 3-2 margin Tuesday, but there were few victory cheers at GOP headquarters.

Tallies on the light turnout of 8,768 voters were still coming in Tuesday night at 8 p.m. as the town meeting was called to order at Miner Junior High School, Arlington Heights.

At Wheeling Township Democratic Headquaters, where Caucus Party returns were being gathered, Committeeman James Stavros claimed a moral victory for his party. Though the Caucus slate was tagged a coalition, at least four members had received the full support of the Democratic organization.

Incumbents re-elected on the GOP ticket were Albert C. Peters, supervisor; Dorothy Helm Hauff, clerk, John T. Peters, assessor; Marjorie Annen Carter, collector; Ethel Kolerus and Russell Conklin, auditors; and William Luehring, highway commissioner.

THE ONLY NEW name on the Republican ticket was Robert Cagann, auditor; but Merle Willis was in effect elected as auditor in Conklin's place since he had been appointed to the town board after the latter's death last month.

With only 1,300 split ballots cast in the township, the Republicans received 4,514 straight ticket votes and the Caucus Party received 2,954 by unofficial tally.

Split votes were not expected to change the victory margin substantially.

At Republican headquarters, Committeeman Thomas J. Houser announced, "We won, and that's important; but I can't say I'm pleased with the turnout in the township."

He termed the Republican problems in the township "a real question of apathy," and noted that the Caucus vote total was essentially comparable to the "hard-core" Democrat vote which turned out in the uncontested 1964 primary election.

STAVROS, ON THE other hand, termed the election "the greatest stride we've ever made in Wheeling Township." He speculated that, if the strongly Republican sections of Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect could have been excluded, the Caucus slate would have been carried to victory on the new Democrat surge.

Eight out of nine precincts in the village of Wheeling showed Caucus majorities. Both Buffalo Grove precincts and a single precinct in Des Plaines also went for the Caucus.

In Prospect Heights, one of the November election Republican forts, three of five precincts went for the Caucus, and one split evenly.

The Republicans remained strong in Arlington Heights, carrying some precincts by a 5-1 margin; but they also lost two precincts for the first time. In Mount Prospect, three of 10 precincts provided Caucus majorities.

OF THE CAUCUS candidates, aligned and admitted Democrats showed no greater or lesser strength than the presumably Republican element of the coalition.

Caucus candidates were: Donald L. Bunton for supervisor, Jean M. Buirge for clerk, Herman F. Koeneman for assessor, Donald L. Norman for collector, Sam A. Ernst for highway commissioner, and Russell Glave, Alvin Bernstein and Robert N. Hartmann for auditors.

Head runner on the GOP slate was Bill Luehring, public works director in Arlington Heights for more than 25 years. He picked up an average of nearly five votes a precinct in split voting in Arlington Heights.

The death of Russell Conklin had no apparent effect on the voting since, in fact, he ran stronger than the other GOP candidates for auditor in nearly every precinct.

CAUCUS CAMPAIGN charges of nepotism in sections of the GOP slate had no apparent effect on voting, unless it was felt by the entire slate.

The two Arlington Heights precincts which left Republican ranks were 32 and 40, one covering a portion of Hasbrook and the other at the west side of the village between Oakton and Thomas streets.

SEPARATE TABLES: Voters in Arlington Heights had to use separate polling places in Tuesday's election for Wheeling Township and Arlington Park Board officers. At Pioneer Park Fieldhouse, township voters clustered at the far wall, while park district voters are in the foreground. Those township voters lucky enough to vote at Pioneer or Recreation parks did not have to go to a separate building to cast their park ballots. (Staff photo)

Future Downtown Depicted By Savings Assn. Display

An artist's guess of what downtown Arlington Heights could look like in the future goes on display this morning (Thursday) in the lobby of the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Association.

The 4-by-8-foot display points up what could happen to the downtown area if portions of past plans and current thinking are put to work in a redevelopment program.

Savings and Loan President Paul E. Collins told a preview audience of 70 people Tuesday night his firm's purpose in developing the display was to stimulate thinking and participation in current planning efforts by a larger share of Arlington's community leaders and residents.

"We hope to arouse your interest, invite your suggestions and criticisms and obtain your participation," he said.

"This is not a plan by Arlington Heights Federal Savings. We don't pretend to be expert enough to formulate such a plan. This is simply a way of dramatizing the efforts of others in the hope it will give you a better perspective.

"We don't expect — or want — you to agree. We simply hope it illustrates some of the problems and suggested solutions."

COLLINS SAID his firm would pass along to the village any comments received from visitors to the display.

One of the most striking features of the artist's conception is the opening of vast parking areas through elimination of structures not considered modern or structurally sound. Another is the inclusion of a half dozen high rise buildings.

Still another is the depression of the North Western Railway tracks, with north-south streets freed of crossing gates. And the artist has sketched in an overpass left turn lane off State Road, to ease the State-Davis Street bottleneck.

Collins said the display concentrates on the downtown area south of the tracks "simply because of the limitation in space and perspective." He said a second display would be developed for the north side if the first display is successful.

The influences of two previous downtown plans, never fully implemented by the village board, can be seen in the artist's drawing, particularly the downtown plaza plan. The village board's adoption of the bull's eye concept of downtown development — high rise structures in the center of town with a buffer of lower structures around it — is also evident.

NOT REFLECTED, of course, is a downtown plan now in the development stage. That plan is being prepared by the Tec-Search planning firm under auspices of the village board's ACTION committee. (See adjacent story.)

Village Pres. John G. Woods said he found the association's display "interesting and exciting" and "a demonstration of incentive and interest that is desirable.

"As they have indicated, this was prepared to dramatize the efforts of the village board to do something along the lines of redeveloping the central business district and of encouraging participation in planning.

"This doesn't pretend to go beyond stimulating thought, and it's beneficial for that purpose."

WOODS SAID three problems he could see in the sketch involved finding incentives to tear down obsolete buildings in favor of parking, engineering problems in the State Road overpass lane and the absence of structures over the depressed railroad right of way.

"This contrasts with the idea I had of utilizing air rights which would help economically to make the depression of the tracks a reality and which would help tie the two sides of town more closely together."

George Justus, a Tec-Search representative, said the artist's work "points out very well the problems in developing the downtown area" and indicated the Tec-Search plan "will be a stepping stone between what we have today and the kind of development represented here."

Represented at the meeting were business and community leaders, village officials and candidates. Prominent among the questioners were Representative Party candidate for village president Charles E. Livingston and trustee candidate John Griffin.

Downtown Committee To View Alternates

Downtown merchants and property owners will have virtually their last chance to help plan downtown Arlington Heights next Tuesday when the village board's ACTION committee will meet to view alternate plans.

"We want everyone who is concerned with the development of the downtown area to appear at the meeting to offer their comments," said Trustee John J. Walsh, chairman of ACTION.

The meeting will be at 8 p.m. in the Village Hall board room.

Spokesmen for the Tec-Search professional planning firm, which is drafting a downtown redevelopment plan under ACTION's auspices, will give two 15-minute presentations on alternate routes the final plan may take.

"THEY WILL have a series of overlays to show hypothetically what can be incorporated in the plan. Most of the time will be devoted to questions and discussion," according to Walsh.

"If there is a time when property owners and businessmen can make themselves felt, this is it. We want to provoke the interest of everyone concerned and have them get their oars wet in this planning process.

The ACTION group is aiming for final agreement on a downtown redevelopment plan in June. The formal plan and a model depicting its implementation will be prepared after agreement is reached with the Tec-Search firm.

WALSH said Tuesday's meeting "probably is as important as the first ACTION meeting." That session, called for to form the committee, attracted 10 persons.

In the months since then, attendance at ACTION meetings has averaged about 25, "and we want to consult with more people at this stage."

Political Campaigns Stepped Up

The pitch and pace of the Arlington Heights municipal election campaign were raised this week with appearances by both slates at two forums and introduction of several new charges and claims.

Members of the Arlington Caucus Party and Representative Party slates debated issues at the annual meeting of the Hasbrook Civic Assn. Sunday afternoon at Hasbrook Park fieldhouse. The full slates were scheduled to appear at a forum last night (Wednesday) at Pioneer Park under sponsorship of the Arlington Heights League of Women Voters.

Statements by candidates for village presidency on both slates appear inside this issue. The LWV forum will be covered in detail in next week's Herald.

Hearing on Budget Set

With predictions that the municipal tax rate in Arlington Heights will remain stable for this year and the following two years, the majority of the 1965-66 budget was brought out of the village board's finance committee Monday. Public hearing on the full document was set for April 19.

Trustee Norval Stephens, finance committee chairman, announced that, depending on an increase of total assessed valuation in the village from $124 million to $132 million, the tax rate should remain stable next year at 54 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

That rate would be identical to the rate just announced for 1964 village taxes.

The budget draft to be presented April 19, with the exception of the water and sewer fund and parking fund (self-sustaining branches), anticipates expenditure of $1,289,767 for the 1965-66 year.

Last year's budget for the same categories was nearly identical, but included $100,000 in a public benefit fund for assessment projects. This year a reduction of that fund appropriation to zero means that the budget has been increased about $100,000 elsewhere without any strain on revenue sources.

THE PUBLIC benefit fund, without additional appropriation, is still expected to contain more than $80,000 at the end of the present fiscal year, however.

Major budget increases this year are planned for the fire, police and special accounts funds. These alone total more than $100,000, but there have been minor reductions projected for other accounts to bring the total down to last year's level.

Addition of three members to the police force, salary raises, and purchase of new squad cars would raise the police fund from about $313,000 to more than $350,000. Three more firemen, raises, and last year's establishment of rank would jump the fire fund from $108,000 to more than $135,000.

The special accounts fund includes an increase in contingency provisions from $90,000 to $110,000, even though estimated expenditures under that category for this year are only $40,000.

ANOTHER category for claims, judgments and refunds, which was more than $10,000 over the budget this year, has been increased from $6,000 to $20,000.

Most significant decrease in the budget is projected for the public works department, though two more persons are to be added to the staff and $17,000 in capital outlay is projected.

The 1964-65 budget was about $295,000, and more than $313,000 will be spent. The 1965-66 budget is for $283,000—lower than expenditures two years ago.

Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson explained that last year's figure included $22,000 for a building addition and fencing at the public works garage. The year before that, $6,000 was spent for construction. No such work is planned for 1965-66.

ANOTHER budget increase of $13,000 in the building and zoning department may be traced to projected purchase of eight automobiles, general salary increases, and addition of one half-time secretary.

The budget figure for that department is $60,325, but Hanson said it is more than equaled by permit fees and inspection fees charged for the department's work.

Totals for other funds are: Board of Trustees, $5,100 (including a salary increase for the village president from $840 to $2,000); village manager, $29,943 (not counting his expected salary adjustment); finance department, $66,726; municipal building, $17,450; legal department, $22,100; village clerk, $8,500; boards and commissions, $16,075; engineering and planning, $55,190; public health, $15,715; municipal pension, $35,000, and civil defense, $2,500.

Village revenue for 1965-66 from sales tax, licenses, fines, fees, investments and miscellaneous sources channeled into general village operation is expected to be $831,180. An expected cash balance of $110,000 and property taxes must make up the remainder of the projected $1,326,680 appropriation necessary to derive $1,289,767 in operating funds after loss and costs of collection.

THAT LEVY, if assessed valuation increases as expected, would produce a tax rate of 28.79 cents. To this would be added 2.45 cents for a $32,400 police pension fund levy, 12.94 cents for a $170,000 bond and interest levy; and 9.82 cents for a $129,600 library levy.

The total would be an even 54 cents per $100 valuation. Stephens, in his presentation to the entire village board, said because of the village's three-year budgetary procedure he could anticipate that the rate would not vary more than one or two cents in the following two fiscal years.

He added that, because of rising taxes in other public bodies, the village's percentage of the total tax bill could be expected to go down next year and in the following two.

Arrest 2 On Betting Charges

Cook County sheriff's police and Arlington Heights officers cooperated Monday in the arrest of two Arlington residents on gambling charges.

Arrested were Emil Hoggay, 206 S. Vail Ave., on a charge of being keeper of a gambling house, and Edward LaBantshnig, 1048 S. Walnut Ave., charged with making book.

Hoggay is owner of the Turf Pool Hall, 1 N. Vail Ave.; LaBantshnig is connected with Eleanor's Bake Shop, 12 W. Campbell St., which is owned by his mother Mrs. Antonie LaBantshnig.

POLICE WERE called to the bakery by sheriff's officers, who had taken LaBantshnig into custody there. The group moved from there to the pool hall, which the sheriff's office had a warrant to search. They arrested Hoggay there.

Sheriff's police had the pool hall under investigation and the arrests were made on a charge by County Officer Donald Shaw that he had arranged a bet there and that LaBantshnig had paid off the bet.

State Road Name Change Okayed Despite Grumbles

Arlington Heights Road will have one name beginning next Jan. 1.

The village board Monday instructed Village Atty. Jack Siegel to draft an ordinance changing that portion of the road within the village from State Road to Arlington Heights Road. While not final, the action indicated the board will make the name change.

THE PROPOSAL was brought to the village board by Trustee John J. Walsh Jr., who cited the inconvenience of having two names apply to the road. It is named Arlington Heights Road outside the village, from Highway 83 on the north to Itasca on the south.

Village Pres John G. Woods confided he had received a "deluge of phone calls" (one) after a story about Walsh's proposal appeared in last week's Herald. Other trustees indicated they had received a call, too.

The calls came from individuals citing changes necessary in business cards and stationery, and one was from a merchant who recently had his State Road address painted on his truck.

WOODS SAID the alternative would be asking the county and state to change the name of their portions to State Road and added, "I don't know what problems we'd have there."

Trustee John White suggested the proposal be sent to the public relations committee; Trustee Bud Beacham, however, said the matter had been discussed previously by the committee and had not been resolved.

Beacham said when residents give directions to visitors and delivery men, "It's confusing. You always have to be sure to give both names."

Trustee Carl F. Mees, indicating, "I can't see that it's an important question," joined Trustee Norval B. Stephens in voting against the change.

IN FAVOR were Woods and Trustees Beacham, Walsh and White.

Village Manager L. A. Hanson estimated it would cost $200 to $300 to make the change in street signs, at $6 a sign. White suggested the village place Arlington Heights Road signs with the State Road signs until the change is effective, to reduce confusion.

OVERINFLATED TIRES ADD LITTLE TO GAS ECONOMY. It's true that overinflated tires do reduce road friction somewhat, since less tire surface actually touches the road. But the small gas savings are no compensation for worn-out, over-stressed tires and the expense of replacing them. Ormsbee Wins 3rd Park Term

With only 316 votes out of a total of more than 15,000 registered voters in the community, E. Elliott Ormsbee was elected Tuesday to serve his third term on the Arlington Heights Park District's Board of Commissioners.

Five candidates had filed candidacy for the one open board position, and only 931 votes were cast in the election.

Totals for other candidates were: Dick Drolet, 245; Fred Goble, 192; Joseph J. Connery, 143. Robert E. Zember, 35.

TOTALS FOR the district's two precincts revealed that all candidates received their heaviest support from their own neighborhoods. All said before the election that they had not been campaigning actively throughout the village, but rather had been talking to friends and neighbors.

Ormsbee was beaten in the second precinct (south side) by Drolet, 185-184, though it was also the victor's strongest precinct. Drolet received 60 votes in the first precinct to Ormsbee's 132.

Connery, while scoring 129 votes in his north-side precinct, received only 14 on the south side. Goble received 122 votes at Recreation Park and 70 at Pioneer, while Zember received 26 at Recreation and 9 at Pioneer.

ORMSBEE, athletic director at Wheeling High School, is now serving as president of the park board. His original expression of doubts on seeking a third term prompted the other candidacy filings.

Park Supt. Thomas Thornton said the voter turnout, on a balmy spring day, was lighter than the immediately previous board election; but he added that there had been six candidates at that time rather than five.

School Election Is 'No Contest'

Voters in Arlington Heights elementary School District 25 will go to the polls this Saturday to elect persons to fill two school board posts. Names of only two candidates will appear on the ballot.

The two, incumbent Harold Sortor and Ted C. Seiler, 524 S. Walnut Ave., were chosen as candidates Feb. 18 by the District 25 School Nominating Committee.

At one time, 13 aspirants were involved in the school caucus selection process, but none expressed interest in board candidacy after the selection had been made by that group of chosen representatives from 45 community organizations.

INCUMBENT board president Victor Myer, though he had sought another term before the caucus group, indicated immediately after he was passed over by that body that he would not run in opposition to the slate on which he was elected for his present term.

School board secretary Peter Bakas, in charge of election proceedings, said this week he is anticipating a light turnout Saturday because of the apparent lack of a contest.

Voting precincts and polling places are to be the same as those used in the district's Feb. 20 building referendum, generally following primary school attendance areas.

Polls will be open from noon to 7 p.m. Only registered voters who have lived in the state one year, the county 90 days, and the district 30 days are eligible to cast a ballot.

Easter Egg Hunt Slated for April 17

The fourth annual Easter egg hunt will be held on Saturday, April 17, at Hasbrook, Pioneer and Recreation Parks in Arlington Heights.

This year, the Arlington Heights Park District is conducting this hunt for children in the third grade and under. The event will begin at 10 a.m. at all locations.

Children are asked to meet in the gym or auditorium of the park nearest their residence. The program will begin with a series of cartoon features, followed by the search for the colored eggs.

OVER 200 dozen eggs will be purchased by the park district. As a service to the community, some of the local Camp Fire groups and their leaders will color the eggs. These girls will hide the eggs the morning of the Easter egg hunt.

Members of the Arlington Heights Junior Chamber of Commerce have offered their services in helping to supervise the youngsters.

Prizes are donated each year by a number of the local merchants.

Boys with Pet Falcon Get Warning

Two Arlington Heights youths were told by police Sunday they could not feed live blackbirds to a pet falcon — at least not inside village limits.

The youths, aged 15 and 16, were questioned by police at the north side home of one of them after an anonymous phone call to police. The caller said the youths are catchinb blackbirds, tying strings to their legs, and letting the falcon catch them.

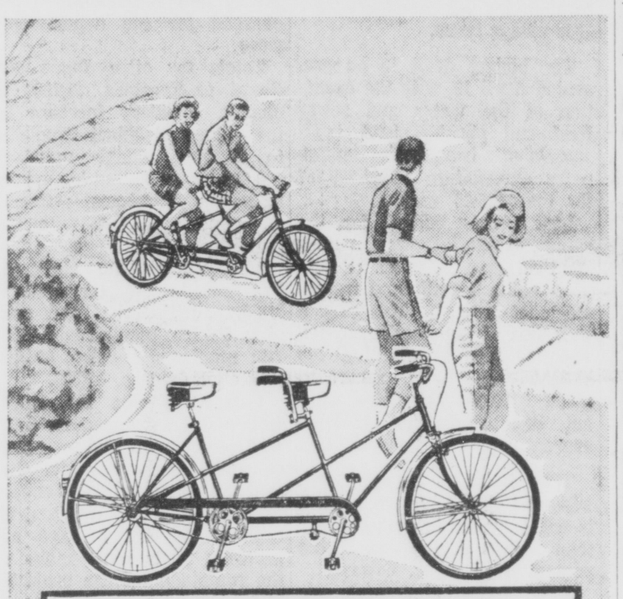

The youth who owned the bird told police he was not aware of an ordinance prohibiting falcon hunting in the village, and he promised to comply with it in the future.

Ask Park Be Named 'Carlisle'

The Arlington Heights Village Board has asked the park board to name one of the major parks to be developed under a recently approved bond referendum for the late Village Pres. Edward G. Carlisle.

A resolution approved by the village body Monday suggested a Carlisle Park "in recognition of the devoted service he rendered and the significant contributions he made to the civic progress of Arlington Heights." Mr. Carlisle was a village trustee from 1951 to 1955, he served as village president from 1957 until his death in 1961.

VILLAGE PRES. John G. Woods said the village had approached the park district for a Carlisle Park in relation to a previous site but was told it already had been named for Albert G. Volz, a long time resident of Arlington Heights, instrumental in establishment of the park system.

Woods said Carlyle Place was not named for the former village president and that a park would be "the ideal way to give recognition to him."

FIRST-HAND CHECK on ceiling tile installation at Wilson School, Arlington Heights, was part of the District 25 school board's annual tour of facilities in preparation for discussion of the coming year's building fund budget. Wilson was extensively remodeled during the past fiscal year, and false ceiling was put in among alterations necessary to make office space out of old classroom. Lester Shadel, assistant business manager for the district, points out the work to board members Victor Myer (left) and Joseph Faner. Other board members are in background making their own inspection along with Ted C. Seiler, candidate for the board.

Increase in Building Fund Budget Proposed

A preliminary building fund budget totaling nearly $496,000 will be presented to the Arlington Heights Elementary District build the Park School roof and

The budget, covering the 1965-1966 school year, represents an increase of roughly 10 per cent over last year's $449,000 budget. Two years ago, the budget totaled $301,000.

The building fund budget supports maintenance and improvement programs for the district's 16 schools, part of custodial and groundkeepers' salaries, insurance, heating and other utilities and related expenses.

Salaries make up nearly half of the budget, with $172,000 under plant operation for an increase of $7,000, and $58,000 for maintenance men's salaries, an increase of $14,000.

THE NEW budget includes $75,000 for work to bring buildings up to the standards demanded by the Life Safety Code, approved by the state last year. Last year's budget included $50,000 for such work, but safety code work has not begun.

The 23-page budget anticipates a window cleaning bill of $2,215, a water and sewer bill of $4,300, an electricity bill of $45,600 and a telephone bill of $16,700. Heating costs are covered in the educational fund budget.

Maintenance to be performed by contractors totals $44,000 and ranges from $25 to replace drapes in the North School teachers' lounge to $3,500 to re-25 board of education Monday. $3,900 for similar work at Westgate School.

MAINTENANCE materials, from black dirt to keys, are budgeted for $17,900.

Insurance premiucs, representing a fixed expense, are budgeted for $7,000.
$7,000.

Capital outlays, including the Life Safety Code work, total $118,000. The largest single capital outlay is $3,500 to pay an assessment for improvement of Kaspar Avenue at Ridge School.

The capital outlays portion of the budget also includes $27,000 to be transferred to a special building fund for payment on the 1962 building program.

Underground Wiring Rule Under Study

A proposal to require underground wiring in all future Arlington Heights subdivisions was referred to the village board's legal committee Monday.

Village Pres. John G. Woods, who brought the proposal before the board, said the benefits of underground wiring over overhead utilities "are pretty obvious. Hasbrook and some of our other fine subdivisions have it already."

He suggested the legal committee study the proposal and report back to the board "with all deliberate speed."

Reps Say Caucus Bungled on Bank

In a talk at a coffee given April 3 for candidates of the Representative Party slate, Charles E. Livingston, candidate for village president in the Arlington Heights municipal election April 20, stated that it is time the village government stopped living in a "never-never land."

"The tax increase that we have all just received is outrageous," Livingston continued, "and there is only one way that this can be stopped from happening again next year and the year after, and that is to go out and solicit real estate tax and sales tax producing businesses such as research and educational facilities, users of office space and various light industrial concerns, who can move into our Village and share with us the burden of these taxes.

"Mr. Woods (incumbent Caucus candidate for village president) is telling the residents of Arlington Heights that they can be proud of the job his administration has done in the last four years in this area. We don't agree. The downtown area is antiquated and unappealing because of lack of communication between the present administration and the majority of businessmen within the downtown district.

"WE FEEL that a new administration such as ours would be able to create a harmonious relationship between businessmen and Village government within which these improvements might be made.

"When people do bring something before the board of trustees, they are usually delayed for months and even years before they get a decision and a typical example of this is the three years of waiting for a definite answer on zoning, etc., for the old St. Peter property."

Livingston brought out an issue still pending in court: "Recently I had the opportunity to talk at length to a prominent banker in our town who had developed a plan to construct a modern three-story office building and bank, including providing the city with a usable parking lot, and thus would modernize and beautify this portion of the downtown area.

"The plan was accepted in its original condition by the Village Board in a written contract and the office space available was rented to national corporations. For actual reasons so far undisclosed, the present administration had a change of mind and refused the building permit, which, in effect, broke their contract with the bank.

"THUS THE Village of Arlington Heights lost the opportunity to reduce taxes and to improve a portion of the downtown area. This disagreement was taken to court by the bank where the decision of the judge was in favor of the bank, and the Village officials have now taken the matter to the Appellate Court, and the only reason for this change of mind that has come to light has been that when the new buildings would be built, the view of the railroad station and Northwest Highway would be blocked from sight.

"Your Representative Party feels that this disagreement should never have happened and that all of the facts should have been made public from the beginning, with a contract agreed upon and honored. It is felt that our Village has lost many friends on this problem alone, and we point the situation out because we feel that it can be used as a typical example of mismanagement of Village affairs by the present administration.

"Doesn't it seem incredible that no one can provide an answer to the question, 'Why did we lose such an important asset to our community?' "

At the Saturday evening coffee, Livingston went on to say, "Arlington Heights is surrounded by planned communities developed by businessmen who know how to get a job done. Their success should be a guide for our future planning.

"WE HAVE industrially zoned areas to be developed at the far north and south ends of town. However, there have been no corporations clamoring to use this available commercial property. In fact, this property may never be used by commercial corporations unless our village government actively solicits their businesses.

"The Representative Party has a plan of personally contacting many corporations to encourage their developing in Arlington Heights. It is not our intention to sit and wait for the potential businessmen to come to us. We will go to them.

"We do need them desperately if we are to progress as a village and to help us pay for the schools, streets, parks and water which we must have to maintain a well-balanced, desirable community in which to live."

Livingston concluded his remarks by asking those in attendance, "Isn't it about time we have a representative, progressive government who can and will arouse the residents of the community to the future we can have in store for us once we really get moving?"

Move for Meeting with School Board

The Commonwealth Edison Co. was granted a special use permit to build an electrical substation north of Rand Road at Monday's Arlington Heights Village Board meeting.

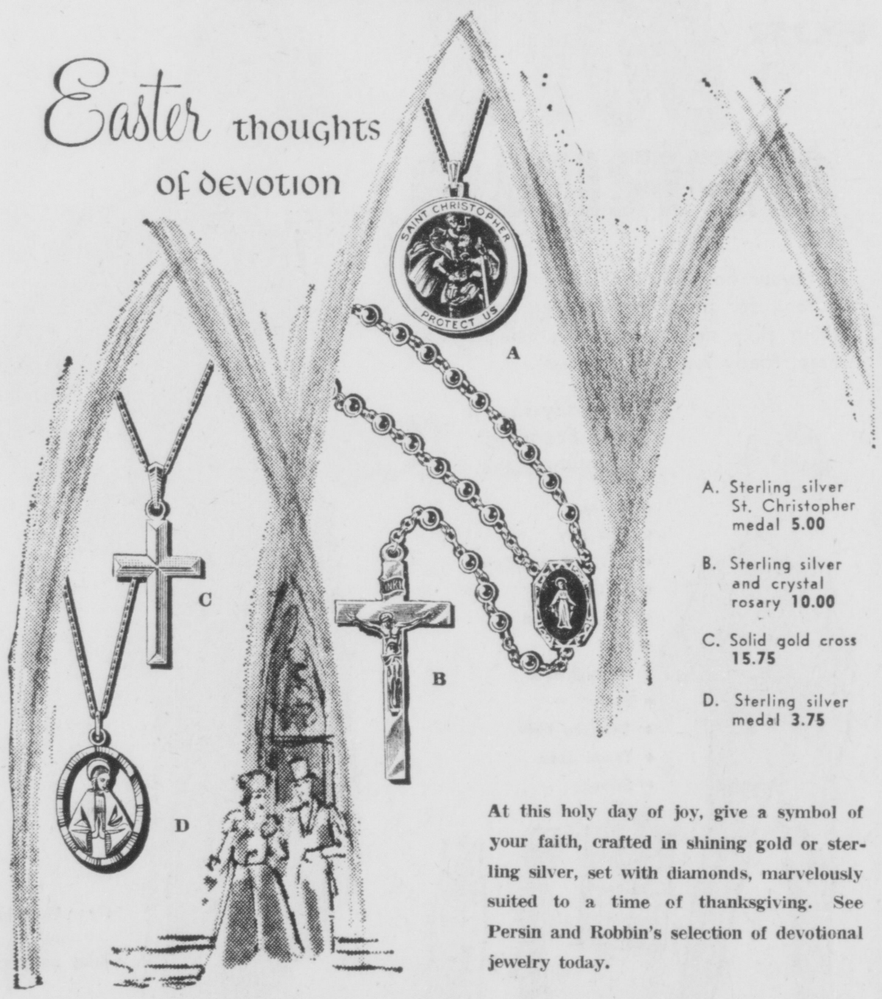

The substation will be built on a triangular parcel adjacent to the power firm's right of way. It is roughly 1,000 feet west of Arlington Heights Road and 700 feet north of Rand Road.

THE REQUEST was approved by the plan commission after a March 17 hearing at which no objectors appeared.

The utility firm is to present a letter of intent, with its building plans, to provide screening or shielding for the installation.

Two Area Havens Shelter Lost, Unwanted Pets

by MICHAEL HESS
Staff Writer

Dogs, cats, birds, chickens, hampsters, pigs — all unwanted.

Homes, masters, food, warmth, good treatment, kind words — all wanted.

The task of bringing unwanted and wanted together belongs to animal shelters. There are two in this area:

Kay's Animal Shelter is located on the corner of Arlington Heights and Hintz Roads in Palatine (259-2907). Orphans of the Storm is on the corner of Deerfield and Sanders Roads in Deerfield (WI 5-0235).

Both shelters are operated as non-profit, charitable organizations which exist solely on donations. As such they lead a tax free existence. Also, neither receives any state aid nor are there any inspections of the shelters or governmental control over them.

Kay's was first established in Evanston around 1938 and after 10 years was moved to Morton Grove. Three years ago came the move to its present location in order to afford more room and more complete care for the harbored pets.

While the shelter is owned by Katherine Maxwell of Highland Park, Mr. and Mrs. James Smith manage the establishment and live on the premises. They have no special background which qualifies them for the job they do, it's just that they like animals.

"THERE'S NO special training to it," said Virginia Smith. "We just take in animals and adopt them out."

The Smiths will take in any animal for any reason. Animals come from people who find them, from owners who don't want them or can't keep them, and from police who pick them up. They can be admitted every day between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m.

If a stray is brought in then every attempt is made to locate the owner. Tags and collars are checked, newspaer ads are read and placed, police stations are notified. If after three days the owner isn't found then the animal becomes Kay's and a new master is sought.

When an owner wishes to give up a pet then the placement search is begun immediately.

EACH PERSON bringing in an animal signs a release relinquishing all claims and is asked for a small donation to defray care and feeding costs. Some leave no money at all, a few have left as much as $50, according to Mrs. Smith, but most leave between one and five dollars.

People seeking a pet to adopt may visit Kay's from 1 to 5 p.m. each day except Sunday and examine the occupants of between 50 and 60 cages. Mrs. Smith guessed that about 100 persons visit each week. The charge for any adopted animal is usually minimal.

If the original owner can't be found, if there is no adopter, if an animal is sick when admitted then the animal is put away or euthanised. "How long the animal is kept here depends upon its disposition and health," said Mrs. Smith.

KAY'S TAKES in over 100 animals per week, between 400 and 600 per month. They are mainly dogs and cats though alligators, goats, foxes, skunks, and racoons have also been offered for adoption. No figures were available on exactly how many of those are placed in new homes.

"We are able to place the majority of the good ones," concluded Mrs. Smith.

Orphans of the Storm was started in 1928 by Irene Castle. It has remained at the original site since then and today is quite similar to Kay's in general operation.

During the summer when outside pens are used, Orphans can hold about 125 animals, in the winter about 60. According to Mrs. Castle's personal secretery, Mrs. Watson of Lake Bluff, the shelter takes in between 700 and 800 animals each month.

"A good many of those brought in are just tramps, they are old and sick," said Mrs. Watson. "We place about 700 animals a month."

RECEIVING hours at Orphans are between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. every day. On each day but Sunday those seeking a pet may visit between 1 and 4 p.m.

Another agency which serves the Northwest suburbs is the Anti-Cruelty Society at 157 W. Grand in Chicago (644-8338). The Society will pick up strays and unwanted pets throughout the suburban area. All those picked up are held a minimum of five visiting days. Available animals can be seen from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. every week day and from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. on Saturday.

According to J. J. Shaffer of the ACS. the Chicago shelter admits between 40,000 and 50,000 pets a year and, of those, places about 5,000 and returns about 1,400 to their original owners. Approximately 13,000 animals are accepted each year with a request from their owners that they be put to sleep.

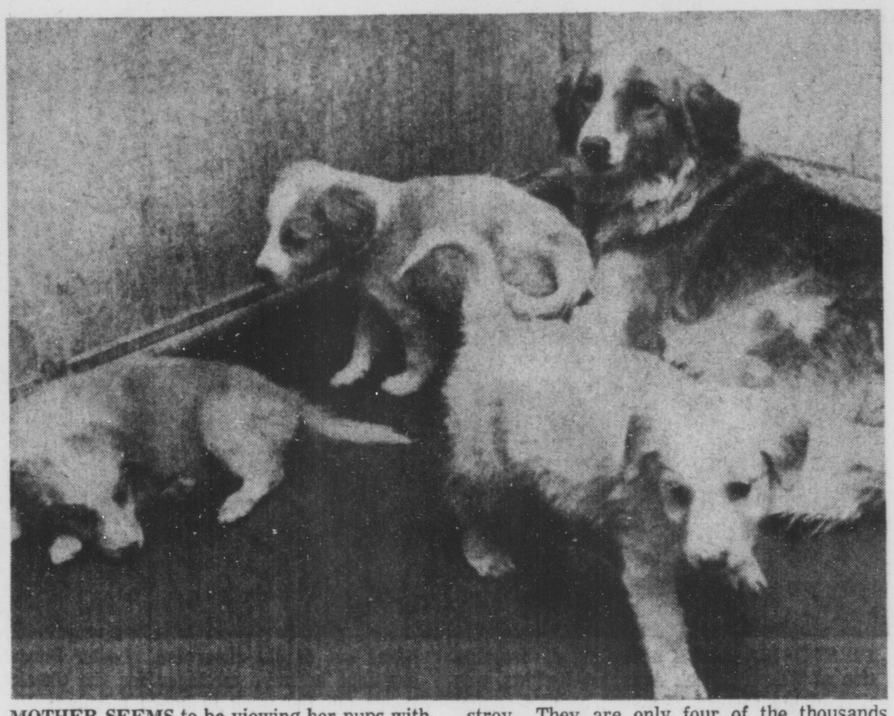

Of course there are other groups which aid in the placement and/or disposal of deserted animals:

LOCAL AND state police will pick up strays, try to locate the owner and then place them in an animal hospital or shelter. They also enforce existing animal treatment laws under which fines of between $5 and $200 can be levied. Punishable offenses include abandoning an animal, letting a dog run without a leash and owning an animal which does not carry the proper license and rabies tags.

Area animal hospitals and boarding kennels will also help place a few foundlings and unwanteds each year.

and disposing of abandoned animals falls. Those two shelters accept the unwanted and search for homes where they'll be

Though there are others who help, in this area, it is on Kay's Animal Shelter and Orphans of the Storm that the major burden of caring for, adopting out, wanted. (B10

MOTHER SEEMS to be viewing her pups with some concern, and no wonder. She and her litter were left at Kay's Animal Shelter. If no one comes who wants to take a puppy home, her youngsters will be among the unlucky animals which Kay's is forced to destroy. They are only four of the thousands of unwanted and abandoned pets which each year are left to the care of such a shelter. It's not unusual that mother seems concerned. (Staff Photo)

"I'M LUCKY!" That's what the young St. Bernard might say if he could talk. He was a resident of Kay's Animal Shelter in Palatine but he had just heard the news that he would soon be adopted. His new parents had to have a fence built around their back yard before taking him home, however since this is one dog which will grow, and grow, and grow, and . . . (Staff Photo)

Peters, Mrs. Chapman Debate Township Role

Township government was characterized as "a creature of the state legislature" by both Albert C. Peters and Rep. Eugenia Chapman at an Arlington Heights Community Council forum last Thursday in Hasbrook Park Fieldhouse.

But the two speakers, opponents in a debate on the value of township government, found little else to agree upon. Peters said state law provided a foundation for township government operation. Mrs. Chapman, Democratic State Representative from Arlington Heights, said state law limited township functions, adding that "the purpose it serves is not only a limited one but a diminishing one."

PETERS, WHEELING Township supervisor for the past four years, cited as benefits of the township system poor aid amounting to $70,000, road and bridge maintenance costing $60,000, surplus fund contributions of $290,000 to local schools, and $25,000 used to underwrite mental health programs here.

Township officials shouldn't be so proud of the surplus fund contributions, said Mrs. Chapman, pointing out that they are accumulated only because state law requires payment of a 2 per cent commission on all property taxes paid through the township collector's office.

The money comes from funds levied by other taxing bodies, she said, and its accumulation in the township treasury means the other governmental units have less to spend. In voting surplus township funds to the schools, she added, citizens are only returning money which was levied for them in the first place.

TOWNSHIP GENERAL assistance to the poor was a subject of discussion for the debaters. Peters said that the township's poor, who he said lived mostly in Wheeling and Buffalo Grove, could get prompt assistance through his office once they were found to be qualified. To receive ADC or other categorical assistance through the Cook County Department of Public Aid, he said, took 90 to 120 days.

Township welfare duplicates county programs, on the other hand, Mrs. Chapman countered. She said that the Cook County Department of Public Aid administers without delay, temporary township-type welfare assistances for Chicago in addition to categorical programs such as ADC.

Peters said 15 to 20 families per month receive assistance through the township, with requests for assistance numbering 30 to 40 per month. (ACM

Banker Seeks Post As School Trustee

An Arlington Heights resident with 18 years experience in commercial banking and finance has announced his candidacy for Wheeling Township school trustee.

William T. Flynn, 38, of 801 E. Oakton St., an 11-year resident of the community, described himself this week as "an interested citizen with no political axe to grind" in announcing his bid for the six-year post which will be filled in this Saturday's balloting at precincts throughout High School District 214.

WILLIAM T. FLYNN

Flynn, who is the assistant cashier and trust officer of the Palatine National Bank, said he feels his background and experience fit the trustee requirements, since it is largely a function of auditing and administration of school district funds.

"THIS IS A JOB which should be completely free of political entanglements," he said. "It should be administered by someone who is qualified by experience in financial matters."

Flynn said he felt strongly that the trustee post must not degenerate into a political plum. He urged the voters to cast their ballots on the qualifications of the candidates.

A member of the American Institute of Banking, he has been active in church and community affairs for ten years.

He is currently treasurer of the St. James Holy Name Society, and has been a member of its executive board for five years. He also is treasurer and past chairman of the local Community Heart Fund.

Flynn and his wife, the former Nancy Curry of Chicago, have four school-age children. (ACM

Dubois' Cantata Set By Lutheran Church

Lutheran Church of the Cross will present a sacred cantata entitled "The Seven Last Words of Christ," by Theodore Dubois, on Good Friday, April 16, at 8 p.m. at the church.

The church is located just north of Forest View High School, south of Golf Road and east of State Road.

"Our senior choir, under the direction of Herbert K. Meyer, director of music, will seek to provide a series of sacred music performances twice annually for the musical enrichment of our community," according to the Rev. Bruce K. Benander, pastor.

This will be the first of the series of choir concerts. Mrs. Horst Hackemer of Chicago will be guest organist.

SOLOISTS FOR the Good Friday performance will be: Mrs. Rudolph Hazucha, of Arlington Heights, soprano; Harold Campbell, guest tenor from Franklin Park; and Pastor Benander, baritone.

The seven last words, which form the basis of the cantata, are taken from the scriptural passages in the first four books of the New Testament.

Dubois has musically sought to interpret the meaning of the last moments of the life of Christ. (ACME

RESULTS:

8 years ago, the Arlington Heights Caucus inaugurated a new era in local government by developing a town-meeting system of candidate selection, based on the principle that the office should seek the qualified man.

The merit of that principle was immediately recognized by Arlington Heights, with the result that during the past 8 years, under skilled administration, the "growing pains" of our village have been capably met.

These are some of the accomplishments of the current Caucus administration:

1. Cut the village share of your property taxes from 12% to 10%.
2. Annexed 2,200 adjacent acres, in order to control their development and provide 800 properly-zoned acres for research facilities and other light industry.
3. Attracted 3 new tax-sharing companies, with more on the way.
4. Stimulated $10,000,000 in new downtown construction, now in various stages of development, which when complete will reduce village property taxes about 4%.
5. Initiated 2 special censuses to determine population growth, thus securing $60,000 yearly in additional village revenue from state Motor Fuel Tax funds, allocated on the basis of population.
6. Built a modern Village Hall, sold the old site, and expanded the Public Works Building.
7. Installed an expanded storm sewer system.
8. Completed 13 different street improvement projects, at a cost of $1,100,000.
9. Initiated a village forestry program, for tree maintenance and replacement, including successful Dutch Elm disease control, rated among the best in the state.
10. Added 369 downtown parking spaces and purchased the south side railroad parks for additional parking.
11. Implemented a $1,000,000 development program in Park Manor.
12. Added 2 new wells (the 8th and 9th) and created water storage capacity for an additional 1,100,000 gallons.
13. Up-graded previous building and zoning standards for all residential dwellings.
14. Successfully opposed undesirable County multiple zoning which threatened to change the basic single-family character of our community.
15. Became the first suburb to develop a positive apartment policy to limit and control apartment construction in the village, which policy has served as a model for 35 other suburbs.
16. Obtained removal of the Redi-Mix plant, eliminating a traffic hazard on Northwest Highway.
17. Secured from the state 3 grade crossings for Palatine Road (at Kennicott, Buffalo Grove and Schoenbeck Roads) and approval for 5 new traffic light systems, (one operating at State & Park, 3 others coming for State Road at Sigwalt, Miner and Euclid, and a 4th at Northwest Highway & Foundry Road).
18. Obtained a District Court in Arlington Heights for the convenience of residents.
19. Secured from the state relocation of Highway 53, to avoid cutting through Greenbrier.
20. Obtained the active participation of more than 300 residents in various Citizens' Committees such as:

"ACTION" COMMITTEE—to revitalize the downtown area

"ARLINGTON HEIGHTS PROGRESS"—to secure desirable industry

"ARLINGTON YOUTH COUNCIL"—for special attention to youth needs

"ARLINGTON SAFETY COUNCIL"—for traffic and other safety measures

Results like these, which have kept Arlington Heights the finest Northwest Suburban community, don't just happen. They come from experienced administration and the cooperation of hundreds of public-spirited residents.

You insure continuation of this responsible and independent government, by voting ARLINGTON CAUCUS in the village election April 20.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS NORTHSIDE SHOPPING NEWS

of Arlington Jewelers

June, coming up soon, means weddings . . . in many cases perhaps the first one besides Cupid to know the intentions of a young man is Leonard Reckwerdt of Arlington Jewelers. In his 36 years as a jewelry designer, Mr. Reckwerdt has lost count of the many engagement and wedding rings he has made and sold. Some of the rings he has handled a second time when they were brought back after many years for a more modern setting.

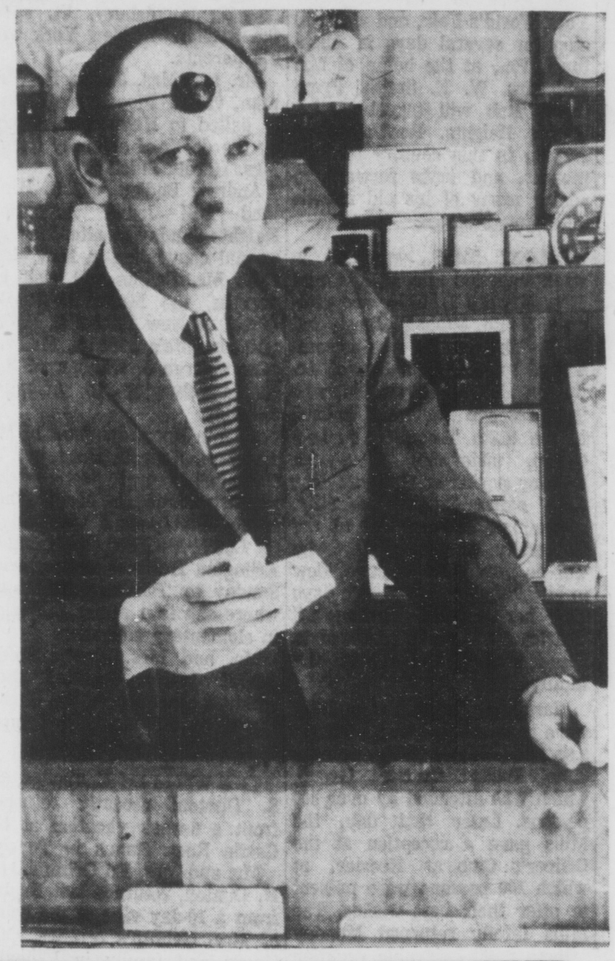

Mr. Reckwerdt is more jewelry designer than merchant. His first interest is the value of the stone, the craftsmanship inherent in a piece of jewelry, the story behind it. It is a safe wager that you can't go into his shop at 110 N. Evergreen, Arlington Heights and leave without having learned some new bit of gemology or history . . . a diamond within a diamond, the colors of diamonds, the difference in pearls, a handmade watch, an antique clock . . . Mr. Reckwerdt can explain them all and show you examples.

After 4 years of apprenticeship, Mr. Reckwerdt became a jewelry designer in 1929. He and his partner had a workshop in the Mallers Building, Chicago for many years . . . here they did jewelry work for all Chicago area jewelers . . . the difficult, time-consuming jobs that the average jeweler can not handle in his shop. When the partner retired in 1961, Mr. Reckwerdt decided he should end commuting and carry on the business in Arlington Heights where he had lived for 20 years.

In his shop, across from Arlington Theatre, he features costume jewelry, cultured pearls, fine watches. But the focal point of his business is still the jewelry designing; patrons come from all over the Chicago area to take advantage of his skill.

Mr. Reckwerdt has a special interest in clocks, having taught horology, the science of any piece of mechanism that keeps time. The visitor to the shop can usually see several old timepieces ticking away, clocks that didn't run until Mr. Reckwerdt was able to solve the workings of their ancient mechanism or to find a piece not made for many years. Of interest to the collector is his display of antique jewelry; one pocket watch dates back to 1700, made by Samson of London.

It's another safe wager that once you've become acquainted with Mr. Reckwerdt's skill, you'll rummage through your old jewelry boxes to find some old pieces you no longer wear . . . they will be a challenge Mr. Reckwerdt will welcome and you will be pleased with your new, wearable jewels.

Of Arlington Heights

Arlington Heights, Scarsdale & Estates, Stonegate

Dorothy Meyer, CL 3-2298 Elsie Jedd, CL 3-5982

Spring seems to be here at last, but I admit that I make this statement with my fingers crossed. It seems as though there was snow on Easter Sunday last year, but if that's so, let's hope this year doesn't have a repeat performance on the agenda. At any rate, the only remaining trace of one of the area's worst winters, that last dirty snow which is melting on the front lawn, has nearly disappeared.

With the arrival of more moderate temperatures and balmy breezes comes the usual spring fever. It has suddenly become more desirable to be in the back yard than to be snug and safe from the elements indoors. Our thoughts are turning to the question of the types of flowers to plant this year, to the new Easter bonnet, and we realize that winter really, truly is gone for one more year. What a marvelous thing it is to put away the sweaters and get out the comfortable cottons of this season.

Many Arlington Heights college students are home for the spring vacation, and other residents have returned from vacations in the Southwestern and southern states, serving as still other reminders that spring is here.

LINDA JACOB, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Jacob, 514 S. Ridge, spent a 10-day spring vacation in the home of her parents. She returned March 28 to Western Illinois State College, in Macomb, where she is a freshman.

The Ronald Ahlmans, 1030 N. Gibbons, returned recently from a 3½ week visit to Mexico. They were accompanied on the trip by their daughters, Dawn, Christine, and Valorie, and by Mrs. Ahlman's sister, Miss Carol Kahn of Skokie. The Ahlmans, who celebrated their 10th wedding anniversary while in Mexico, visited Acapulco and Mexico City. Scott, the Ahlmans 7-month old son, visited in the homes of his grandparents, the Arthur Ahlmans of Chicago, and Anthony Grippandos of Skokie, while his parents were away.

Mrs. Alma Coumbe of Evanston was guest of honor Saturday evening at a dinner party given at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, the James A. Smiths, 909 S. Dunton. Mrs. Coumbe returned earlier that day by plane from Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., where she had spent eight days visiting with friends.

Mrs. David C. Cooney, 902 W. Thomas, left Monday by plane for a 2½-week European trip. Mrs. Cooney's first stop will be Paris, where she will visit at the home of her paarents, Dr. and Mrs. Bernard Lacassagne. She will then travel to Rome, where with her two sisters, Madame Philip Cayeaux, of Paris, and Madame Jean Troubat of Dijon, France, and several friends, Mrs. Cooney will have a Vatican audience with Pope Paul VI.

Mrs. Clarence Pamp, 910 W. Maude, entertained at her home Tuesday at a 12:30 p.m. farewell luncheon honoring Mrs. Cooney. Mrs. Pamp's guest list included Mrs. Roy Carlson of Rolling Meadows, Mrs. Lester Raymond of Mount Prospect, Mrs. Hugh Gore of Arlington Heights, and Mrs. Emery White and Mrs. Arthur Kennedy, both of Palatine.

JANICE TIERNEY, daughter of the Edwin Tierneys, 315 W. Park, spent a 9-day spring vacation in her parents' home. She returned to Wooster College in Wooster, Ohio, where she is a junior majoring in history, on April 4.

A quiet family birthday celebration for Mrs. Dennis Kelleher, 421 W. Miner, was held Saturday evening in the Kelleher home.

Friday evening, the Kellehers attended the dinner and party of the cast of the recently presented play, "Born Yesterday."

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Victor, 706 S. State Road, have had as a recent guest in their home, the former's mother, Mrs. Karl Victor from Lindstrom, Minn. Mrs. Victor left for her home following a 3-week visit here.

Rob Meloen of Haarlem, The Netherlands, who was an exchange student at Arlington High School during the 1962-63 school year, is planning to revisit Arlington Heights and other points of interest in the United States this coming summer. Rob who is completing his second year of study at the University of Amsterdam in the famous city of the same name, and who has chosen as a major field the subject of chemistry, will leave La Havre, France, by ship late in June at the conclusion of his college year.

He plans to visit the New York World's Fair, and also will stop for several days in Allentown, Pa., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Smith. From there, Rob will travel to Arlington Heights. Rob plans to remain in this country for two months, and looks forward to seeing many of his old friends and acquaintances.

BILOXI, MISS., was the 2-week vacation site of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Mills and children, Robin, Michael, Jamie and B. J. The family was accompanied by Cindy Paulsen of Arlington Heights. Mr. Mills, who is a reserve lieutenant colonel in the 928th Troop Carrier Group, underwent a 2-week training period at Gulfport. The Mills' oldest daughter, Martha, a graduate law student at the University of Minnesota, who will be graduated in June, flew to Mississippi to spend five days with her parents. Airman 3.C Charles Mills drove to Biloxi to spend a 15-day leave with the family.

March 26, Mr. and Mrs. Mills were honored at a 25th anniversary reception given by the 928th Troop Carrier Group, which was attended by over 300 persons. Later that day, the Mills gave a reception at the Officer's Club at Keesler, at which 100 persons were present to offer their best wishes. The Mills family returned Monday after a most enjoyable vacation in the sun.

Mary Lou was listed on the dean's list, and along with others who were so honored, was a guest of the University at a tea held at the student union on the campus. All of those present received a small medal as a memento, with "U of I." and a ".5" engraved on it.

Smoke Signals

BY THE ARLINGTON HEIGHTS FIRE DEPARTMENT

Spring is an ideal time to inspect homes from cellar to attic, getting rid of all those things that lead to fire, particularly accumulated waste and litter.

April is spring clean-up month in Arlington Heights. It generates constant reminders to the homeowner to rid his castle of hazards. But, fire isn't seasonal, almost 1,000 persons a month died in fires in 1964—more than half of them by fire in the home.

There is no place like home for doing something about this, but it can't all be done in the month of April, it's a year-round job, and is appears to be a job being diligently neglected. Too often we forget about the danger of fire, or say to ourselves, "It couldn't happen to us." But it happens to people just like ourselves all the time.

Next time we might not be so lucky. Clean-up before you burn-up.

A message from George Harris,
Your Prescription Pharmacist

To all "Tiny Messengers from Heaven."
From some where you little bundles of joy arrive and are entrusted to our loving care. We call you by many names but "Baby" is as wonderful as any.

You are going to live a longer life.
Babies born about fifty years ago were expected to be real aged by now and do nothing but sit and wait for the inevitable.

We had no protective "Miracle Drugs"
There were no antibiotics, positive acting anti-infectives, or concentrated vitamins and there were so many incurable diseases.

Now, you may live more than 100 years.
Medical diagnosis is more positive. Vitamins and minerals your mother took before your birth, and you will be taking soon after, will help you get a healthy start. Dedicated physicians and your loving parents will watch over you.

This pharmacy may also serve you.
If you become sick, our prescription laboratory has every possible medicine your physician may prescribe. Each one is properly stored to preserve potency and ready for any regular or emergency need.

Our baby department is for you.
Here you will find all the many baby-aids to help you keep healthy and more comfortable. Whether you need a baby food or a vaporizer, we have it.

Even after regular pharmacy hours.
If you ever need a prescription for an emergency need, we will re-open our pharmacy especially for you; glad that we can be of help. So, fear nothing. Perhaps, by the time you have grown up, we may even be able to have permanent peace everywhere.

EVERYONE LOVES A BARGAIN

But, how can you really tell a prescription bargain? You can't have an overstock or a fire sale. Prescription drugs are used only on a physician's order. If old they must be destroyed.

Some ads may offer a discount. But, how can you tell them from what? And, if you do get a lower price on one, how much extra to make up the loss you may be charged on a new one? Be sensible. Everyone has to make a profit. Choose your personal pharmacy as carefully as you do your physician by its reputation for integrity and dependability. You will get honest value.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

Mr. and Mrs. John Meske of Mt. Prospect, Illinois, with their two daughters, Jody, 8 and Gail, 13.

"We've had electric heat 3 years-for comfort and economy you couldn't want anything better"... report Mr. and Mrs. John Meske

"In our home, the bedrooms, living room—dining room, bath and kitchen, are all good-sized rooms. Last year, with electric heat, we paid only $175 to heat our 5-room home. And electric heat is so clean. In the three years we've lived here, we haven't had to buy a can of paint or even wash the walls." ☐ What's more, like the Meskes, you'll find electric heat has a lot of other outstanding advantages. For example, it's 100% efficient, no heat is lost up the chimney. Each room has its own individual thermostat. You can set the temperature at 80° in the bathroom, 72° in the living room, 65° in the bedroom, all at the same time. Electric heat rates have been cut 50% since 1958. Get the facts on electric heat. Call your nearest Public Service Company Office for details, today. © C. E. Co.

BUCKS AND DOES

Among the 33 guests couples at Bucks and Does March 27 dance were some Square Wheels who came wheeling in from Deerfield with banner-retrieving on their minds. All 15 squares at the dance enjoyed their retriever tactics and the call of Square Wheels' Joe Gipso, who spelled the host club's Bob Lewis for one tip. Rounds by Carl and Marie Peterson completed a fine, full schedule.

Night before the last dance, six couples of Bucks and Does danced in Schuumburg School with the Plaids and Calicos, and retrieved the B & D pennant.

Everyone's invited to join the gang Saturday night at Bucks and Does next regularly scheduled dance in Dempster School, Dempster Street just west of Route 83 in Elk Grove Township. Bob Lewis will square 'em up at 8 o'clock sharp, and the Petersons will "round" 'em up between tips. Y'all come!

Another big April dance date for the Elk Grovers is April 24 when Don Niva of Madison will take the mike in Lewis' place. All area dancers will be welcome — mark the date now.

Bucks and Does have been named to decorating committee for the first Illinois Square Dance Convention. The convention, May 28, 29 and 30, will be staged in the Conrad Hilton Hotel in Chicago — it's a big event in a big big hall and decorating will be a super-big job, so help, help! More workers are needed. Volunteers are urged to kontact Chuck and Eleanor Stowe, CL 5-1241.

ARLINGTON SQUARES

This Arlington Heights group is another of the local clubs happily, devotedly involved with our state's first square dance convention, serving as assistants to their fellow club member, Hank Gass, reservations chairman. Arlington Squares will have their dance at the convention Friday, May 28 and applications are available.

Immediately concerning Arlington Squares and all their friends is tomorrow night's dance when Fred Douglas, caller for the Lords and Ladies of Elgin and the Swingin' Squares of Aurora, will fill the guest spot at the mike. They report, "If you hear strange sounds and voice at Miner Junior High School in Arlington Heights it'll be Fred. . .he might be called the chanter of the rollicking western. . .there's plenty of lively dancing in his peppy singing calls." Dancing with Douglas starts promptly at 8:30. Be there?

Round dance regulars, Jerry and Dot Daniels, are conducting a round dance beginners' class Wednesday evenings from 8:30 to 10:30 p.m. in Dempster Junior High School, Elk Grove Township. All interested beginners are invited. The Daniels also continue to instruct at 7:45 p.m., just prior to square 'em up time, at all Arlington Squares regularly scheduled dances.

Guests are invited to join club members Friday, May 28, on another Knothead trip to Ottawa and the Fas 'n' Eighters club where there was so much fun and friendship found by the local club last month.

For further information about everything from the Knothead trip to the Illinois convention and everything in between call CL 5-4183.

PALATINE SQUARES

Predictions from Palatine club members include April showers, May flowers, and bunches of dancers having fun at Saturday night's session in Pleasant Hill School, Cedar and Illinois Streets. Caller Art Mathews, rated as one of Chicagoland's top five, will square 'em up at 8:30, and rounders, Jerry and Dot Daniels, will provide their usual fine leadership between tips. Everyone's welcome.

Hopefully, the Palatine club says that the club banner should be back in place in time for Saturday night's dance. It was lifted by the North Shore Allemandres during the Palatiners' last dance, at this writing and plans were being made for a rescue - our - banner mission by a group of local retrievers.

There'll be time and opportunity Saturday night to get tickets for Palatine Squares annual Spring Dance, April 28, in the James B. Conant High School in Palatine. The spring wing-ding is a club "extra" and one of their biggest of the season, featuring this year that Man from Indianapolis, Max Forsyth. Everybody's goin', are you?

Eastwood Events

Spring must really be here now. The robins are back, the snow is melted and John and Beulah Sunkel, 612 N. Douglas, have returned north after nearly five months of touring the west and soutwest. They traveled in their Cortez, a complete home on wheels. With luck, they kept a few days ahead of all the bad weather in Oregon and California. The couple drove 300 miles south of the border and enjoyed three sun-filled weeks in Mexico.

Two weeks ago the Sunkels visited former Eastwooders Jack and Bernice Hagermann in Sun City, Ariz. Jack and Bernice are happy in their new home and are among the few in their city who can boast of having real grass on their property.

Incidentally, this is birthday week at the Sunkel home. Monday was John's birthday and tomorrow is Beulah's.

RECENTLY JACK and Ronna Griffin hosted an Irish Capers party in their home at 415 Beverly Lane. Fellow Eastwooders on the guest list were Bob and Carol Glader, Lloyd and Pat Meyer, Don and Georgia Buxton, Al and Shirley Walters, Don and Marge Hammerstrom and Tom and Jo Ann Houser.

Russ and Doris Walters, 425 N. Douglas, were happy to have Rusty home last week for spring vacation. Rusty is a sophomore at Miami University in Ohio.

Saturday evening Joe and Vi Corcoron, 507 N. Hickory, helped their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Footh of Chicago, celebrate Charles' birthday. The two couples drove to Beloit, where they dined at the Manor.

Saturday morning found Vi busy at the Methodist Church helping to care for 200 invalid, deaf, and blind residents of Chicago who attended classes, lunch and church service at the church as a day in Project Renewal of the Chicago Federation of Churches.

MARCH REALLY went out as a lamb for Trish Crockett of 638 N. Hickory, as pink carnations and blue bachelor buttons decorated a bridal shower given in her honor by Evelyn Babs, 507 N. Douglas, and Doris Walters, 425 N. Douglas, in the Babs home on March 31.

Eastwooders who attended the miscellaneous evening shower were Tresh's mother, Winnie Crockett, her future mother-in-law, Rae Inman, Jean Vittinghoff, Mary Johanneson, Judy Bichl, Mildred Pearson, Muriel Weinrich, Mrs. Marek, Shirley Bronwell, Doris Stueber, Polly Hall and Sue Murphy. Mrs. Walker and Marilyn Somara of Des Plaines also attended.

The shower was held during Trish's spring vacation. She is a senior majoring in education at Miami University n Ohio. Her brother, Dave, was also home for spring vacation. He is a freshman in the school of liberal arts at Culver-Stockton in Missouri.

Trish's sister, Kitty, has just been elected Greek Week Queen at Iowa State University. Kitty belongs to Delta, Delta, Delta sorority.

LAST SUNDAY, Thomas and JoAnn Houser, 219 N. Hickory, entertained 46 guests at a cocktail party in honor of Sheriff Richard Ogilvie, chairman for a Chicago fund-raising project for Bonds for the State of Israel. He told the guests about the project.

On March 31, Tom and JoAnn entertained .5 guests a political party to introduce candidates on a township slate for last Tuesday's election to 25 guests. Eastwooders present were Karlos Thut, Arthur Haswell, Marge Loll, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Meyer and Mr. and Mrs. Al Walters. The other guests were neighbors from Waterman Street from which the Housers recently moved.

Last week found Dennis Fitz-Patrick enjoying a week's vacation home at 319 Beverly Lane. He is a sophomore in the school of liberal arts at Wabash College in Crawfordsville, Ind.

Sharon Lasswell, 732 N. Dryden, recently celebrated her 13th birthday with seven classmates from Miner Jr. High. The friends, who after the birthday supper-party slumbered under a ceiling bedecked with yellow and white streamers and balloons, were Toni Swiercz, Kim Krekel, Nadine Garr, Terry Sunagel, Dawn McGuire, Marny Coha and Nancy Colianni.

Recently Sharon's father, Louis, returned from a two-week cruise off Norfolk, Va. Louis, a TWA pilot, is a Lieutenant commander in the Navy Reserve attached to Navy Squadron V.P. 725 at the Glenview. Prior to his spring cruise, Louis and son, Lynn, spent a weekend visiting Kalamazoo College in Michigan, which Lynn, a senior at Arlington High, has decided to attend next fall.

LAST WEEK the William Stuebers, 414 Beverly Lane, were weekend hosts to Doris' sister and her family, the Lyman Olsons of Minneapolis. Saturday evening the parents dined at Maison Lafitte in Chicago and then saw a movie at Old Orchard in Skokie. Sunday both families visited Lyman's brothen then drove to the Loop to tour Marina Towers.

Eastwooders are sorry to learn that Peg Sweeney, 603 Euclid, had to fly back to California to attend her grandmother's funeral. Shortly afterwards her husband, Don, flew to his aunt's funeral n Oregon.

Albrecht Koch enjoyed a truly quiet day on Sunday, as his wife, Yvonne, Eastwood reporter, woke up with laryngitis. elder son, Peter, spent a pleasant day in Chicago, where Yvonne entered an oil painting in a wine art contest. Lunch at the Italian Village and a visit at the Art Institute's Max Beckman exhibit proved most enjoyable. Saturday evening the Kochs entertained Mr. and Mrs. George Sinka of Lombard with an outdoor-broiled steak dinner.

As Monday morning found Yvonne still voiceless, some Eastwood news-gathering calls had to be postponed. (A

'Y' Meeting Hears Moon Talk, Picks New Officers

"The Voice of the Astronauts," Lt. Col. John "Shorty" Powers, spoke last week to an enthusiastic audience of 200 at Northwest Suburban YMCA. He gave a graphic account of a projected trip to the moon, complete with colored slides and humorous commentary.

The dinner meeting included an election of new officers and directors of the YMCA board of directors. Elected for the coming year were: James D. Norman of Itasca, chairman; Ralph Martin, vice chairman for Des Plaines; John E. Gobeille, vice chairman for Mount Prospect; Stephen Jurco, vice chairman of Arlington Heights; Edwin C. Bruning of Inverness, vice chairman of Palatine.

NEW DIRECTORS for a three-year period are Melvin Blume, president, Wisconsin Tool & Stamping Co.; Charles Bolek, vice president, Jones Engineering Co.; Richard Bueschel, vice president, Waldie & Briggs, Inc., Advertising; Grant Gentry, secretary and general counsel, Jewel Tea Co.

Re-elected to the board for three-year terms were Stanley Amren of Mount Prospect; Dr. Gordon Ward, Richard Lavers, Carl Bowen and Jurco, all of Arlington Heights; Edwin Bruning and Thomas Crouch, both of Palatine.

Membreship in Northwest Suburban YMCA is now over 15,000 - the largest of any program-type "Y" in the country. A balanced budget of $400,600 was recorded for the year, and expanded facilities recently opened include a second swimming pool second gym and all-purpose room and added locker rooms and handball courts.

Other highlights from the past year included a day camp program with more than 850 enrolled, a women's auxiliary which has paid $28,500 of a 5-year pledge of $35,000 to the expansion fund and an Indian Guide program for fathers and sons whose sale of Christmas trees in December added $4,000 to the building fund.

ENTERTAINMENT for the evening was provided by the new Fine Arts program at the "Y" under direction of B. G. Gross, and a greeting was extended from the YMCA of Metropolitan Chicago by Thomas M. Blake of Inverness, now serving in a layman's capacity as vice president of the Chicagoland board of directors.

Colonel Powers suggested in his comments that the motto for the space program, "Higher, Faster, Farther," he adopted as the theme for the local "Y" for the coming year, as both the "Y" and the astronauts seem to be heading for the moon. (B10

Thousands View New Fashions

Nearly 7,000 suburbanites attended two showings Saturday of the annual Easter Parade of Fashions at Randhurst shopping center, Mount Prospect.

New spring styles in men's and women's wear were shown by 72 models representing 45 Randhurst stores who provided clothes.

THREE runways were used by the models with three professional narrators providing fashion commentary. Stage settings featured spring colors and gay garden scenes, and costumes were accented with unusual corsage and floral arrangements.

Most of the fashions stressed an Easter motif with spring styles geared for April 18.

The shows opened with 18 children ranging in age from 2 to 10 modeling spring styles for youngsters, followed by sportswear adorned with unusual accessories donated by Randhurst merchants. "After Five" fashions climaxed the show and ranged from lace ensembles to floor-length silk gowns.

SHOW COORDINATOR was Jenese Busch.

A colorful Bunnyland set was provided for small children watching the show. (B-10

The hearing will be held in the Council Chambers, at City Hall, starting at 10 a.m., and will be conducted by William J. Mortimer, appointed to this commission by Gov. Kerner.

This series of hearings has covered the entire State, with at least one in each of the 10 highway districts.

AT THE HEARINGS, industries, civic and professional organizations and individuals will have the opportunity of making suggestions on possible improvements in handling the highway program and offer any comments they feel might lead to needed improvement.

The final report of the commission study will be presented to the 1967 legislature, along with proposed legislation.

Representatives of business and industry and interested organizations are being asked to prepare written presentations which they can leave with the commission after oral summary of the highlights of their recommendations. Opportunity also will be given for presentations of an informal nature, and a tape recording will be made of these.

The material will be studied by the Commission and its engineering consultants, Wilbur Smith and Associates of New Haven, Conn. (A15

Town Meeting Votes Down Budget Challenges

Three hundred fifty of Wheeling Township's electors Tuesday night gave blanket approval to the 1965-1966 budgets recommended by the town board of auditors, approved a 2 cent road tax levy increase and distributed $170,000 in surplus funds to school districts and local welfare agencies.

Persistent, though ineffectual, opposition was registered to a variety of expenditures. Strongest fire was directed at compensation for town officials, particularly Supervisor Albert C. Peters, and equipment purchasers in the road commissioner's budget.

The only point at which electors took exception to the town board's recommendations, however, was to increase from $6,225 to $10,000 a requested transfer of surplus funds for the Over 50 Club of Wheeling Township, an Arlington Heights organization.

As recommended, the electors approved distribution of $125,000 to elementary school districts and $35,000 to three mental health agencies. The distribution last year was of $100,000 and $25,000 respectively, with no funds distributed to the Over 50 group.

THE BUDGETS, as approved, are $84,356 for the town fund, $29,562 for general assistance, $4,500 for the cemetery fund and $299,000 for the road and bridge fund—an increase of $60,000 over last year.

The road and bridge fund is the only one supported by tax levy. Revenue for the others is derived from a 2 per cent commission on collections made by the township tax collector. The new road levy is 11 cents per $100 of assessed valuation, up from last year's 9 cents.

The first challenge came from Donald Krezek of Arlington Heights, who pointed to the addition of $1,620 in the town fund since last week's budget hearing, to provide a leased car for township officials.

He said providing the leased vehicle "is, in effect, an increase in salary for the supervisor since he will be using the auto for the most part. At the same time, he's getting an increase of $800 (actually $1,200) as supervisor of general assistance."

PETERS DEFENDED the car leasing, saying he had paid "$1,400 out of my pocket last year for car expenses" and that the township had provided only gasoline.

Miss Idyl Nipper of Mount Prospect argued that the item "is not an increase in salary for the supervisor."

Krezck attempted to debate the car leasing authorization and was voted down.

Herber Anderson of Wheeling asked whether bids had been taken because "this price seems very high." Peters told him the $1,620 was based on estimates of $135 a month supplied by three firms leasing Chevrolets, Fords and Plymouths.

Moving to the general assistance budget, Krezek inquired why "it costs 50 cents to administer each $1 in general assistance."

PETERS CHALLENGED that figure, saying actual administrative costs last year were $2,120 and relief expenditures were $11,461. (Adding Peters' compensation for supervisor of assistance—$2,400 last year—would make it roughly $4,500 in administrative costs. His compensation is covered in the town fund.)

The budget sought by Township Highway Commissioner William Luehring also underwent careful scrutiny.

Patricia Gardner of Arlington Heights questioned the proposed purchase of a $14,000 street sweeper for use in unincorporated areas with curbs and gutters.

"Isn't 25 miles of such streets a small area for a street sweeper? Has any thought been given to sharing a sweeper with another township such as Elk Grove Township?"

Luehring said the village of Arlington Heights has "about 75 miles of streets and they have two sweepers." He added that a shared arrangement creates problems because "you have the question of mechanical failures . . . and a transportation problem."

Tom Edwards of Prospect Heights asked whether a service contract with neighboring communities had been considered. Luehring said no and added, "It could be explored and we probably could do that."

EDWARDS ALSO challenged budgeting $12,500 for drainage work, commenting, "in most subdivisions, homeowners pay the cost of installing storm sewers through special assessments."

The highway commissioner's attorney, Fred Weiszmann, said special assessment programs are "a very complicated process in a township compared with an incorporated area.

Edwards' motion that the street sweeper be deleted from the budget died for lack of a second.

A budget provision to provide a social security participation for township employes — with township contributions retroactive to 1961—ran into opposition when one resident said he and his wife both pay full social security taxes as self-employed persons. "It doesn't amount to an awful lot. The township employes get quite a bit for what they do."

Another resident charged that denying them social security benefits was "discrimination" and "unjust." An Arlington woman asked Peters how much back payments would amount to and he said he did not know. A quick calculation, based on five employes at the maximum employe contribution of $174 a year for four years, indicated the cost was $3,480.

THE PROGRAM was approved, with only a few scattered no votes.

A number of citizens demanded an accounting of income sources other than the township for the three mental health agencies receiving surplus funds—Northwest Mental Mealth Association, Clearbrook School for the Retarded and Countryside School—and appeared satisfied with the explanations they received. The transfers were approved without dissent.

A last minute suggestion by several electors that surplus township funds be transferred to the roads and bridges fund—to avoid the tax rate increases—was branded as impossible by Weiszmann.

He told them in effect the electors could not touch the 11 cent levy approved by the town board after last week's hearing because it is lower than the 12½ cent rate auditors may set under state law.

IN THE CLOSING minutes of the meeting, an unidentified woman asked that surplus funds be provided for social work among migrant workers in the township. She was told the request would have to be made either at a special town meeting or at next year's annual session.

The two-hour meeting was chaired by Atty. Richard Cowen of Arlington Heights who has been elected moderator of the last two town meetings.

Police, Firemen Get Emergency Training

Emergency procedures for childbirth, convulsions, heart stoppage and other health problems which require immediate attention are being taught to area firemen, policemen and ambulance drivers.

On Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week, medical personnel at Northwest Community Hospital have been conducting duplicate seminars on emergency childbirth and emergency resuscitation procedures.

Almost 250 fire, police and ambulance personnel have registered for the seminars. The men come from Mount Prospect, Prospect Heights, Arlington Heights, Rolling Meadows, Palatine, Elk Grove Village, Hoffman Estates, Barrington, Buffalo Grove, Roselle, Wheeling, Des Plaines, Lake Zurich, Wauconda and Island Lake.

FOURTEEN STATE policemen from Cook County District 3 also registered for the seminars.

Featured were two films. One, photographed at Northwest Community, showed techniques for restarting circulation for persons suffering from cardiac arrest. The second film is a U. S. Navy film on emergency childbirth.

In adddition, medical staff men showed the men methods of resuscitation with "Resusci Anne," a demonstration dummy.

Questions following the films and discussion came from the group.

Of the 75 men who attended the Monday seminar, more than 10 had participated in emergency childbirths.

MEMBERS OF the hospital medical staff participating in the seminar presentations are Drs. $400,000 Park Budget Weighed

A preliminary 1965-1966 budget totaling nearly $400,000 will be considered by the Arlington Heights Park District next Tuesday.

The budget is $41,000 higher than the one approved last year. It estimates revenues at $397,884 and expenses at $397,596. Final action on the budget will be taken in June.

The lion's share of income — $286,884 — is expected to come from property tax payments. Sales of season swimming pool passes are expected to net $52,000; activity fees, $22,000; concessions, $14,000; daily pool receipts, $9,000; rentals, $1,000; interest on Treasury bills, $1,000, and other sources, $12,000.

REPAYMENT of bonds is budgeted for $73,383; land purchase and development, $21,200; buildings fund, $29,525; grounds fund, $85,150; concessions, $13,000; administration, $48,700; recreation, $111,650, and Illinois Municipal Retirement and Social Security funds, $14,488.

The increase over last year's budget is spread throughout the budget in increases for landscaping materials, equipment purchase and repair and salaries for administrative, maintenance and clerical help, pool attendants and activity leaders.

Modern Etiquette

Q. When you have been asked to pass a certain dish at the table, and you were just about to partake of it yourself, is it all right to go ahead and help yourself before passing the dish?

A. Indeed not. This would be very crude and ill-bred — unless, of course, the other person insists that you do so.

$44 Taken In Pharmacy Burglary

A burglar early Saturday at the Harris Village Pharmacy, 1001 S. Evergreen Ave., Arlington Heights, netted only $44 for his considerable efforts.

Police said the burglar apparently tried to pry open a door on the west side of the pharmacy and broke the window glass when that failed. After entry, he ransacked the back room and counter, prying open several doors.

He netted $29 in currency from a receipt box and $14 from a cash register but made no attempt to pick up loose change or merchandise. Police theorized his fruitless search was for a large money cache, not kept at the store.

Owner Kenneth Harirs said the incident took palce between 3 and 8:30 a.m. (A

Symphony Musician Follows a Hectic Routine

CHICAGO SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA musician Grover Schiltz of the Half Day area north of Wheeling checks wire-haired dachshund mother and her litter of seven puppies. Breeding and raising these dogs is a leisure time activity for Schiltz and his wife, Beverly. She ended her professional playing of a string bass a month ago to devote more time to the couple's Groville Kennels that boards dogs and to their showing of dogs. They already have had two champions. (Staff Photo)

Still Finds Time For Dachshunds

by JOAN LORENSON
Staff Writer

"You build your life around the job," said Grover Schiltz of his life as a professional musician.

Schiltz, a Chicago Symphony Orchestra English horn player, noted that the professional gets used to the pressures of performances, the schedules of rehearsals, and the bite of time for individual practice. "You're in it and there," he puts it simply, "like fish in water."

It takes some adjusting at home. His wife who also played professionally until a month ago noted that meals often are eaten at "crazy times." Schiltz follows a commuter's schedule to his routine to further complicate things. He and his wife live in a converted colonial style farmhouse north of Wheeling near Half Day.

Schiltz' life always has been geared to the day when he would play with a large orchestra. He began in the school band where he played for eight years. His teacher convinced him he should play an oboe instead of the clarinet, the instrument he started with. He was first assistant oboeist until this year when he auditioned for and obtained the English horn position.

When a musician is ready for a large symphony orchestra, he is able to play anything, any way the conductor wants, Schiltz explained. He has built a standard repertoire of pieces he can play and has received experience usually in the small orchestras of the country. "The conductor is responsible for the phrasing and general sound, determining what instruments will predominate in a composition," Schiltz said.

"We provide the canvas and its shadings are made by the conductor." The conductor is concerned with interpretive aspects.

SOME CONDUCTORS give their musicians a greater hand in phrasing and interpretation of points, said Schiltz. He cited the late Fritz Reiner of the Chicago Symphohy as a conductor who allowed his players more freedom. In contrast, George Szell of the Cleveland Orchestra wants more rigid adherence to his interpretation.

Schiltz has played oboe under these men as well as other conductors such as Charles Munch, Leonard Bernstein, Pierre Monteux, Sir Thomas Beecham, Eugene Ormandy, Andre Cleuytens, Hans Rosebaud, Hans Schmidt - Isserstadt, Arthur Fiedler, Aaron Copland, and Paul Hindemith. He is now playing under Jean Martinon.

Schiltz only now is becoming exposed to the English horn repertoire so he has not determined what compositions are most appealing to this instrument.

Some of the finest composers wrote great pieces for the oboe —almost to order for the woodwind family of instruments, Schiltz pointed out.

He admitted he is a Mozart admirer. "He had the best balance and musical greatness and more understanding, for his time, of instruments," the articulate musician explained.

Contemporary composers must endure the test of time, Schiltz believes. He played a Copland piece "Quiet City" under this man's direction. In composing, 10 to 15 styles may be evident, said Schiltz, who also teaches about six hours weekly at Northwestern University's school of music. "Some styles predominate and become the mainstreams," he noted.

SCHILTZ WAS asked his viewpoint on criticism that the Chicago Symphony and other orchestras become stale in a little changing repertoire.

"There are two concepts of an orchestra, he explained, "the static concept that an orchestra should be a repository or museum" for the performing of music of the past. The other concept, which was prevalent in the 17th, 18th, and 19th centuries states an orchestra should perform the contemporary pieces of the day.

The two factions are warring with a great many people wanting and liking the repository concept, Schiltz said. "There is call for both," he added, and he considers a balance possible.

Martinon has been commissioned to compose new pieces that will be performed next year for the Chicago Symphony's celebration of its 75 year anniversary, Schiltz commented. The orchestra has to try to balance the standard and the new.

The Louisville Orchestra is particularly active in this country in commissioning, playing, and recording contemporary works, Schiltz noted. But all orchestras commission new work.

PLAYERS NORMALLY are not affected by the critics since criticism usually is based on the over-all performance for which the conductor is held responsible, Schiltz commented. "You don't worry unless your own contribution is criticized unjustly," and this is rare.

"No one program should jar you more than another," Schiltz reflected. His journey to a position with one of the four major orchestras in the country was relatively smooth.

A musician is considered capable when he reaches this level and he will continue this way unless his skill deteriorates. Every player spends a probationary year. Usually no one comes that far before he is 26 or 27 years old, according to the youthful Schiltz. The average age of the symphony players would fall between 42 and 43 years, he estimated.

Schiltz has found Chicago audiences "as perceptive as any" though he admitted New York City audiences might be more sophisticated and demonstrative.

The Chicago Symphony has had subscribers who have been with it for decades, passing boxes and seats down from generation to generation. The Chicago Symphony is well supported and has one of the largest endowments of more than $13 million, according to Schiltz.

The orchestra must appeal to a broad base, however, since its expenses always are greater than its funds and must be made up by the symphony goer who is not a subscriber, Schiltz points out.

The season for a Chicago Symphony player is becoming longer and Schiltz views this as desirable. The symphony should be a full-time job so a musician does not to seek part-time employment to make a living, he believes. "If he has to take work unrelated to his profession, it does not contribute to the maintenance of his skills."

THE CHICAGO Symphony's pay scale provides a living standard for its players on a level with the other major orchestras but it could be better, Schiltz said with a smile. He has gotten into some of the negotiation for next season's salaries. All the symphony players belong to the Chicago Federation of Musicians.

"All the musicians are conversant with the problem and they know what they have to have to live comfortably and what is right for their position and training," said Schiltz. He acknowledged that it was difficult to unionize art with its intangibles. "But it is important to protect the musicians against unreasonable hours after which he can't perform at his best."

A musicians' typical schedule is busy. Monday the orchestra usually schedules rehearsal in the morning with a performance in Milwaukee in the evening. Tuesday there is a late rehearsal and the youth concert; Wednesday rehearsal will be from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. and Thursday rehearsal will be set at 10 a.m. with an 8:15 p.m. concert. Friday there is a 2 p.m. concert. Saturday's rehearsal usually is at 10 a.m. with an 8:30 p.m. concert.

Schiltz fits his teaching between rehearsals. He usually adds more than an hour of independent practice. In the summer many players take the option and play at Ravinia. Others will teach or attend festivals such as the Casals festival in Puerto Rico. Some play for Grant Park concerts.

Martinon, the symphony's director, has favored tours. Chicago Symphony plans a trip to the West Coast this spring—San Francisco and Los Angeles areas. Last fall the orchestra spent 2½ weeks on the East Coast.

"I enjoy new cities but it is not an unalloyed vacation," declared Schiltz quickly. Concert and rehearsal time take much of their days and it's "a scuffle to work on reeds and keep the laundry and personal belongings up," he said. The symphony flies on these tours.

A MUSICIAN MUST be a persistent person, as Schiltz describes it. He has to be patient in practicing and may have to endure a waiting life before he gets an opportunity with a major orchestra he wants.

Mrs. Schiltz, an attractive blonde who plays the bass, helpfully added, "It's sort of like an internship, with starving."

Most symphony players have hobbies and leisure interests oriented to music, such as collecting old instruments or playing with chamber groups. Schiltz, however, has a completely different avocation with the breeding and raising of wire-haired dachshunds. In addition he and his wife have a kennel. But whether it's profession or excellence, Schiltz' criterion is excellence. (A15

INDIVIDUAL practice is necessary for Chicago Symphony Orchestra player Grover Schiltz as part of a busy schedule that includes rehearsal and teaching time. The 29-year old English horn player was assistant first oboeist until this year. He came to the Chicago Symphony from the Kansas City Symphony. (Staff Photo)

Students Visit Hinsdale Museum

Student groups from eight northwest suburbs toured the Hinsdale Health Museum, Hinsdale, during March.

From Palatine, 51 fifth graders at Joel Wood School, 50 E. Wood, with their teachers, Mrs. Myrtle Pulsford and Mrs. Gladys Powers, were museum visitors.

Hoffman Estates visitors were 32 fourth grade students from Hillcrest School, Hillcrest Boulevard, and their teacher, Mrs. Lorene Brantner; 61 second graders from Lake View School, Lake View Lane and Washington Boulevard, and their teacher, Mrs. Francine Piell.

PUPILS VISITING from Rolling Meadows included 63 fifth graders from Jonas Salk School, Pheasant Drive, and their teachers, Mrs. Liston Pennington and Miss Marian Markee; a total of 55 fifth and sixth grade students from Central Road School, 3800 Central Road, and their teachers, Miss Janet Mischke and Miss Sharon Sparen.

There also were 31 third, fourth and fifth grade students from Rupley School, 305 Oakton, Elk Grove Village and teacher, Fred Hattabaugh.

Mount Prospect pupils seeing museum exhibits included 74 fifth graders from Sunset Park School, 601 W. Lonnquist Blvd., and teachers Mrs. Dean DePoy and Mrs. Robert Keller, and 23 fourth graders from Fairview School, 300 N. Fairview, and teacher, Mrs. Frank Reid.

BENSENVILLE had 94 fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth graders from Zion Lutheran School, Church Road, and teachers, Mr. Walter Schmudlack, Mrs. J. Roeder, Mr. K. Roda and Mr. M. Block.

Roselle visitors were the 57 first graders and teachers Mrs. Stewart Lass and Miss Judy Kramer, Lake View School, Lake View and Washington Boulevards.

Touring from Arlington Heights were 38 fourth graders from Greenbrier School, 2330 N. Verde Ave., and teacher Mrs. Kathleen Schafer.

DURING THE MONTH of April, the museum will feature a film on reproduction showing actual birth sequences of animals. "The Day Life Begins" will be shown at 10:30 a.m. and 3 p.m. Saturdays and 3 p.m. Sundays. The 23-minute film originally was produced as a segment of the award-winning Discovery program.

The museum is open daily throughout the year, except for legal holidays, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays and 1 to 5 p.m. Sundays. Admission is free. Group reservations may be made by calling 325-1900 or writing Hinsdale Health Museum, 40 S. Clay St., Hinsdale. (A15

Swim Lessons Offered by 'Y'

Northwest Suburban YMCA will offer a free "Learn to Swim" program during spring vacation for boys and girls in third through eighth grades. Classes will be conducted April 12-16.

The program is a community service to all youths in the area who are not members of the local "Y." Members will continue their regularly scheduled swim classes as they do throughout the year.

"LEARN TO SWIM" classes will be held in 40-minute periods through the mornings, giving each student a total of over three hours of concentrated instruction.

Parents may enroll their youngsters at the reception desk of the "Y" from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily, including Saturday.

A different movie is scheduled each day for the children to watch while awaiting their ride home. (B10

Rail Merger to Have Little Effect on Suburb Commuters

Consolidation of the Chicago and North Western Railway and the Milwaukee Road into a single system will probably have little effect on northwest suburban commuters.

"There is no reason to presume there would be any material change," said a company official of the Milwaukee Road.

"The operational aspects of the consolidation have not been arrived at and will probably not be gone into until a much later date," explained Marc Green, public relations head of the Milwaukee Road.

"It is safe to presume that nobody is thinking of abandoning the commuters," Green said. "Both railroads feel they will provide the best possible suburban service. Consolidation should make no difference, because the two lines are not competitive in suburban territories," Green said.

"North Western operates three lines and Milwaukee two, and no two of these five lines is really competitive with another," he said.

GREEN ADMITTED the profit picture for the commuter lines is not clear now, but added "the profit picture is improving and we anticipate the day when both lines will be profitable."

A detailed agreement between the two firms — which will create the new Chicago, Milwaukee & North Western Transportation Corp. — will be submitted to stockholders at the Milwaukee's annual meeting May 11 and the North Western meeting May 18.

"It is simply a legal proposition agreement at this point," Green said. "It is concerned with articles of consolidation and strictly legal aspects of the matter. Considerations of possible changes in the operational system are premature." Green pointed out the merger also has to be approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission before it can be completed.

It was approved by the boards of directors of the two rail lines in late March.

CONSOLIDATION would join the two carriers in a single 20,975 mile railroad, serving 15 states and stretching from Chicago to the west coast. The two have much parallel mileage and duplicating facilities in the Midwest.

More than 140 points are served in common by the two railroads including such major cities as Chicago, Milwaukee, Madison, Green Bay, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Superior-Duluth and Des Moines.

The merger was termed by William J. Quinn, president of the Milwaukee and Ben W. Heineman, chairman of the North Western, a step closer "to what many have, for a number of years, considered to be an ideal combination."

IN A JOINT statement, the two men said, the benefits have been estimated at $40 milloni to $50 million a year after the consolidation has been in effect five years.

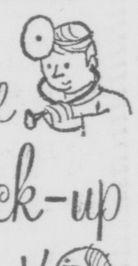

"Unification would provide unusual opportunities for consolidating and improving the efficiency of yards, trackage, stations and other facilities in the Midwestern area served by both carriers," the joint statement said.

There was no indication whether changes at the Bensenville yard of the Milwaukee Road might be expected when the firms finally do get around to considering the operational aspects of the consolidation. (A15

TRAVEL ACCIDENTS ARE COVERED BY

Paddock Publications
Suburbanite Emergency Protection
Personal Accident Policy

ISSUED EXCLUSIVELY TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS AND THEIR FAMILY HOUSEHOLD MEMBERS

- The number of travel accidents is frightening. Practically everyone uses public or private conveyances such as automobiles, trucks, buses, taxis, trains, airplanes, boats and elevators. Pedestrians while walking or standing on public streets and highways are often struck, knocked down or run over by vehicles. Crowded and outmoded streets and highways, speeding, reckless drivers, blowouts and bad weather conditions cause accidents that kill or injure people every minute. If for no other reason, everyone should have protection for travel accidents when you think how much time is spent each day on transportation. At vacation time no one should be without the protection of this policy.
- The entire family should have this protection—man, woman and children.
- Policy will help pay those expenses resulting from bodily injury—whether simple or serious—when accidents strike at home, while traveling, at work, on the farm, at school, or at play.
- Subject to its provisions, the policy includes indemnity for: Loss of Life, from $500 to $10,000; Loss of Limb, $250 to $10,000; Loss of Sight, $175 to $10,000; Total Disability, up to $500, pro-rated on a daily basis; First Aid, up to $5 for non-disabling injury; Ambulance, up to $10 for this service; Hospital, up to $200, pro-rated on a daily basis; X-Ray, up to $10 for injury examination.
- Issued without medical examination.
- No age limits (Specific Loss and Total Disability Indemnities are reduced fifty per cent (50%) when insured is or becomes age 70 or over).
- Pays in addition to other personal accident insurance carried.
- Pays on work accidents that are covered by State Compensation Laws.
- Specific Loss Indemnities increase in value ten per cent (10%) each year during first 5 years of consecutive renewal.
- The policy is issued by Old Republic Life Insurance Company, Chicago, Illinois. Protection begins at NOON on the actual date of issuance of the policy.

7 Candidates in Race for High School Board

MRS. LEAH CUMMINS

H. ROBERT POWELL

EDWARD S. JACKSON

Seven candidates in the April 10 school elections fo rthree posts on the Arlington High School District 214 school board answered a series of questions for Paddock Publications this week.

The questions covered possible problems of taxes and controversial school subjects.

The five candidates for two regular three-year terms are Mrs. Leah Cummins, 1009 Ridge, Elk Grove, an incumbent; H. Robert Powell, 203 Lonsdale, Prospect Heights; Edward S. Jackson, 645 S. Belmont, Arlington Heights; Richard R. Johnson, 504 S. Pine, Arlington Heights; and Richard A. Bachhuber, 625 S. Edward, Mount Prospect.

Two men are seeking the one two-year post. Both from Arlington Heights, the two are William F. Griffith, 625 N. Kaspar, and Edward M. Leadley, 1419 W. Concord.

John Haas, board president from Prospect Heights, and E.C. Lockwood Jr. of Arlington Heights, are not seeking re-election. Both have served two terms.

Other present board members are H. W. Armstrong and T. Earl Thompson of Mount Prospect, Arthur Aronson of the Wheeling area and Dr. Frank Smith of Arlington Heights.

IN A CHOICE of raising school taxes in order to add new classes or subjects to the school curricula as recommended by school administrators, or retaining the present tax level and the current curricula, the seven candidates were fairly unanimous.

Mrs. Cummins said she would have to rely on the judgment of the selected school administration as to whether new classes were needed and similarly she would rely on voters to support new taxes if they were needed.

Powell stressed that the primary job of the school board was to find the best administration — then to have faith in the judgment of the administration with a right of review.

Jackson noted that the addition of new classes would "depend on what the classes are." He added that this "is not a poor community and people want their children to have the same things they have," adding that the "danger point is being sure that we are not giving students 'frills.'"

JOHNSON stated that if the new classes were "solid academic subjects deemed necessary by the administration" the board, if necessary would have to go to higher taxes.

Bachhuber agreed that "education has to come first." He explained that he would hope to economize in some other way, but "if the experts say it is necessary then we would have to pay for it."

Griffith stressed he would have to first "convince myself that all the recommendations were sound and needed." He added that he would also "check the current program to see if all other areas were sound and needed, and then, and only then, with no way of curtailing costs would I consider being motivated to increase taxes."

Leadley explained that the addition of new subjects "would depend on the curriculum you are talking about." If this was something "which to my mind would be an improvement, if it is something of advantage to the majority of students and curriculum as a whole," he said he would approve. He added that the "tax situation is high but it had to be subjected to the over-all school goal."

IN A SIMILAR situation, if annual teachers raises were at stake and dependent upon a tax hike, the candidates were almost unanimous. All stressed that salaries should be competitive, but Leadley, Griffith, and Johnson would ask teachers to pass up annual increases if the budget were too tight.

Disagreeing were Mrs. Cummins, who felt teachers should never be by-passed on raises and Powell, who stressed that the "teaching staff was the guts of the system" and should be compensated with what the board conceived to be a proper salary.

Jackson noted that if "students were to be given the best of what they are entitled to, you have to have good teachers." He said the district was fortunate in having a high pay scale and he thought the schools had good teachers.

Bachhuber said that "pay raises are necessary to maintain a good staff — if necessary to raise taxes for this they would have to do it."

In a question between tax raises and continuing the present athletic program, almost all candidates were unanimous in the desirability of the athletic program, but noted raising taxes for this would be considered carefully.

HANDLING a situation where a parent was critical of books in the school library or used as class reference books, similar to a recent criticism in Chicago, board candidates had very different views.

Mrs. Cummins stressed she was "not a committee of one" to judge the merits of a book. She would refer the complaints to a special committee of persons qualified to judge the book which would report back to the school administration and then the board would have to "rely on the administration judgment."

Powell stressed it was not the job of board members to sit in judgment on books. He said the board was elected to make overall policy and select the best possible poeple to administer the school system. Book selection was an administration problem, he said.

RICHARD A. BACHHUBER

WILLIAM F. GRIFFITH

EDWARD M. LEADLEY

Jackson emphasized that books such as Bladwin's "Another Country" at issue in Chicago "have no place anywhere." As a school board member, "If I found any instructor in the high school using such a book I would seriously question his eligibility to remain on the faculty."

Johnson felt that the problem of books "belongs to the school administration." If the school administration cannot handle a problem, then the school board should cooperate in solving the problem, but "basically this is an administration judgment."

BACHHUBER felt the problem would have to be "studied thoroughly." The book in question should be "consistent with what is generally acceptable in our area" but warned that every case must be considered on its own merits.

Griffith said it was the duty of a board member to listen to the complaint, then check with the school administration to get the "complete story." Based on this information he would "try to draw as intelligent an opinion of my own as possible and convey this back to the person initiating the complaint." He added that "good communication" is most important.

Leadley stressed that the "school board is not administering these functions — this is up to the school administration." He added that the Chicago complaint probably would not have had undue publicity if the school board had stayed out of the problem.

The polls Saturday will be open from noon to 7 p.m. High school polling places are the same as those for the elementary schools.

Beacham Dissents

Fees Guaranteed on Ridge Area Project

The Arlington Heights Board of Local Improvements received a green light from the village board Monday on its plans for special assessment improvement of Wing, Ridge, Salem and other streets west of the downtown area.

But approval of a guarantee of 2½ per cent of the project cost for professional fees drew continuing strong dissent from Trustee Bud Beacham.

The guarantee had been requested at the March 22 village board meeting, but consideration was deferred at Beacham's request until differences of opinion between the two boards could be ironed out.

THE TWO boards met jointly March 27 to talk over the Wing, Ridge, Salem project, another proposed paving project in Northwest Highlands subdivision, and the long-fought Campbell Street improvement project. Opinions differed on the outcome.

Beacham contended Monday night that as long as there was no complete agreement on the major problem —planned width of Ridge Avenue between Campbell and Wing Streets, the guarantee on the entire project should be withheld.

He said if the guarantee were [illegible] have no control over the project until all plans and hearings were completed and it came back for final approval.

Ridge Avenue is planned to be a major north-south artery to eventually cross Northwest Highway and the North Western railway tracks and join with Walnut Avenue on the north.

DIFFICULTIES in obtaining right-of-way in the single block had prompted the board of local improvements to indicate a 28-foot width for the one section while planning 36-foot width for the remainder.

At the joint meeting March 27 it was agreed that Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson would work with the improvement body on plans for obtaining additional right-of-way from the three property owners in the block, and width would be expanded if feasible or, if not, the section would remain planned for 28 feet with parking excluded.

Beacham said he objected to the "if," though other board members and Village Pres. John G. Woods said they had received the impression that both boards were in agreement in their aims.

"Right now we're approving something and we don't even know what we're approving," Beacham said. "I think the whole project ought to be held up until we get a firm commitment."

HANSON COUNTERED. "If you hold this thing up you're holding up the entire engineering on the project. You'll never get started."

Woods said he felt the improvements board had gotten the message on the importance of keeping a bottleneck out of a major artery; but Beacham said, "They got the message once before and ignored it."

He referred then to a previous request for inclusion of Ridge Avenue further north in another special assessment project. The request prompted no action from the board of local improvements, but reasons for its exclusion were outlined in the March 27 joint meeting.

Trustee Norvall Stephens then proposed that a motion for approval of the guarantee be amended to make it subject to establishment of a 36-foot width for all of Ridge.

BEACHAM offered a second, but Trustee John White spoke against the proposed amendment and said it was defeating full exploration of all possibilities. In voting, White, Jack Walsh and Carl Mees defeated the amendment.

The guarantee was approved 4-1, with Beacham casting the only "no" vote.

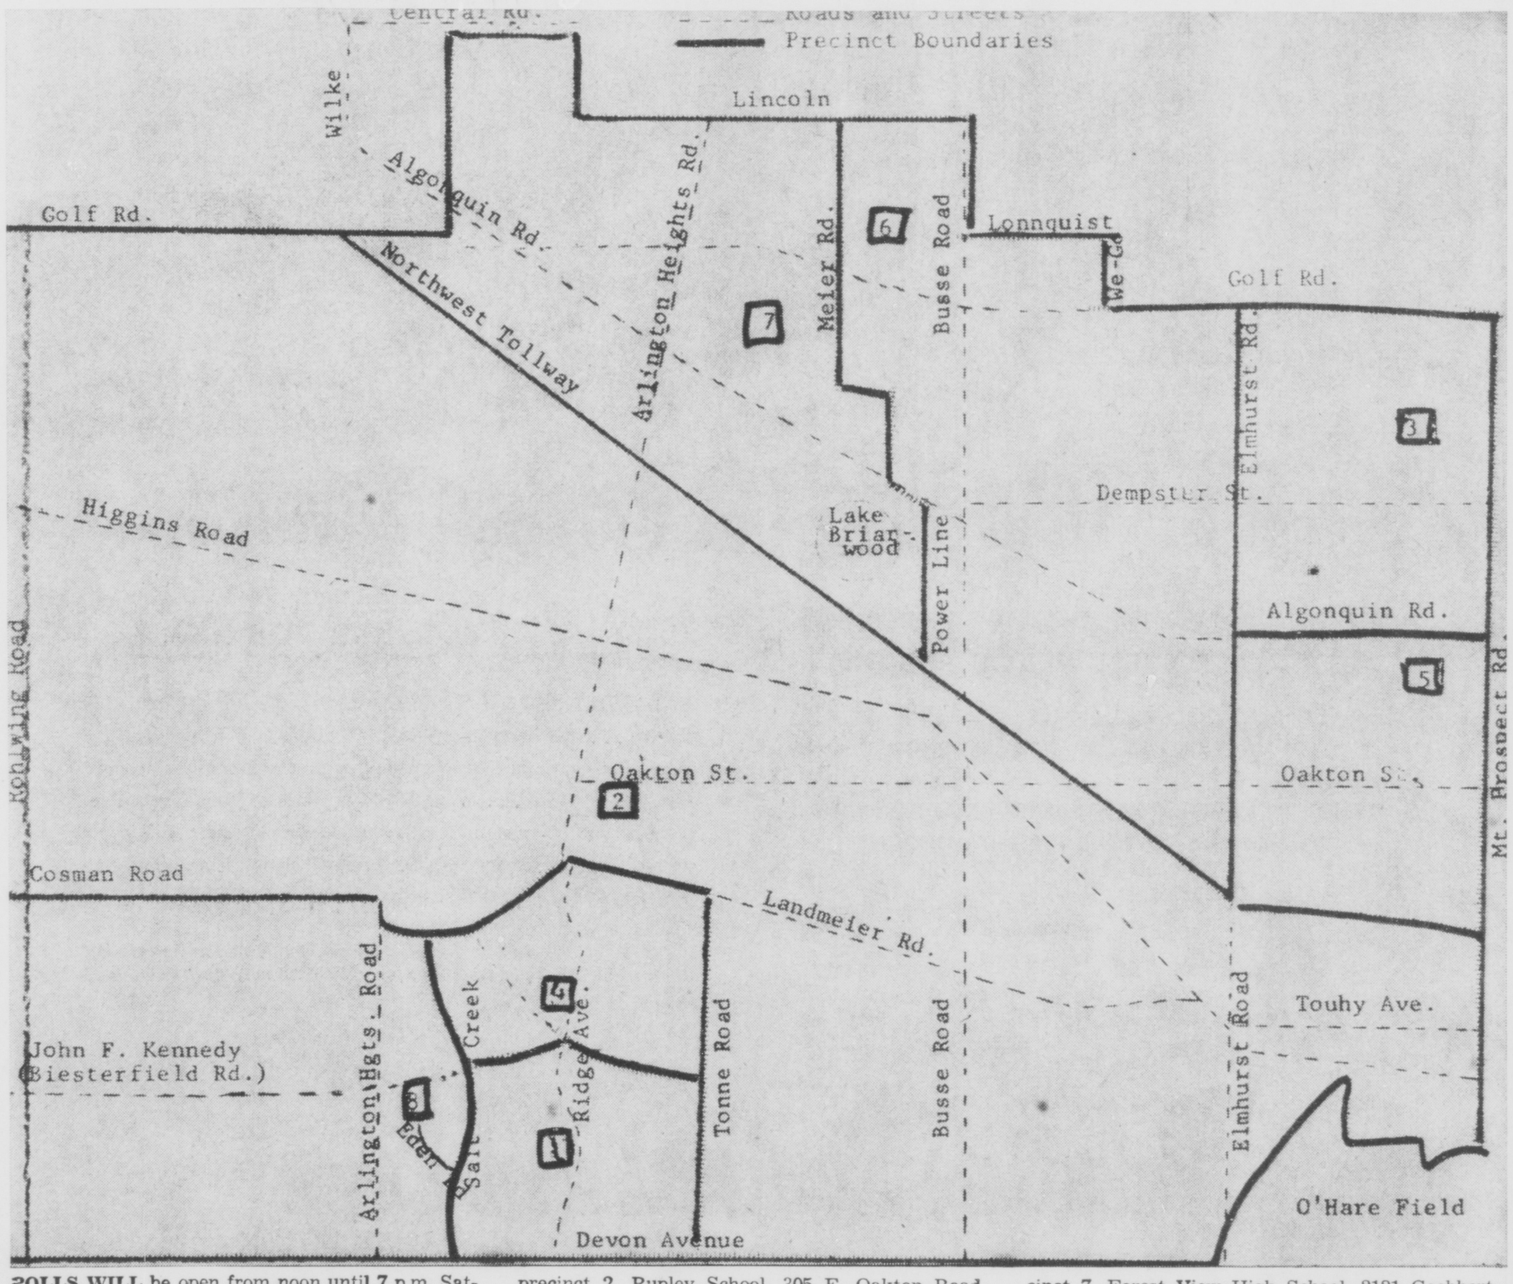

More discussion of the project by the board of local improvements is anticipated for that group's April 8 meeting.

Caucus Achievements Cited by Pres. Woods

"The results are in the record," declared John G. Woods, Arlington Heights Village President and Arlington Caucus candidate for re-election in the April 20 municipal election, speaking Saturday afternoon to more than 50 precinct workers.

"And results are what the Arlington Caucus candidates can confidently promise for the four years ahead," he contended.

Woods heads the Arlington Caucus slate composed of Lois Jeanne Novotny for clerk; LeRoy Bressler, Thomas Hanlon, Francois Palmatier and John F. White for trustees; and Robert Blackburn and James Wood for library directors.

RESULTS of the past four years cited by Woods include reducing the village portion of the property tax bill from 12 per cent to 10 per cent of the total bill, installation of a comprehensive storm sewer to end most flooding problems, construction of a new village hall, addition of two new wells and 1.1 million gallons of storage, expansion of downtown parking, successful opposition of apartment zoning requests, annexation of 2,200 acres and zoning of 800 acres for research and other light industry, and attraction of three new tax-sharing companies.

Field Organization chairman Fred Ainslie announced that every village precinct is covered. He noted that an average of two workers per precinct was in attendance, and reviewed precinct plans for a complete village canvass before election day.

ARLINGTON Caucus campaign chairman Norval Stephens reported that the organization total was now 200 workers but that double that number must be enlisted to insure victory. Interested citizens were asked to volunteer by calling CL 5-2242.

Precinct captains appointed by the Arlington Caucus are Ed Gimbell — 1, Fred Marks — 2, George Leonard — 3, John Kirkland and Mrs. George Rudolphy — 4, Mr. and Mrs. John Lucas and Chris Schoenleb — 5, Fred Ainslie — 6, Willis Jensen — 7, Clyde Ferry — 8, Stanley Lattner — 9, George Behrens — 10, Tony Abbinanti — 11, Andrew Lofquist — 12, Robert Schmidt — 13, Carl Schmidt — 14, H. 4 Candidates Seeking River Trails Positions

One post on the three-member board of Wheeling Township School Trustees is being sought by four candidates in the school elections Saturday, April 10.

The candidates for the six-year unpaid term are Joseph W. Tolson, William T. Flynn, Mrs. Ellen S. Burrows and Chester S. Cole, all of Arlington Heights.

The Wheeling Township School Trustees hold title to all school property of Arlington High School District 214, Wheeling-Buffalo Grove School District 21, Prospect Heights School District 23, Arlington Heights School District 25 and River Trail (Feehanville) School District 26.

IN ADDITION, the trustees appoint the township school treasurer who keeps the official financial records of all of the school districts. The treasurer holds custody of all school funds, signing all vouchers and payroll checks and investing bond-issue and tax money in short term bonds or deposits to gain maximum interest for the schools.

Tolson, 1830 N. Kennicott, is a staff member of a suburban savings and loan association and a G.O.P. precinct captain. He has stated his financial background is particularly applicable to the trustee position since one of the responsibilities of the treasurer is the profitable interim investment of school funds.

Flynn, 801 E. Oakton St., is assistant cashier and trust officer of Palatine National Bank. He says his experience and background fit the trustee requirements since it is largely a function of auditing and administration of school-district funds.

Flynn has said he felt strongly that the trustee post must not degenerate into a political plum.

Mrs. Burrows, 625 S. Evergreen, a former personnel department official, has been a member of citizens lay committees for High School District 214 for the past five years. She was a member of a county-wide citizens bi-partisan committee which studied the offices of township school trustees and treasurers, recommending corrective legislation. She is president of the Women's Society and the official board of the Methodist Church of Arlington Heights.

She has stressed the need to operate the township school treasurer's office at peak efficiency and lowest possible cost while the system of double bookkeeping and business office operation is required by state law only for suburban Cook County.

COLE, 123 N. Forrest, is a Mount Prospect dentist with offices at 6 W. Busse. He has stressed his interest in developing a central accounting office for all of the school districts in Wheeling Township as a way of cutting costs.

The Wheeling Township school trustee election will be held in conjunction with the elections of school boards for both elementary and high schools. Polls will be open from noon to 7 p.m. Polling places are the same as those for the elementary school elections.

Young Adults Plan Potluck

The Northwest Suburban Young Adults will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow (Friday) in the home of Robert Prouty, 42 S. Ridge Ave., Arlington Heights.

They will meet at 6 p.m. Sunday for a potluck supper and installation of officers at the First Methodist Church, Des Plaines. (B10

Local Police Statistics

Northwest Suburbs Exception To Soaring U.S. Crime Rate

Soaring crime rates in the nation's suburbs just aren't so for the northwest Chicago area, according to local police statistics.

While FBI uniform crime reports from 1,728 suburban police departments indicates an increase of 18 per cent in crime rates for 1964, suburban police in this area claim the local increase is proportionate to the population hike.

Bensenville police chief Walter Tett reports that some categories of complaint have increased from 1963 to 1964, such as burglaries up to 75 from 53 the previous year.

However, Tett pointed out some of the areas where complaints are skyrocketing most across the nation show virtually no increase in his DuPage community of 13,000.

FOR EXAMPLE, the Bensenville department recorded 131 complaints of prowlers in 1964. The exact same figure was compiled in 1963 by Bensenville patrolmen.

Vandalism complaints for Bensenville went from 172 in 1963 to 174 for 1964, Tett said.

While burglary complaints jumped during the past year, they had declined the previous two years, Tett showed.

"The rate of increase in the suburban area seems to be about the same as the population growth," Tett said. "Speaking only for Bensenville, of course, our rate of increase has not been any cause for great alarm."

Statistics for Arlington Heights, a community of more than 40,000, backs up Tett's assertions.

Totals remained nearly the same for burglaries, larcenies over $50, auto theft, sex offenses and liquor law violations, according to Arlington Chief L. W. Calderwood.

CALDERWOOD, in his report summarizing 1964, said, taking the village's growth over the past year into account, he and other members of the Arlington Heights department were thankful that crime and accident rates had not increased in proportion.

"I think they are doing an excellent job in the Northwest area," Cook County Sheriff Richard Ogilvie, charged with law enforcement in the unincorporated areas of the county, said.

Ogilvie said his department's reporting system has not been in operation long enough to give statistical backing to his belief, but said in general, "I don't feel that we have any dire situation in the unincorporated areas of the county."

OGILVIE, HOWEVER, was quick to point out that his department "could do a much better job if it had more personnel to do patrol work."

Tett said, "I think almost every department is operating with less men than they need. The problem right now is simply that with the number of personnel most departments have, they can't spot check the way they should because they have to keep moving. If the patrolmen concentrate on one area they have to neglect the rest of the village."

However, the FBI points out in its 1963 report, that "since 1958 the crime rate for the nation has increased five times faster than population growth. Crime rate increases are much greater due to many involved factors and not simply because of numerical population differences," the report said.

PRELIMINARY reports for the 1964 year from the FBI, bear out to some extent the claims of local police chiefs that the area crime rate is not keeping up with the national averages.

The North Central region, which includes Illinois, is lowest in total increases with 10 per cent, compared to an average of 13 per cent for the nation and a high of 17 per cent in the south.

In every category except aggravated assault the region falls below the national average crime rate increase. In aggravated assault the nation as a whole and the region registered an 18 per cent increase in number of crimes. (A15

Leaflets List 7 Cancer Signals

"Approximately 33,000 Illinois residents will be afflicted with some form of cancer during 1965 alone," said Dr. Peter Pleotis, board member of the northwest suburban unit of the American Cancer Society.

Dr. Pleotis, a Mount Prospect obstetrician, said that it is presently possible to save at least half of these cases, but only if diagnosis is made early.

"The ACS," said Dr. Pleotis, "is spearheading a three-pronged attack aimed at eventually eliminating cancer as a major cause of death. Money raised by the ACS is presently helping research institutions in developing a cure for cancer.

"WHAT'S MORE, ACS programs of research, education and treatment have already proved instrumental in reducing cancer deaths."

"This month ACS volunteers are distributing leaflets designed to make Illinois residents aware of the seven danger signals of cancer. Through this awareness," Dr. Pleotis said, "we hope to promote early diagnosis that can lead to cancer cure." (B10

Bill Would Honor Party Committeemen

State Rep. Lewis V. Morgan Jr. R: Wheaton, recently introduced House Bill 520 in the Illinois General Assembly, which provides that candidates for precinct, township and ward committeemen shall be listed at the top of the primary ballot.

Morgan stated, "The precinct committeeman is the cornerstone of our political structure. He receives no compensation for spending untold hours assisting his neighbors and his party pushing doorbells and distributing political material."

"The purpose of this bill is to honor these dedicated men by placing their names on top of the ballot to signify the importance of their position. At present, the committeeman's name appears last on the ballot almost as an afterthought, which does him an injustice."

"IT IS ALSO hoped that this increase in recognition will encourage more citizens to assist their party and their nation by seeking this position."

The response to Morgan's proposal was sizable, and 48 well-known legislators of both parties have agreed to co-sponsor this measure.

Among co-sponsors were Rep. William Redmond, D., Bensenville, and Rep. Eugene Schlickman, R., Arlington Heights.

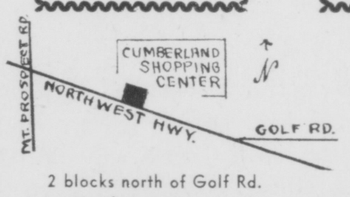

Candy Sale Launched by Camp Fire

Chicago Area Council of Camp Fire Girls has launched its annual candy sale.

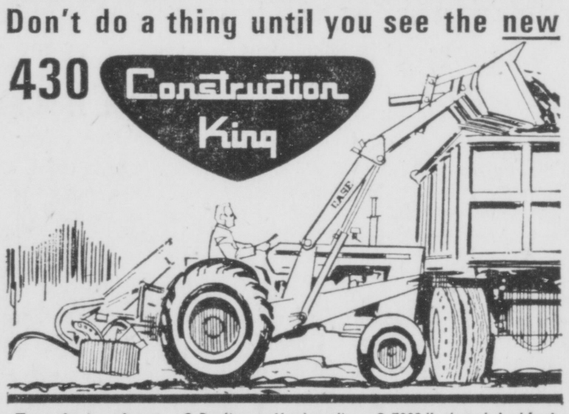

More than 10,000 members of the organization will participate in the candy sale which is the group's primary source of income.

The sale, which began April 2, will continue until Friday, April 23. During that time the group hopes to sell over 100,000 boxes of candy.

Camp Fire Girls will be selling candy door-to-door and will have candy tables set up in many retail stores and public buildings throughout the city and suburbs. (A15

Arlington Debaters Place 4th in State

Arlington High School's Debate team placed fourth in the Illinois State High School Tournament last weekend at Normal.

Arlington compiled a 7-1 win-loss record and, consequently, tied in wins and losses with New Trier High School and Lincoln High School for second place honors.

The tie was broken on the basis of the speaker points of each team.

TAKING FIRST place in the tournament was Rich East High School with eight wins. In second place was New Trier; in third, Lincoln; and in fourth, Arlington.

The affirmative team of Fred Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Green, 210 S. Walnut; and Bob Roth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Roth, 537 S. Chestnut, debated Maine South H.S., Limestone H.S., Aurora East H.S., and Highland Park H.S.; losing only to Highland Park.

The negative team composed of Randy Blaisdell, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Blaisdell, 638 S. Newbury; and Stan Martens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Martens, 828 N. Vail, took on Normal Community H.S., Elgin-Larkin H.S., Elgin H.S. and Galesburg H.S.; losing to none.

This was the first year that Arlington has been represented at the state contest in four years. Arlington's debate coach Wayne Wagner commented, "We are, therefore, proud of the record compiled by Bob, Fred, Randy, and Stan. (Y

GIVING INSTRUCTION to Gayane Babayan is T. J. Jesky, who plays the role of Dr. Bach in Palatine's production of 'Stardust,' which is slated for two showings this weekend.

Palatine Comedy Curtains Friday

Comedies will come and comedies will go—but "Stardust" is here to stay. The production of the play "Stardust," written by Walter Kerr, will be presented tomorrow night, April 9 and also April 10, at 8 p.m. in Cutting Hall at Palatine High School on Wood Street.

"Stardust," a popular comedy in three acts, is about a Broadway star who attempts to live a normal life by spending 10 days at a dramatic school. This Academy is dominated by a zany Russian professor, who believes that acting is true mysticism, and that all his fellow actors should live their parts on stage as well as off.

A conflict arises when the famous guest star not only disagrees with the professor but is offered a movie contract in the place of living an ordinary life.

Tickets will be on sale at the door at 50 cents for children, 75 cents for students, $1 for adults and $1.25 for couples.

Tickets can also be purchased at the following stores in Palatine: Byhring Jewelers, Palatine Plaza; Carol Cleaners, 58 W. Wilson; Dorn Shoes, Inc., 47 W. Slade; Hajicek Pharmacy, 291-293 Northwest Highway; Nelsons' Flower and Gift Shop, 101 W. Chicago; Olsen's Musicland, W. Slade; Palatine Book Store, 16 S. Bothwell; Roy L. La Londe-Realtor, 3 N. FV Student Named Interim SC Prexy

Ed Lauing, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lauing 406 S. Busse Road, Mount Prospect, has been elected president of the Interim League of Student Councils for 1965-1966.

Ed and 19 other Forest View representatives attended the last convention of this year's Interim League Saturday, April 3.

In August, by decision of the Interim principals, the League will split into the Des Plaines Valley League and the Mid-Suburban League of which Forest View is a member.

According to Forest View's student council president Bob Kohn, son of Major and Mrs. Norman Kohn, 923 Tower, Mount Prospect, "The Interim Convention was especially gratifying for the delegation from Forest View. Our candidate for the presidency, Ed Lauing, was elected after an exciting and nerve-racking campaign. It will be Ed's responsibility to make the split a smooth transition."

THE KEYNOTE speaker at the convention was Dean Oscar Shabut of Wright Junior College, who gave a speech on the responsibilities of our age and the promise of our generation.

The schools who will be in the Mid Suburban League next year are Forest View, Maine West, Prospect, Wheeling, Palatine, Conant, Deerfield, Glenbrook North, Glenbrook South, Niles North, Niles West, New Trier West, Maine South.

5 Candidates in Race for District 59 Board Seats

Voters will go to the polls Saturday to elect two men to the Elk Grove District 59 school board.

Five candidates are seeking office: Richard Hess, 247 Placid Way, Elk Grove Village; Robert McAuliffe, 102 Roxbury Lane, Des Plaines; Douglas Burns, incumbent, 324 S. Lynn Court, Des Plaines; C. Elmo Hilderbrand, 1233 Springdale, Elk Grove Village; and Charles (Jim) Van Abrahams, 79 Avon Road, Elk Grove Village.

Gerald Brubaker, school board president, is not seeking re-election this year. He has endorsed Burns as a candidate on the basis of "experience and capabilities."

Hess and Van Abrahams were unsuccessful candidates in the 1964 election.

The candidates are campaigning in what has been a quiet campaign. All five have been appearing before PTA and homeowners group meetings to introduce themselves and explain their reasons for seeking office. They have received few questions from the floor in any of these sessions.

THE ONE issue that originally was expected to create interest — dual enrollment of Catholic school students in the public school's junior high school in Elk Grove Village recently has not been mentioned. Hilderbrand is the only candidate who opposes the dual enrollment program. The two men elected to the board will have to review the program next year and determine if it should be continued and expanded.

Burns, an incumbent and secretary of the board, voted for the dual enrollment but the others indicated they also would have voted for the proposal.

Hilderbrand is the only candidate who has expressed some criticism for District 59's present program particularly in the area of physical education. However at the PTA sessions he has used a humorous approach to his candidacy and has not specified any particular criticism or campaign issues.

The major conroversy that is growing in the campaign is the propriety of Burns as an incumbent forming a coalition with Van Abrahams. McAuliffe has criticized Burns for linking himself to any other candidate and calling it a "compromising" and "cheapening" position for Burns. He believes that Burns as an incumbent is strong enough as a candidate to campaign and win on his own and should not run with another candidate.

A year ago Van Abrahams ran independently but it was no secret that he, Hess, and Nancy Swearingen, present school board member, plugged for each other.

THE ISSUE that the district again will be influenced by "sectional loyalties" with Des Plaines area and Elk Grove Village each seeking home-based candidates for the board is being aired. Hess is particularly critical of Burns and Van Abrahams who he believes are receiving the backing of a political group in Des Plaines. That group is credited with the election of two of the three candidates last year, Jackie Hofer and Joseph Schefter.

Van Abrahams has denied he and Burns have received the endorsement of this group. He said they are welcoming any support from any group but definitely have rejected any endorsement. He and Burns have a citizens group working with them, he said.

Hess said he has rejected any endorsement from Elk Grove Village groups because of his belief in campaigning independently.

Hess has served for five years as president and member of the Midlothian District 143 school board. A three year resident of Elk Grove Village, Hess is an engineering sales manager for a Chicago firm. He has had experience in design and construction of buildings.

Hess and his wife have four children.

McAULIFFE IS a director of the Devonshire Homeowners Association and co - founder and past director of this organization. He is treasurer of the Des Plaines Council of Civic Associations. A resident of District 59 for four years, McAuliffe is a manager of the television division of station WCFL which is seeking a television license.

He and his wife have two children, one in St. Zachary's Catholic School, another in District 59's schools.

Burns has served on the District 59 school board for three years. He has been secretary of the board. He is a product manager for a manufacturer of housewares. A resident of the district for five years, he and his wife have three children.

He has been active in scouting and has served as an institutional representative for one of the troops.

Burns is basing his candidacy on his experience on the school board.

Hilderbrand was a candidate for the park board in 1963 when Elk Grove Village held a referendum to form a park district. He is a teacher in Leyden Township. A four year resident of Elk Grove Village, he and his wife have three children.

VAN ABRAHAMS is a production manager for a Chicago offset printing firm. He has been executive editor of the Town Crier, an Elk Grove newspaper, but this week he announced the resignation from that position. He is one of the organizers of the Salt Creek Parents Organization and past chairman of the group.

A resident of Elk Grove Village for three years, Van Abrahams and his wife have three children.

Polls for voting will be open from 12 noon to 7 p.m. Saturday. They will be the same place they were for the referendum in February. (A(M

Modern Etiquette

Q. How does a bridegroom make his choice of a best man?

A. Usually, if he has a brother, he is expected to have this honor. Otherwise, a close friend. In any event, the man selected should be one who is capable of handling dozens of details calmly and tactfully, since he is one of the most important forces behind the wedding scenes.

IN THE WAR room of the Pentagon, Peter Sellers as President of the United States makes a desperate effort to save the world from atomic destruction, triggered by a psychotic Air Force general. It's a scene from Stanley Kurbrick's "Dr. Stangelove or: How I Learned to Stop Worrying and Love the Bomb," which starts tomorrow (Friday) at the Catlow Theatre.

'Father Goose' Next To Play Golf Mill

Cary Grant has placed himself in double jeopardy in his current picture "Father Goose," which opens at the Golf Mill Theatre, tomorrow, Friday.

Through most of the romantic adventure comedy, in which his co-star is Leslie Caron, he finds himself competing for attention with seven assorted female moppets, ages 7 to 15. As if that weren't challenge enough, he also shares considerable footage with a wide-winged, saucer-eyed pelican who seemingly gazes with disdain upon all non-webfooted creatures, Cary included.

The youngsters portray school girl charges of Miss Caron, seen as the war displaced daughter of a French Consul. They take refuge on a tiny South Pacific island where Cary, the sole inhabitant, is assigned as coast watcher.

"FATHER Goose" is described as family entertainment. The film plays the Golf Mill as a limited showing engagement and will be shown at five performances daily.

June Decker of Park Ridge will exhibit a collection of her paintings in the art gallery of the Golf Mill during the month of April. She is the wife of Ferdinand Rebechini, sculptor and designer, who has his studio and gallery in Park Ridge.

Mrs. Rebechini received her bachelor of fine arts degree from the Art Institute of Chicago. (Bill

19 Young Performers In 'Plain and Fancy'

Nineteen young musical comedy performers from the northwestern suburbs will be on stage in Wheeling in the production "Plain and Fancy," to be presented by Music-On-Stage Inc. at Wheeling High School, 900 S. Elmhurst Road, Thursday through Sunday, April 22, 23, 24 and 25.

Arlington Heights residents include Cindy Moderhack, Mary Thrasher and Gerald Mertens. Besides the interest in theatre that Cindy has, ice skating and dancing appeal to this fifth grader. St. James Grade School can be proud of 8-year-old Mary with her poise developed from dancing and acrobatic training. Gerald, known as "Chip," exchanges his stock car racing shoes for the dancing variety.

FROM LAKE ZURICH comes an incurably theatre bitten group known as the Randall sisters, Francis, 14; Janice, 12; Jeannie, 11, and Debra 6. Somehow they find time to devote to the flute, piccolo, clarinette and bassoon.

Ken and Jim Vandenboom of Wheeling, already have left an impact on MOS for they were seen in "Music Man." At present, Ken is sporting a band-aid on the cheek, and Jim is having trouble sitting down in his Amish pants, but a few more rehearsals will iron out the problems.

Des Plaines contributes a six-year old, Harold Daniels Jr., making his debut in the theatre world.

The representation from Palatine includes old "seniors," namely Mary Pat Wassmer, Bob Withmer, Rick Robinson and Maria Jachniw. All four take an active part in church activities as well as the Thespians of Palatine High.

JUNE BLAKEMAN, 13, of Prospect Heights and Julie Cassel, 16, of Mount Prospect, provide diversion. Contrasting the quaint folk living around Lancaster, Pa., with the livid and murky at the carnival does not seem too difficult a task for these young ladies.

Northlake sends a skier, a top student and a gentleman with a problem, respectively sister and brother, Bonnie, 14, and Mark Juhl, 8, and Claude Houchins. Bonnie and Mark have braved the winter storms most successfully to attend rehearsals on time. Claude's big problem is "to get a haircut or not to get a haircut" for if he does, his hat will no longer fit.

Friday and Saturday performances are nearly sold out, but tickets are available still for Thursday or Sunday. Reservations may be obtained through Mrs. Marguerite Dietrich by calling CL 3-2793 evenings.

IN THE WAR room of the Pentagon, Peter Sellers as President of the United States makes a desperate effort to save the world from atomic destruction, triggered by a psychotic Air Force general. It's a scene from Stanley Kurbrick's "Dr. Stangelove or: How I Learned to Stop Worrying and Love the Bomb," which starts tomorrow (Friday) at the Catlow Theatre.

'Father Goose' Next To Play Golf Mill

Cary Grant has placed himself in double jeopardy in his current picture "Father Goose," which opens at the Golf Mill Theatre, tomorrow, Friday.

Through most of the romantic adventure comedy, in which his co-star is Leslie Caron, he finds himself competing for attention with seven assorted female moppets, ages 7 to 15. As if that weren't challenge enough, he also shares considerable footage with a wide-winged, saucer-eyed pelican who seemingly gazes with disdain upon all non-web-footed creatures, Cary included.

The youngsters portray school girl charges of Miss Caron, seen as the war displaced daughter of a French Consul. They take refuge on a tiny South Pacific island where Cary, the sole inhabitant, is assigned as coast watcher.

"FATHER Goose" is described as family entertainment. The film plays the Golf Mill as a limited showing engagement and will be shown at five performances daily.

June Decker of Park Ridge will exhibit a collection of her paintings in the art gallery of the Golf Mill during the month of April. She is the wife of Ferdinand Rebechini, sculptor and designer, who has his studio and gallery in Park Ridge.

Mrs. Rebechini received her bachelor of fine arts degree from the Art Institute of Chicago. (Bill

Countryside Center Plans Arts Festival

Hundreds of talented individuals, including artists, actors and musicians, will be participating in a two-day Spring Arts Festival to be presented Saturday and Sunday, April 24 and 25, in Arlington Heights, according to Mrs. William Stull, Countryside Art Center member in charge of the event.

Mrs. Stull reports that, in addition to exhibitions of art by Countryside Art Center exhibiting members, the festival will include performances by several area organizations. Among them are the Village Theatre, Lyric Opera Guild, Palatine Madrigal Singers, Arlington High School Harmonettes and others.

Folksingers Dan Baughman and Jim Welton from Arlington High School will also be performing at the festival which will include displays "keyed to paintings," prepared by members of the Arlington Heights Garden Club.

ROOMS AND HALLWAYS at the Pioneer Park Fieldhouse, site of the two-day festival, will display works of art by Countryside's exhibiting members, and large burlap and felt banners, designed by 20 invited artists, will add to the gaiety of the decor.

Well-known professional artists Martyl and Richard Loving will jury works of art submitted by art center members, and cash prizes will be awarded to selected artists and craftsmen. Works of art exhibited in the festival, as well as the burlap banners, will be available for purchase by persons attending the event.

At scheduled times during the festival, art demonstrations will be conducted by the following artists: Robert Borchard, Peggy Langrall, printmakers; Jean Tibbitts, weaver; Gilbert Armstrong, glass blower, and Fran Shillington and Dorothy Kruse, woodcarvers.

THE ENTIRE LOWER level of the fieldhouse will be devoted to displays of children's art from the Countryside Art Center's classes for children, and a special exhibit of art from the Clearbrook School for Retarded Children, will be displayed by the Junior Women's Club.

For a small fee, parents will be able to leave their children in the "Creative Corner," a room where art activities will take place under the guidance of Aloise Zehner and Fran Shillington.

Details of the Spring Arts Festival, first of its kind to be presented for residents in the northwest suburban area, will be announced in forthcoming editions of Paddock publications. Persons desiring additional information at this time may contact Mrs. Stull, chairman, at CL 3-6153. (Bill

MRS. VIRGINIA VOLID, Palatine, gives young Paul Murray, Rolling Meadows, a preview of one of her banners which will be hung at the Spring Arts Festival to be held in Arlington Heights on April 24 and 25. Area children will have an opportunity to create their own works of art in a "Creative Corner" at the Pioneer Park Fieldhouse where the festival will be held.

ITEM: After having papered a room, write on a piece of paper the number of rolls it took for the sides, ceiling and border. Paste the paper on the back of a picture in the room. It's a handy reminder for the next time you paper the area.

ITEM: You can prevent picture marks on your walls by sticking a thumbtack on each corner of the frame. Allow the tacks to extend about ⅛ of an inch. This will allow circulation of air behind the frame and prevent picture marks.

ITEM: If you have cockroaches and want to get rid of them, use malathion, ronnel, diazinon, or synergized pyrethrum insecticides. Scientists at the U.S. Department of Agriculture say many of the more common insecticdes —DDT, chlordane, dieldrin and lindane—are no longer effective against all kinds of roaches. Some roaches, especially the German cockroach, have developed a resistance to these chemicals. Always read the label on any insecticide product immediately before use and follow all precautions on the label for safe use.

ITEM: Is it cheaper to do laundry at home or at the laundromat? If you do five or more loads a week, it's definitely cheaper at home, U.S. Department of Agriculture family economists report. If you have less than five loads, it may be cheaper to go to the laundromat. The final answer depends on transportation cost.

Anti-Bias Commission Is Topic of Debate Tuesday

"Human Relations Commission — Necessary or Not!" will be debated Tuesday evening, April 13, at the first 1965 "Township Forum" presented by the Wheeling Township Young Republicans.

The forum will be held at 7:30 p.m. at Miner Junior High School, Dryden Avenue and Miner Street, in Arlington Heights.

Dr. Norbert Hruby, vice president of Mundelein College, will speak on the merits and necessity of a commission. In his words, "I'm convinced that Human Relations Commissions are necessary . . . in suburban communities. The issue is real. It is of critical significance in our communities and in our time."

He added, "A confrontation of reason, such as this occasion provides, can conceivably be a useful public service. I particularly want to commend and thank the Young Republicans for furnishing this platform for these opposing points of view—despite the fairly well established facts that I am neither young nor Republican."

GEORGE (Bud) Beacham Jr., an Arlington Heights village trustee, will argue that the commission is not necessary. Quoting the village board policy statement, he said, "The churches . . . have devoted a great deal of attention to the moral and religious issues involved.

"The Arlington Heights Community Council . . . has indicated a willingness to make the educational aspect of human relations an important part of their activities. We conclude it is unnecessary to duplicate their efforts.

"In the enforcement area, the president and board of trustees are unwilling to delegate their authority and responsibility."

"The Township Forum is not a political meeting, but is presented by the Young Republicans as a public service, explained Bud Matt, YR president.

There will be a question and answer period following the debate, which is open to the public. (ACM

Catholic Hospital Observance Slated

Holy Family Hospital, Des Plaines, will join more than 1,500 Catholic Hospitals, nursing homes, schools of nursing and affiliated organizations throughout the U. S. and Canada in observance during 1965 of the fiftieth year of service of the Catholic Hospital Association of the U. S. and Canada.

The Catholic Hospital Association was organized in 1915 by and for the Catholic hospitals of the U. S. and Canada. Stated aim is to assist them in reaching their goals as Catholic institutions, to develop educational and service programs and to coordinathe information about Catholic hospitals.

According to a Holy Family spokesman, the association is devoted to the promotion of the Christian ideal of caring for the sick. Its program stresses the religious and moral motivations in hospital care. It sponsors educational programs throughout the year in major cities to promote professional excellence. These are buttressed by publication of HOSPITAL PROGRESS, the official journal. The Association is basically a service organization for its members.

Highlight of the year-long observance, devoted to the theme of "The Past. . .a Prologue" will be the Golden Jubilee Convention to be held in St. Louis from June 8 through 11.

Other events and projects for the jubilee year anniversary include special exhibits and local celebrations by the member hospitals and affiliated groups.

Easement Negotiations Authorized

The Arlington Heights Village Board has instructed Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson to meet with a property owner in South Ridge Avenue to settle on a price for vacating part of a sewer easement.

P. Gilbert Peterson, owner of the Peterson Co. which owns the property north of Our Lady of the Wayside Church, asked for the huddle after the village had proposed a $1,000 price tag on the vacation.

PETERSON objected to that price, based on $100 per foot of frontage on Ridge Avenue vacated by the village. He said it was evidently based on a misunderstanding of his request for a reduced easement. Peterson wants the easement reduced for building purposes.

Peterson said under building regulations only six of the 10 feet vacated could be used for building. The Peterson property is on two lots across from the opening of Grove Street. (A

Taxpayers Urged: Cough Up Locally

A resolution urging Arlington Heights property owners to pay their property taxes locally was approved by the village board Monday.

The board pointed out that 2 per cent of the taxes collected by the Wheeling Township collector are retained by the township, after payment of the collector's compensation. The excess commissions are distributed to local school districts and mental health agencies.

Taxes paid directly to the Cook County collector do not provide similar revenue for the township.

Village Pres. John G. Woods urged residents to contact the financial institutions holding their mortgages to ask them to make payments to the Wheeling collector, if the tax payments are included in the mortgage. He said if all Arlington Heights property owners paid their taxes locally, the township would receive $135,000 in commissions.

Wheeling Township Collector Mrs. Marjorie Annen Carter said she expects commissions to total $210,000 based on past records and the growth of the township.

Beginning Friday (tomorrow), she said, taxes may be paid at the Arlington Heights National Bank, the Bank of Arlington Heights, the First National Bank of Mount Prospect at Randhurst and the Wheeling Trust and Savings Bank, Wheeling. Payments may be made during banking hours through April.

Payment also may be made by check directly to her at the Wheeling Town Hall, 1818 E. Northwest Highway, Arlington Heights.

The village board instructed Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson to send a copy of the resolution to mortgage institutions in the county and to officials in other Wheeling Township communities. (A

Elk Grove Township Budget Approved Without Changes

In a town meeting marked by partisan politicking, approximately 140 electors approved without change a $216,510 town budget for Elk Grove Township.

Levity at the meeting was provided by discussion of the thistle commissioner and his job and of the parliamentary procedure that should be followed.

Special interest groups were obvious in the township hall crammed to standing room. They represented the Republican Party, the Democratic Party, the "school lobby."

In addition to approving the budget, the electors vetoed a suggestion by Chester A. Chesney, 801 E. Golfview Drive, Mount Prospect, a Democratic township committeeman, to study the efficiency and operation of township government. Carl Hansen, Republican township committeeman, led the opposition to the study as unnecessary and taking away electors' prerogatives of changing township operation in usual meetings.

CHESNEY HAD proposed a committee with representatives of Elk Grove Village, Mount Prospect, Des Plaines, and Arlington Heights be set up for the study. This kind of study was proposed in Barrington Township.

The electors approved the transfer of $65,000 in excess funds to the school districts. This represented an increase over last year's transfer.

Funds will be divided on the basis of assessed valuation for five districts though Elk Grove School District 59 receives the largest portion. Mount Prospect District 57, Arlington Heights District 25, Schaumburg District 54, and Palatine-Rolling Meadows District 15 will receive the funds.

An allottment of $11,000 was approved for transfer to the Community Mental Health Fund. This will go to the Northwest Community Mental Health Clinic and the Clearbrook School for Retarded Children.

NO TAX LEVY will be made this year in the town, general assistance and mental health funds.

The electors approved a $38,667.10 budget for the general assistance fund. They also approved a $130,225 budget for the road and bridge after a Democratic-sponsored motion to lower by $1,400 the amount spent for prevention and extirpation of weeds was defeated.

The meeting had much of the air of a social gathering with friends greeting friends. Tally of votes brought general joshing. But it also served notice of obvious Republican strength. Republicans were celebrating a township slate victory, the only slate in the election. Chesney was jibed by one Mount Prospect resident when he proposed the township study because the Democrats had not produced a slate.

In quick succession David Regner was named moderator, Robert Teichert, parliamentarian, and Daniel Gaffney, sergeant-at-arms.

Teichert's knowledge of parliamentary procedure was requested time and again as electors were embroiled in debates over motions, calls-for-the-question, and points of inquiry.

KENNETH HAAS, 791 Bonita Drive, Elk Grove Village, failed almost immediately in having the budget examined and approved part by part instead of as a whole.

The "school lobby" received pointed admonishments on a point about the courtesy of staying until the township meeting was adjourned. They were criticized for leaving the town meeting last year after the transfer of township funds to the school districts was approved.

Gerald Brubaker, District 59 school board president, told the audience "It is unfortunate we left but we had another meeting. We thought we had given an adequate explanation. We'll stay tonight until the last dog is hung."

Homemaker Seeking 6-Year School Term

Mrs. Ellen Burrows, 625 S. Evergreen, Arlington Heights, is seeking election to a six-year term as Wheeling Township School Trustee.

The election will be held Saturday, April 10, in conjunction with other school elections in Wheeling Township.

The Wheeling Township school trustees are custodians of all property and funds of Arlington High School District 214, and elementary schools in Arlington Heights, Prospect Heights, Buffalo Grove, Wheeling and River-Trails (Feehanville).

The three-member board of school trustees also appoints the township school treasurer who is responsible for keeping the official financial records of the schools, investing and holding all school money, and signing all vouchers and payroll checks.

School boards themselves hold no title to property and do not have custody of school money.

MRS. BURROWS has lived in Arlington Heights for more than 10 years. She has been a member of the last three lay citizens committees for High School District 214 and was on the building committees for both Wheeling and Elk Grove High Schools. She also was a member of the committee which worked to pass the educational tax levy increase for District 214 last October.

A member of the Arlington Heights First Methodist Church, Mrs. Burrows is currently a member of the Church Board, the Commission on Christian Social Concerns and the Commission on Finance. She is also (Apresident of the Woman's Society of Christian Service.

Last year she worked as membership chairman of the League of Women Voters of Arlington Heights. She has been an area chairman of the Arlington Heights Cancer Drive and a den mother for Cub Pack 57 of Park Elementary School. Active in Republican politics, she has been a block captain for the past three years.

Mrs. Burrows attended the University of Kansas City and the University of Illinois. Prior to her marriage in 1953, Mrs. Burrows was associated with the personnel division of a national cosmetic firm in Kansas City.

Mrs. Burrows' interest in the office of township school trustee brought her participation in a Bi-Partisan county-wide committee to study the necessity of the offices of township school trustees and treasurers in 1963.

AS A RESULT of this study, a bill was introduced in the legislature to abolish the offices which are retained from old state laws only in suburban Cook County.

Mrs. Burrows said the committee firmly believed in the need for careful spending of educational tax dollars. Because of this the committee concluded the office was unnecessary in the present school financial structure.

Polls will be open from noon t 7 p.m. Saturday. Polling places are the same as those for the elementary school board elections.

MRS. ELLEN BURROWS

KICKIN' IT AROUND

THEY'LL REMEMBER THE 1964-65 school year as the year of Wheeling's debut in athletics, as the year of Prospect's conference football championship, as the year of Arlington's regional basketball title, as the year of Prospect's district gymnastics crown, and as the year of a record-breaking basketball star at St. Viator.

They'll also remember 1964-65 as the year of the sophomore.

Never before in the history of Paddock area athletics have so many gifted sophomores made such an impact on the varsity scene. You'll recognize the names—Arlington's Kim Markshausen, Steve Allen, Dave Lockwood, and Tommy Dunn; Prospect's Tom Lundstedt; St. Viator's Dennis Forston; Wheeling's Scott Bischoff. And there are others.

The possibility that Allen and Lockwood, who have already picked up varsity awards in football and basketball, could add a third in baseball this spring prompted a little research in our files. Would nine varsity letters in a high school career serve as a Paddock area record?

BILL ROBINSON

As a follower of the area sports since the mid-1940's, we knew the answer before we initiated the research. No. Nine letters for one boy wouldn't be a record. Although picking up nine varsity letters would be a spectacular achievement, it would still fall short of the area standard established by an Arlington High youngster from 1945 to 1949. It would fall four letters short.

Bill Robinson has the record. It's a record that will never be equalled. Robinson won 13 varsity letters at Arlington High School. He collected four varsity emblems in baseball, three in basketball, three in football, and three in track.

Robinson was able to letter in both track and baseball because you could double in a sports season in those days. Today, you're limited to one sport in a single season—fall, winter, or spring—so Robinson's record will stand.

Robinson, who later attended the United States Naval Academy, launched his amazing high school athletic career with a varsity baseball letter as a freshman at Arlington. He pitched two complete games, winning both, and decked Woodstock with a nifty four-hitter.

Bill scored a sweep as a sophomore—varsity letters in football, basketball, baseball, and track. He was a quarterback in football, forward in basketball, pole vaulter and high jumper in track, and pitcher in baseball.

He made the rounds again as a junior, picking up four more letters, and headed into his senior campaign with nine. It wasn't a case of "too much too soon" for Robinson. His early success in high school didn't have any adverse effects. He was brilliant as a senior.

Robinson started his senior year by making the Northeast Conference all-star team in football. He scored seven touchdowns for Arlington, threw 68 passes for 389 yards, averaged 5.3 on 44 carries from scrimmage, intercepted 11 passes on defense, ran back 17 kicks for 265 yards, and did all the punting, averaging a shade under 35 yards per kick.

In basketball the 5-10 senior paced the team in scoring with 260 points, a healthy total in those days, and again earned all-league honors.

In baseball Robinson made his senior year his best. He toiled 56 1/3 inings for Wally Grace's Cardinals and posted a 6-1 record. He yielded nine runs in his two losses and eight were unearned. He allowed only five earned runs on the mound, an 0.63 ERA, and fanned 55 hitters, walking only 19.

But Robinson's diamond heroics weren't limited to the mound. He also was quite a hitter. As a senior Bill rapped out 20 hits in 49 trips to the plate for a .408 mark. He hit .366 for his high school career in 123 at bats.

In a vote of 85 high school coaches Robinson was the first boy named to the suburban area squad for the Chicago Herald-American's all-star baseball game in Wrigley Field.

We can't forget track and field in the Bill Robinson story. When he wasn't toiling for Arlington's varsity baseball team as a senior, Bill found time to win the conference high jump and pole vault titles.

Thirteen letters in four sports . . . a varsity standout in football, basketball, baseball and track . . . that was Bill Robinson. His athletic achievements are unparalleled in the history of the Paddock area.

Ten Years Ago This Week . . .

ARLINGTON DROPPED THREE varsity baseball games by the total of five runs . . . York (5-4), Riverside-Brookfield (4-2), and Niles (5-3) tripped Howard Lester's Cardinals . . . Five teams were tied for first place in the West Suburban Conference with identical 2-1 records.

Diamond Doubleheader Slated

Wheeling, Conant to Battle Saturday on Wildcats' Field

by KEN KNOX

When Conant's Cougars and Wheeling's Wildcats confront each other on the Wheeling baseball diamond this Saturday, it should be an event worth watching.

It will be no battle of titans, but it should be enthralling baseball nonetheless. Two games are scheduled because of a weather washout last week, and for both teams it will be more baseball than they ever played before. By a stroke of foresight in planning, the two first year schools will be able to test each other's mettle in the infancy of their maiden seasons.

What will happen cannot be predicted, since the occurrence may be something akin to two chemists mixing two previously unknown chemicals into a compound of unforseeable results. One or both may be volatile, and one or both may be dormant. No one is certain, not even the coaches, who are Conant's Lynn Crouch and Wheeling's Steve Chernicky.

THEY'VE BEEN laboring through an inhospitable spring, forced to remain confined to their gymnasiums running through baseball fundamentals with boys of mostly limited baseball experience. So neither coach knows exactly what he has, and neither coach has been able to develop what's lacking.

If a prognosis based on paper strengths and weaknesses can be trusted, there should be evidence of a lot of good pitching during the twin engagement. Both teams must be regarded as strong in hurling, with Conant perhaps boasting the most depth in its pitching staff.

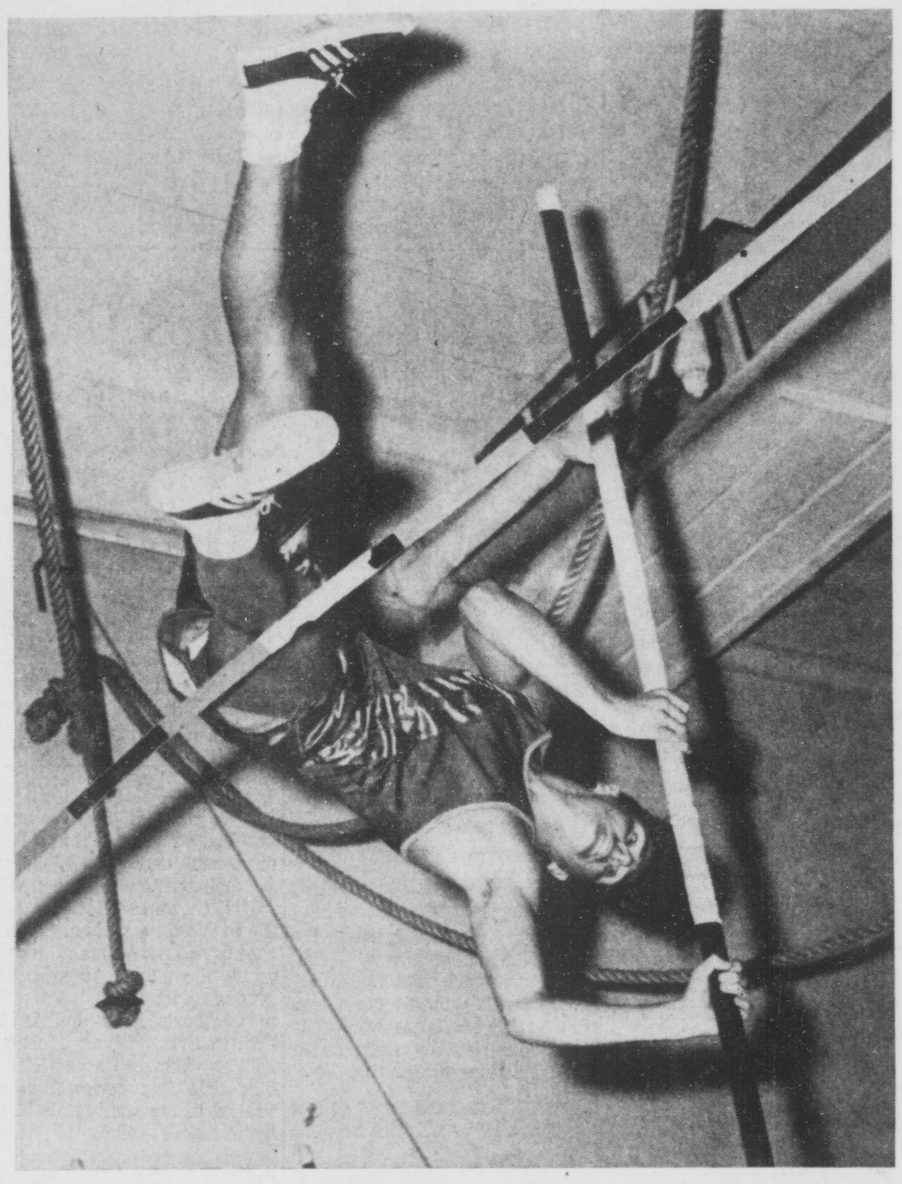

Wheeling has two boys who could be one of the better one-two punches around. Junior Mark Newman, an all-around athlete, figures to be the ace of the Wildcat mound staff. But close behind will be sophomore Skip Grant, a southpaw, who dazzled opponents in the summer Wheeling Colt League with 79 strikeouts, only a dozen walks, and a record of 7-0.

GRANT WILL probably be the one called on to take the mound when the first game gets under way at 10:00 a.m. He may be allowed to go as long as he can, with Newman, Jim Pavelle, Tom Manderscheid and Rich Haddock to back him up. Pavelle is most likely as the number three man of the pitching staff, and Manderscheid will be mostly a reliefer.

Conant's Coach Crouch can counter with his ace, Dave Sander, and a lot of deuces: Art Wisz, Al Ramsey, Lee Sheldon and Walt Riley. They, like deuces in poker, could be worth a lot more than their face value. And, if those five find it rough, Crouch could call in Dan Gruneigh from center field and Dennis Shaw from right. Both have shown a lot of capability on the mound.

Hitting remains the undefinable, so much so that neither coach is prepared to say what his batting order will be come Saturday. If there is an edge in hitting, it would have to go to Wheeling, at least in terms of past performance.

WAYNE IVERSON, Wheeling High School pole vaulter, tops the indoor bar while practicing for the first outdoor meet of the season. He and the other Wildcat thinclads will try to escape the confinement of their fieldhouse this Saturday as they initiate the spring campaign with a meet at Conant. Against the Cougars, Iverson will be trying to top his best height of the year, 11 feet 5 inches.

Faces Ridgewood Nine

St. Viator Travels For Non-Loop Game

by BOB FRISK

This is the "if" season and it's pretty frustrating for high school baseball coaches.

We'll play today if . . .

If the rain has stopped, if there's no snow on the ground, if the diamond is playable . . . if, if, if.

"I've never seen a season like this," St. Viator coach Len Sparacino said at the outset of the week after it became apparent that the weatherman had wiped out the Lions' first five games on the 1965 schedule.

SPARACINO AND his St. Viator varsity were hardest hit by the uncooperative weatherman. The Lions had five games scheduled in the past week and all were either postponed or cancelled entirely.

St. Viator will try again today (Thursday) with a road contest at Ridgewood, but Ridgewood Coach Russ Roeber wasn't too optimistic at the outset of the week.

"If the weather holds we may be able to get the game in," Roeber reported, "but I doubt if we'll be able to use our diamond. Its' going to take some time before it's ready."

If the weather holds and if they can find a diamond that is playable the Lions and Rebels will square off at 4:00 p.m. today. St. Viator Coach Sparacino plans to divide the pitching duties between junior John Loughman and sophomore Jerry Donohue, both right handers, and Ridgewood's Roeber also plans to use his hurlers in limited assignments.

"WE'RE JUST looking in these non-conference games," Roeber reported. "Our first day outside was Monday and you can't tell much until you actually see the kids under game conditions."

Wayne Wilson, a senior right-hander, is the Rebs' top hurler although Roeber has several other promising mound candidates.

"Wilson looks to be our best boy," Roeber admits, "but Dan Chmera, a side-arming right-hander, and Denny O'Keefe, a promising junior, also should

Seek Weather Break For Diamond Answers

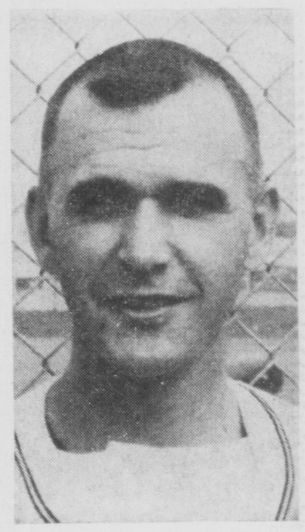

by MICHAEL HESS

Answers!! Another week's practice has provided quite a few.

Questions?? Some remain, but only competition can provide the replies.

Palatine and Forest View baseball entries will clash this afternoon in the season opener for each. Both nines found answers on line-ups, positions, and pitchers during recent indoor workouts, but a real opponent is needed to eliminate remaining question marks.

Miserable weather and wet grounds have kept the two squads out of action until now. Rain and cold may force still another postponement. However, if either the Pirates or Falcons are to progress further, they'd better hope for a clear sky and dry field.

HAL SPREHE

OVER IN THE Palatine camp of Coach Terry Gellinger, the initial battle could clear up four problems. The outfield picture is still. The outfield picture in the batting order haven't been settled; the hitting potential remains doubtful; and the choice of a number one pitcher hasn't been made.

For host Forest View's headman Hal Sprehe, the year's first encounter could go a long way toward resolving the first base, outfield, hitting, and relief pitching situations. Also, manager Sprehe is still not sure of his FV batting order.

The Pirates opening line-up places captain and letterman Dave Swingley at first, Earl Spiegal at second, letterman Ed Gilreath at short, and junior Ken Johnson at third. Surest bet with a bat among the infielders will probably be Swingley, though Johnson and Gilreath aren't far behind.

Behind the plate will be Pete Dziadula, a senior.

IN THE OUTFIELD, only the job of Terry Mulligan in center seems secure. He hit well in limited service toward the end of last year and just may continue his torrid pace. Mulligan will be in the clean-up slot today.

Left and right may be filled by juniors Jim Ekeberg and John Gove but Coach Gellinger still has doubts about those two spots. With Rick Lampet, Tom Shaw, and Jeff Keller still vying for outfield positions the picture could change from day to day.

Since Grove and Ekeberg are tabbed for the one-two places in the Palatine batting order, should they be replaced then many other shifts could result. At the moment the order behind those two will be Johnson, Mulligan, Swingley, Gilbreath, Speigal, Dziadula and the pitcher.

PITCHING HOLDS lots of promise for the Pirates but who will be the staff "stopper" is still undecided. Rick Haggard, a senior emblem wearer will start against Forest View. He'll be followed by fellow letterwinner Dave Blyth and junior Barry Yurtis.

Haggard appears to be tops on the mound but he and Blyth are so close that today's result might dictate the next game's starter. Yurtis is picked as the boy with a future at Palatine.

IN PAST campaigns it's been Palatine which has won in contests with Forest View. The Falcons fell 8-3 in 1963 and in '64 they were crushed 10-4. That 10-4 struggle saw the Pirates climb on Jacobsen and Lundgren for nine runs in the first two innings and coast home from there.

Following the opener both teams have one more contest before beginning league schedules. The FV nine will meet West Leyden on Saturday and

Pancake Day Set For April 24th

Full scale preparations for the annual Pancake Day of the Arlington Heights Boys Baseball League got under way as Chairmen Herman Koeneman and Maurice Loeffel released the committee roster and readied publicity and ticket distribution.

A $1.00 admission on Saturday, April 24, provides pancakes and trimmings plus a continuous entertainment program and an hourly drawing for prizes donated by friends of the baseball league.

Revenues from Pancake Day ticket sales furnish funds to cover expenditures for new equipment and repairs and maintenance of worn gear. Close to 1500 youthful ball-players are outfitted each year from the proceeds.

The following are the 1965 committee heads: Mrs. Ann Hull, 1423 Dunton, Recruitment; Anthony Sulla, 1333 S. Vail, Program Book; Reuban Cordova, 213 S. Stratford, Entertainment; Jack Coulter, 11 N. Waterman and Walter Kellin, 105 S. Stratford, Food Preparation; Paul Harbaugh, 1845 N. Chestnut, Food Serving; George Elsberg, 202 N. Dryden, Publicity; John Hogan, 1837 N. Kasper and Gerald McGuire, 127 N. Donald, Procurement and Joe Vonckx, 1029 S. Dunton, Prizes.

HOWIE WINKELHAKE, a senior, is the regular shortstop on Arlington High School's varsity baseball team. Winkelhake earned a varsity letter as a junior on the Cards' diamond outfit. He was third on the team in runs scored, third in stolen bases, and second in the number of walks issued. He hit only .190 but showed marked improvement at the plate during the summer American Legion campaign.

Prospect High Nine Plays Waiting Game

by MICHAEL HESS

A waiting game is what they'll play, but baseball is what it's called.

Prospect hosts Glenbrook South on Monday in the Mid-Suburban League opener. While coach Chuck Aldrich's club fights for victory they'll also be marking time. What do they wait for?

The Knights will be waiting for a transfer, a sophomore, a center fielder, a settled infield, and a definite batting order. The wait may last until state baseball tournament time!

The awaited transfer is pitcher Mike Salata. He came to Prospect from California and has been suffering from a sore elbow. However, he began throwing Monday and, barring another injury, could be back in two weeks.

The awaited sophomore is Tom Lundstedt. He was counted on to start at third base and his bat would add considerable firepower to the Knights' lineup. But a spring vacation takes Lundstedt away for two weeks and, as a result, he'll miss six league contests.

Center Field may be settled without much waiting at all. Bill Arnold, a senior out for the first time, is tabled to start there. If he produces, then that's one problem settled. At this time though, center "is still a big question" for Aldrich.

THE SETTLED infield will come only when Lundstedt returns. Until then the situation is a bit scrambled. Someone else will be shifted to the hot corner in Lundstedt's place and either Rick Lott or Gary Guerin will be put in at second or short.

Of the batting order only the one-two slots are even fairly definite. Those places will probably be filled by Bill Phillips and John Alexander. Alexander plays in right; Phillips could be at second, or third, or short.

The remainder of Prospect's beginning nine against Glenbrook will be: Dick Lytle, catching; J. D. Thorne, first; Wayne Kuklinski, short or

'Cats Host Conant

THERE ARE four boys on the Wheeling team who could be dangerous with the bat, if their Colt League experience is a valid criterion. Three of them are pitchers, so they'll be playing elsewhere when not on the mound.

Newman will be at third or short. Grant will roam in the outfield, probably in right. Manderscheid will stay in the infield, at second or short.

The mainstay of the slugging staff may be Jim Whittington, who has sewed up the first base job. As a Colt, he put together a .425 batting average, compiling 17 hits and 21 runs batted in with only 40 at bats.

OTHERWISE, Chernicky will have Haddock mostly in center field, a battle for second base between Mike Mayer and sophomore Dan DeVito, a struggle for catcher between Bob Krug and John Hittman, and continued open competition for left field. He expects a lot of juggling during the first few games.

Conant's Crouch is not ready to point to any one of his players as a blooming batsman. He'd like a good look at how they do outside first, especially in competition. Crouch is a man who very much accents hitting as a part of high school baseball, and doubtless plans a lot more work on that facet of the game. Right now, the most he has going for him is pitching and defense.

His infield will be made up almost entirely of boys who lettered as sophomores at Palatine last year. They include Larry Powell at first, Al Heiman at second and Jim Garcia at short. At hird, there is still some competition between Ed Dvorak and Dick Helmer.

BEHIND THE plate, Crouch will have the basketball standout, John Glasshof. Shaw and Gruneigh are expected to start in right and center, and left field is still a plum for several candidates.

For Conant, with two washouts on its schedule already, Saturday's action is to be the first. Wheeling, weather permitting, was to have hosted West Leyden yesterday (Wednesday). On Monday, Conant is to travel to Ridgewood and Wheeling will begin Mid-Suburban League competition with Maine West at home.

But Saturday is the day to watch, partly for the fans, partly for the coaches.

Wheeling to Open Links Play Today

Busters!! Par busters!! That's what golf coaches look for and that's what hasn't been found at Wheeling High School.

The Wildcats open their links season today at West Leyden. "We just don't have anyone new who can break par," said coach Jack Berry as he prepared his squad for the opening competition.

That lack of birdie material certainly won't help the Wheeling entry. As Berry put it, "I think we'll probably win three or four matches this year and I'll be happy to do that well. We just don't have enough experienced golfers."

What experience there is has come to the Wildcats from other areas. Bob Boenig, who'll probably be number one man on the team, transferred in from Des Moines, Iowa, where he saw action as a sophomore.

NUMBER THREE man on the club, Allen Eisenstein was a player last season at Deerfield. The second slot for Wheeling could be filled by Dave Quirsfeld. He was at Prospect in '64.

"From there on, who fills positions on the team is a toss-up," stated Berry. "We haven't been outside yet so it's a matter of seeing what happens once the rest get on a course."

Of "the rest" Steve Poulos has the top chance to make the fourth spot while brothers Jerry and Richard Fontecchio plus Dan Kelsey and John Hutchinson are also possibilities.

"I'M NOT TOO optimistic about our first meet," said Berry, who is in his initial year as a golf coach. "West Leyden has a couple of good players." In the Mid-Suburban League race Berry tabbed both Maine West and Deerfield as looking "pretty tough."

On the frosh-soph level, where Berry is also head man, the line-up could contain Scott Bishoff and Ken Holiday, both sophomores, and freshmen Craig Saar, Mike Stoik and Bill King. Predicted Berry: "We'll be lucky to do as well there as we do on the varsity."

Wheeling will play an 11 match season this year with all the home meets taking place on the Chevy Chase course.

Opening Delayed At Union Grove

The Great Lakes Dragaway at Union Grove, Wis., has delayed its opening to Saturday and Sunday, April 10-11, because of the weather conditions.

The ninth season at Union Grove will get under way with a two-day event with more than 100 trophies awarded each day.

Arlington's Tennis Squad Drops Opener

The defending state tennis champions from Arlington High School journeyed to Decatur Saturday for the season opener and suffered a 7-2 setback to the powerful Generals of Decatur MacArthur.

A victory in third singles by Bob VonBoeckmann and in second doubles by Jeff Peek and Bill VonBoeckmann gave Tom Pitchford's Cardinals their only points in a weather-hampered meet.

"About the first hour of the meet was played in rain," Pitchford said. "We had hoped for good weather but it got worse the farther south we went. The conditions actually were better for tennis in Arlington that day."

PITCHFORD ADMITS there still is a lot of work to be done and hopes that the squad will be able to get some sessions in outdoors. "We were poor on our ground strokes at Decatur because of a lack of outdoor practice," the head coach said.

Arlington will host perennial power Evanston today (Thursday) at 4 p.m. and will journey to New Trier Saturday for a quadrangular with the host Indians, Oak Park, and Blue Island.

Niles North, Niles West, and Ottawa will come to Arlington Monday for a quadrangular.

BOB VonBOECKMANN'S 6-4, 6-4 conquent of Rusty Martin in the No. 3 slot was the only sin- admits there are some questiongles victory for Arlington Saturday at Decatur.

In other action Decatur's Mike Meis whipped Jeff Peek in No. 1 singles, 6-4, 6-4; Mike Elbl beat Greg Inman in No. 2, 6-2, 6-0; Jay Peterson beat Harley Gates in No. 4, 6-4, 6-4; Rick Elbl beat Jim Kunberger in No. 5, 6-1, 6-2; and Herb Rapp beat frosh Bill VonBoeckmann in No. 6, 6-1, 6-4.

Peek and Bill VonBoeckmann knocked off Rick Elbl and Rapp in second doubles 7-5, 4-6, 6-1 for Arlington's other meet point.

The Cardinals' Inman and Bob VonBoeckmann, district champs as juniors and runner-up in the state competition, dropped a tough 7-5, 8-6 decision to Decatur's Meis and Mike Elbl in first doubles. Meis and Elbl also annexed a district doubles title last spring and advanced to the semi-finals of the state before falling to Arlington's state championship duo of Peek and Mirrel Kephart.

In the third doubles match at Decatur Petersen and Martin from the host school tripped Kunberger and Gates of Arlington, 6-2, 6-3.

Finals Saturday

The Northwest Suburban YMCA girls swimming team will vie for state honors Saturday in the state competition a Glenbrook North High School in Northbrook.

Action will get under way at 2 p.m. in the eighth annual event.

"We will have the top girl swimmers in the state at Glenbrook," meet director Joseph Lesniak said. "Those competing in the championships represent the best from over 2,000 original entrants."

The Northwest 'Y', official host for Saturday's finals, qualified a record-breaking number of girls in the state finals. The locals completed an undefeated season that incluled 13 dual and quadrangular victories.

Arilee Pollard of Mount Prospect serves as assistant chairman of the state swimming meet. Other major officials are James Stocker of LaGrange, referee; Jim Rasmussen of Lake Forest, starter; Dr. John Beyers of Champaign, head stroke judge; Art Holland of Chicago and Chuck Sandine of Mount Prospect, stroke judges; C. Eugene Keltner of Decatur, head judge; and Robert Saar of Indian Boundary, head timer.

Falcons Gain Split In Opening Tennis

Two meets; one victory; not bad! Not bad for a team which only won three meets during all of last season.

In the year's initial action Forest View pulled out a 3-2 tennis triumph over Elgin-Larkin on Monday but dropped a 4-1 decision on Tuesday to York. The split however, wasn't bad considering the Falcons took just three meets during the whole 1964 campaign.

The Elgin-Larkin encounter began with FV's Jim Buckholz taking the first singles match 4-6, 6-1, 11-9. Tom Kukla followed by capturing the second singles in straight sets, 6-4, 6-4.

The losses for Forest View came in the third singles and first doubles struggles. Bob Prucha went down 2-6, 3-6, in singles while Roger Schult and Ron Wayda were defeated 3-6, 3-6. The meet was won in the second doubles by Bruce and Brian Lampert who scored a 6-3, 6-2 triumph.

AGAINST York the only Falcons' winner was Jim Buckholz who won handily, 6-0, 6-1. That victory was soon followed, however, by Kukla's 4-6, 6-1, 6-2, loss; Prucha's 7-9, 3-6, loss; a Schult-Wayda 4-6, 1-6 loss; and a Lampert-Lampert 4-6, 0-6, loss.

"The boys played well in both meets," said Forest View coach Rog Steingrabec. "The singles efforts by Buckholz were the best of his high school career and Kukla's play has improved greatly over last year."

On the frosh-soph level the FV team also won one of two meets. The younger Falcons beat Elgin-Larkin 5-0 and then slipped before York 3-2.

TAKING HOME wins in both f-s meets were Bucky Jones in third singles and the second doubles team of Dick Appleton and Ernie Troutman. Coming out on top only against E-L were Rick Gillespie, first singles; Howard Brasch, second singles; and first doubles combination Tom Bohac and Dave Erickson.

Next tennis action for Forest View is today at home with Deerfield, next Tuesday at home with West Leyden, and next Wednesday at Maine South.

At Rose Poly

Russ Zimmerman of Hoffman Estates and Steve Mueller of Mount Prospect are members of the Rose Polytechnic Institute baseball team of Terre Haute, Ind.

Zimmerman, 152 Evanston, Hoffman Estates, is on the pitching staff. Mueller, 216 N. Pole Ave., Mount Prospect, is the starting left fielder.

Diamond Rivals

University of Illinois will resume one of its oldest athletic rivalries when the Illinois College baseball team appears at Illinois Field Wednesday, April 14. The two schools first met in the fall of 1879, and have played 18 times. Most recent contest in the series was here in 1937. All-time record shows Illinois with a 16-2 advantage, the Blueboys last victory coming in 1887.

Prospect Nine

HURLING FOR the Knights on Monday will be Greg Kowal, the probable starter, and, if needed, he'll get help from Bill Weir. Both are seniors and, along with fellow senior Craig Thomas, figure prominently in Coach Aldrich's "waiting" plans.

How will all the waiting affect Prospect? "By tourney time we should be a lot tougher," answered Aldrich. And what does the manager look for from Glenbrook? "We split with them last year," he said. "Since they'll have all their boys back, they could be much better now."

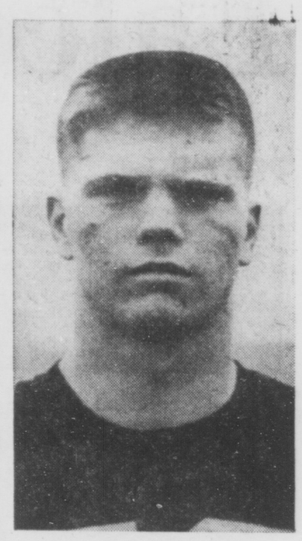

The GS Titans ended with a 5-5 M-SL record last year and were 6-10 overall. Returning from that squad are some standouts who Coach Ed Baker feels may help him improve.

"NUMBER ONE pitcher for us will be Greg Croft," said Baker. "He's only a junior, but he was 3-6 as a soph and has good speed plus a sharp curve." If Croft doesn't start against Prospect then either Chuck Olson or Chip Ruth, the football quarterback, will begin on the mound.

At the plate Baker mentioned three who take their cuts better than the rest. They were Denny Duszczak, Bret Michaels, and Ken Winkle.

Duszczak is a senior shortstop who hit .325 last year and was on the all-conference team. Michaels clubbed the ball at a .290 clip in '64. He plays second and has shown well in the Titans' practice.

WINKLE IS A center fielder, the only boy in Glenbrook's outfield with any experience. While he doesn't hit for average, Baker counts on him to produce in the key RBI situations.

GREG KOWAL

Next Wednesday Prospect travels to Niles North for the second league encounter. Niles, under coach George Bauer, is in its first year of varsity competition. Though the Vikings have picked up some underclassmen who gained experience at Niles East last year, they remain a definite question mark in any conference predictions.

And, finally, how does Prospect's Aldrich estimate his chances once competition gets underway? Replied the coach: "We could end up with some pitching depth though we don't have one outstanding boy. We have to pick up some hitting but we've got plenty of speed. We'll run foot races with anyone. We should improve but we just have to wait and see."

The waiting game at Prospect may be a long one and there could be many losses while it's going on, but, by tourney time, that waiting may just pay a big return.

St. Viator Nine

ROEBER FEELS his best all-around performer is junior catcher Carl Cassatta, a 6-3, 175-pounder who has lettered two years with the varsity. Cassatta hit .285 as a freshman and .306 last year. He possesses a strong throwing arm.

Around the infield Ridgewood works with Dan Carroll, a senior who can swing a good stick, at first base; Ed Berg, a letterwinner, at second; Bobby Willis, a transfer from Holy Cross, at shortstop; and Jim Grosklas at third.

Rich Young and Kenny Wiklanski, two monogram winners last year, are the top outfielders.

"WE WERE 9-15 last year but look much improved," Roeber summed up. "We should have good fielding and hitting and can only hope the pitching comes around."

St. Viator's Sparacino is set on his infield for the opener but marks in the outfield. He'll open with Mike Graczyk at first base, Charley Heinrich at second, Ron Bakalar at shortstop, and Ron Rose at third.

Heinrich is the top hitter among the returning regulars. Chuck slapped out 18 hits in 59 at bats as a junior for a .305 standard. He also scored 21 runs which paced the team.

The catching duties will probably be divided between senior Tim Walinski and promising soph Dan Collins.

THE OUTFIELD is a question-mark although Loughman and Donohue are ticketed for duty there when not on the mound. Bill Aylward, a junior transfer, is another possibility.

"We'll try to use as many boys as possible in these non-conference games," Sparacino said. "After all, this is my first year here and I'm not that familiar with what they can do."

St. Viator is scheduled to host Roncalli of Aurora tomorrow (Friday) at 3:45 p.m. with a doubleheader Saturday at Immaculate Conception. The Lions launch Chicagoland Prep League play next Monday at home against a formidable Holy Cross nine. They'll entertain St. Ignatius Wednesday.

That is, they'll play all these games if the weatherman decides he's fooled around enough this spring.

JUST DOGS

By Dave Terrill

International Show . . .

The greatest International Kennel Club show ever held in Chicago came to a close Sunday evening, when a doberman pinscher named Ch. Ru-Mars Tsushima was named Best In Show. The dog is owned by Margaret Carveth of Portal Valley, Calif., and marks only the second time in the club's history that a dobe has been named top dog at the International.

Without a doubt, this year's show will go down in the record books as the largest in entries and the one which had the greatest number of people on hand to watch the two-day event. In fact, it was so large from the standpoint of attendance that by noon on Sunday, all catalogs had been sold out and the crowd in the International Amphitheatre just seemed to fill the place.

Among the 2,986 dogs competing, there were many individual wins by owners in this area, however, for those winning best of breed in their own group should go congratulations. Included was the rough coated collie, Ch. The Clown Prince of Floravale, owned by G. Schroeder, Addison; miniature schnauzer, Earldorf Hootennanny, owned by Earl Sobinsky of Bensenville; white bull terrier, Lord Cabbolt of Dreadnought, owned by Betty Strickland, Wheeling, and from Palatine, the Rhodesian Ridgeback Ch. Rockridge's Rusty Rover entered by Martin Walsh.

There is one young lady in Arlington Heights who was rather happy. Faith Pukszta entered the junior dog judging contest and when the event was over she placed third out of a total of 115 contestants. This contest has indeed grown in interest at the International and this year had youngsters entered from four different states.

If you missed the show, too bad—it was really one to remember with 111 different breeds of dogs entered. For those who did attend, no doubt they came home with their minds made up on what the next breed of dog would be if they intend to buy one.

German Shepherd News . . .

The German Shepherd Dog Training Club of Chicago wishes to extend an invitation to members of other German Shepherd training clubs to attend an education program this Thursday evening at 8 p. m., to be held at the GSDTC club house on Route 53 south of Lombard. The program for the evening will be the presentation of two films covering the anatomy and nutrition of the dog made available by Gaines Research. Guest speaker will be Dr. Wade P. Sanders who will wind up the program with a question and answer period on points covered in his talk as well as on the films that are to be shown. For more information about the program, call James Reitz at 969-2865.

Barks & Bays . . .

It looks like winter is over—thank goodness. At least the rain is better than snow. Which brings to mind riding with "Slugger." Even though spring days and balmy breezes may soon be with us, don't let the family hound hang his head out the car window when you take him along for a ride. Not only can bits of grit be driven into the eyes, but nasal and eye inflammation can be caused by the wind.

These gals have only 13½ points in second half action and are settled in sixth place. Front row, left to right, Nancy Dietz of Mundelein and Maureen Nydam of Roselle. Hitting Question-Mark

Elgin Has Pitching, Defense on '65 Club

Elgin High School waited a long time before it claimed its first baseball championship last year, but it may not have to wait long for the second. The champions of the Upstate Eight Conference could very well repeat, and tuck away back-to-back championship trophies.

The ingredients would seem to be present for coach Paul Blacketer's Maroon nine to equal or improve on last year's 13-6 mark. There is only one imponderable: hitting.

Elgin, at least on paper, abounds in those prerequisites for successful high schoool baseball: pitching and defense.

LEADING THE mound staff is Jim Wendt, just about the best pitcher in the Upstate Eight last year. He and Jack Nichols should make one of the most effective pitching tandems in their region this season. And they could be backed up by two boys who normally play other positions, outfielder Larry Zimmerman and first baseman George Nevins. To those four, add Fred Kowalczyk and Bob Messman for depth.

Nevins looms as the lad to watch at the plate. He is the defending bat champion in the conference, which is reason for Coach Blacketer to issue some optimism. The problem is that after Nevins there is not much proven hitting potency. Blacketer will freely admit that he has to get some more hitting if it's going to be a good year. Either that, or there will be more emphasis than normal on pitching and defense.

What Blacketer does have—after his pitchers and Nevins' bat—is a strong and experienced infield. Of the eight letterman back from last season's squad, half are in the infield. Besides Nevins at first, there is Ken Kluxdal at shortstop, Doug Norman at third and Chris Smith at second. Smith, however, is also an outfielder, and could be supplanted at second by Jeff Haller.

BEHIND THE plate Dennis Pierce will again reside. Blacketer is high on him, calling Pierce the best defensive catcher he's ever coached.

The only place where there is still some sizeable doubt is in the outfield. The only permanent fixture would seem to be center fielder Craig Powers, an adept ballhawk. There will be a lot of battling for right and left, with Jim Cremeens, Wayne Corn, Bill Ryan and Clarence McGhee the combatants.

Looking ahead, Blacketer foresees the strongest league competition from Glenbard East and East Aurora. He regards Larkin as an unknown quantity, a team that could be very good if things go right for it.

The Maroons were supposed to have received their first taste of action against Geneva on Monday, but the weather scuttled that. The league season was to begin yesterday (Wednesday) at Naperville, with another contest set for this Friday at home against Larkin. Games with Glenbard East and East Aurora come two days apart later this month, and then Blacketer should have a solid idea if he should dust off another spot in the trophy case.

In Track Opener

Niles East Tops Cards

They laid a new track at Arlington High School last summer and the outdoor track and field season opened on time last Friday afternoon.

There was a time — not so many months ago — when even the slightest drizzle would create flood conditions on the Arlington track, particularly at the south end, but times have changed.

While the other spring sports squads waited patiently to get their outdoor seasons under way Arlington kicked off its track season with a 60-58 loss to Niles East of the Suburban League.

SWEEPS OF THE top three slots in the high hurdles and high jump paid off handsomely for the Trojans, who won seven events in the outdoor test.

Arlington showed its biggest advantage in the 440 yard run where Steve Ewart and Terry Clark finished 1-2 for eight team points. Ewart, a junior, was clocked in :52.7 and Clark covered the distance in 54 seconds.

Arlington picked up six other firsts in its first outdoor meet of the 1965 season.

EWART ADDED ten more points to emerge as a triple winner with victories in the 100 yard dash (:10.7) and 220 yard dash (time unavailable).

John Brunner, who is more noted for his mile efforts, clipped off a 2:02.2 in the 880 yard run to win easily. Jim Welton flashed to a :21.5 in the 180 yard low hurdles, and Scott Somers got off an 18-6 leap in the broad jump.

Arlington added five more points with a 1:41 clocking in the 880-yard relay.

Arlington will host Maine East today (Thursday) at 4:15 p.m. and journey to Maine West tomorrow (Friday). The Cards will be at Hinsdale next Tuesday, April 13.

Card Sophs Stop Niles In Opener

Arlington frosh - soph Cardinals swept to eight firsts en route to a 61-57 victory over Niles East last Friday afternoon in the first outdoor track and field meet of the 1965 season.

Jim Kussow won three events for Arlington with a :10.7 clocking in the 100 yard dash, :24.0 in the 220 yard dash, and :54.3 in the 440.

Cary Annen and Kim Markshausen won two events each. Annen topped the high hurdles (:18.2) and the lows (:23.2), and Markshausen ruled the shot put (44.8½) and the discus throw (122-5¼).

Gregg Busch gave Arlington its other first with a 2:08 effort in the half-mile run.

Palatine's Varsity Tops Triangular

You know the outdoor track and field season has arrived. Palatine, Arlington, and LaGrange got together for their annual triangular Tuesday afternoon.

Coach Joe Johnson's Pirates of Palatine won the varsity title and LaGrange ruled the frosh-sophs in the headliner on the new Arlington track.

Palatine rolled up 64 points for an easy victory in the varsity action. LaGrange was second with 44½ and Arlington third with 39.

LaGrange compiled 63 points in heading the frosh-soph ranks. Arlington had 50 for second place and Palatine 35 for third.

PALATINE rolled up seven firsts in the varsity competition, including impressive triumphs in both the half-mile and mile relays.

The Pirates passed out the individual titles among five different boys. Bill Bahnfleth, the highly regarded soph, topped the 100-yard dash field in :10.6, and junior John Blanchard had a :52.4 in ruling the 440.

Gordon Dreyfus set a school record with a fine 4:26.7 in the mile run, and Duane Hosimer won the shot put at 50-10 3/4. Harv Fanning gave Palatine its final individual first when he tied for the top slot in the pole vault with a 12-6 effort.

THE PIRATES won the 880-yard relay in 1:34.0 and mile event in 3:32.5, both fine early season clockings.

Arlington showed five winners and four came in the field events. Bob Hoban won the discus (143-2), Scott Somers won the broad jump (19-4) and tied for first in the pole vault with Fanning, and basketball center Charley Lloyd won the high jump at 5-10.

Joohn Brunner didn't run his specialty, the mile run, but did head the field in the 880 with a 2:01.1.

DOUG KEYES of LaGrange was the only double winner on a varsity leve. He won the high hurdles in :15.6 and the lows in :20.6.

Depth paid off for LaGrange in the sophomore meet as the Cubs rolled up 63 points with only four firsts.

Art Danneberg was a double winner for Palatine with a :17.5 in the high hurdles and :22.6 in the lows.

Jim Kussow sparked Arlington with firsts in the 100 yard dash (:10.8), 220 yard dash (:24.2) and 440 (:54.7). Also registering wins were Kim Markshausen in the shot put (43-5¼), Greg Zachwieja in the discus (124-½), and Tom Dunn in the pole vault (11-6).

Cards Hope to Open Season Today With Non-League Contest

by BOB FRISK

Bob Baker has had some solid clubs at Arlington High School since taking the head baseball job six years ago, and he's the first to admit that this 1965 edition also has some exciting potential — if the pitching comes around.

"Taking everything into consideration, I've probably got the best material I've ever had at Arlington," Baker says.

"That 1960 club with Bork (George), Dahlquist (Gene), Fritz Peterson, and John Lind among others was a good one (11-3 in the West Suburban for second), but this team seems to have more depth. Pitching is still the big question-mark though."

BAKER, WHO will send his Cardinals against Niles East today (Thursday) at Recreation Park if the weatherman gives the green light, does feel that his inexperienced pitching staff "is looking better" and that's good news for Arlington fans.

But Baker also knows that you have to see the youngsters under actual game conditions before making any adequate evaluatinns.

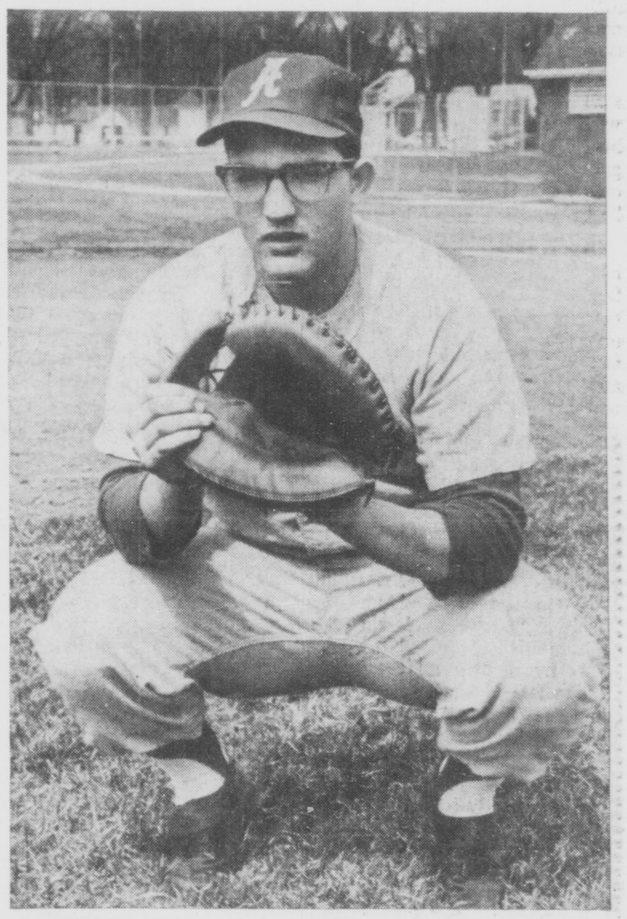

"It's not that our pitchers can't get the job done," Baker adds. "I just don't know what their capabilities are right now. We'll just have to wait and see."

BAKER WILL probably go with left-handers John Friedl and Dick Miller in the opener against Niles East. He also has juniors Jim Jorgensen and Jim Bressler and sophomore Steve Allen available for duty.

"Allen seems to have the best control of the pitchers," Baker said.

The Arlington infield is filled with vets, and Baker could get his best work at the plate from the quintet of first sacker Jerry Fink, second baseman Mike Frase, shortstop Howie Winkelhake, third baseman Rich Hoppe, and catcher Mark Frase.

WINKELHAKE had some trouble with the stick as a junior, hitting only .190, but the four others combined for 64 hits and drove in 33 of the team's 66 runs. Hoppe was the RBI leader with 11 and Mark Frase gained the bat crown with a .315 standard.

MARK FRASE, Arlington High School's leading varsity hitter as a sophomore, will handle the catching position again this spring for Bob Baker's Cardinals. Frase, a junior, hit .315 in varsity action as a soph with 17 hits in 54 trips to the plate. He slapped out five doubles to tie for the team lead and his 17 safeties were tops for the varsity Cards. Mark also owns varsity letters in football and wrestling.

Baker doesn't know what to expect from his outfield although he admittedly isn't that worried. Sophomore standout Dave Lockwood appears to have the inside track at the center field position with junior Thad Woodard in right. Tom LeStarge, letterman Tom Gack, and Jorgensen are battling for the left field slot.

Gary Bozee, a junior, is another outfield candidate.

BAKER HAS Woodard, junior Pete Barker, and sophomore Mick Wadzita as utility infielders. Woodard will back up Winkelhake at short while Barker can fill in at second, short, or third. Wadzita is a soph in school but has only one more year of baseball eligibility.

LeStarge can spell Mark Frase behind the plate, giving Baker vital depth at this key slot.

Waiting for a break in the weather, Arlington utilized the indoor practice facilities at Wheeling High School and did get in some hitting. "They've got a nice setup there," Baker praised, "and it's helped move along our workouts even with this bad weather."

Niles East of the Suburban League, Arlington's opponent today in the opener, is faced with "the year after." Head man Nick Odlivak guided his Trojans to the Suburban League crown last spring, but graduation and the opening of the new Niles North school hit hard.

"WE LOST 14 of our top 16 boys," Odlivak says, "and the good young prospects, particularly on the pitching staff, went to Niles North."

Odlivak plans to use as many boys as possible in today's contest. "I don't have much experience and have to get a look at everyone. Like all the other schools the weather has hurt our practice schedule."

Ron Shafer, a pitcher-shortstop, will probably get the first call against Arlington but probably won't be around long. "I want to use three or four pitchers and maybe a fifth just to see what I have," Odlivak said.

Niles East opens its Suburban League campaign next Wednesday, and Arlington kicks off its West Suburban slate the same day with a home game against Glenbard West.

Wheeling Defeated In Tennis

Wheeling lost its first tennis meet of the season last Saturday, suffering a 5-0 shutout at the hands of Glenbard East.

Wildcats' entry Steve Groot dropped his first singles match 2-6, 1-6, and the second and third singles players, Berry Christensen and Steve Bacon, went down 1-10 and 2-10. In first doubles action the Wheeling team of Ed Graves and Jim Towery ended behind 3-10 while Karl Meisenheimer and Bruce Irwin stumbled 3-8 in second doubles.

For coach Jerry Greer's frosh-soph Wildcats the margin was closer though defeat was still the result. The lower-level unit lost 3-2.

For the losers all hope for victory disappeared in the three singles matches. Dave Liu was defeated 5-10; Fred Patton went down 1-10; and Scott Decker missed in an 8-10 squeaker. The Wheeling doubles teams of Walter Kreir and Jim Cuca and Thomas Kreir and Dan DenBeste came out on top 10-3 and 9-7.

The Wildcats, under varsity coach Ted Ecker, have their next meets all against squads from Niles. A home encounter with Niles North today will be followed by a trip to Niles West on Saturday and another home engagement on Monday with Niles East.

Baseball-Golf Cut By Weather

Three area athletic contests were cancelled this week due to rain and wet grounds.

Forest View's baseball game with York on Tuesday was postponed and will be rescheduled; Wheeling's baseball game with West Leyden, which had been set for Wednesday, was cancelled and will not be made up; and the Falcons golf meet at West Leyden, supposed to be played on Tuesday, was postponed and will also be rescheduled.

Northwest 'Y' Has Openings In Golf Loop

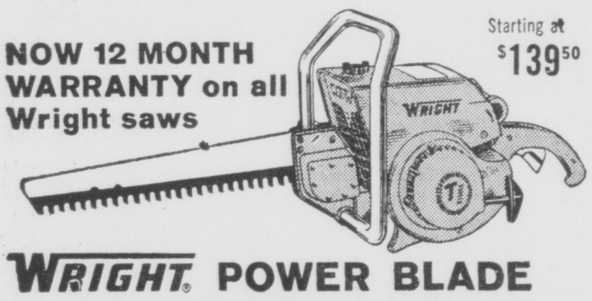

The Northwest Suburban YMCA announced today that a few openings still exist in their Wednesday evening twilight golf league.

The league will begin its 12th session on Wednesday, April 29, at the Mount Prospect Country Club, 600 See Gwun. Tee off time is between 5 and 5:45 p.m.

Ten 5-man teams will play 18 rounds of golf and culminate their program with a Golf-Dinner-Dance outing in September. Complete fees for the entire program is $55. Registration may be made at the "Y," 300 Plaines.

Morton Falls, Steve's Gains

The girls from Morton Pontiac, having lost their league lead to Steve's Restaurant three weeks ago, lost a chance to regain the lead last Saturday.

Instead, the talented Steve's aggregation rolled to its sixth straight win and second straight shutout in the Paddock Women's Classic Traveling League.

By disposing of Morton Pontiac 4-0 at Jeffery Lanes, Steve's opened up a lead of six and a half points. With but three weeks to run in the second half of the women's competition, that lead could be commanding. And, since Steve's won the first half, there would be no rolloff.

Steve's gals did not bowl spectacularly in whitewashing the Morton ladies. Charlene Hedberg led the winners with 212-148-190—550. Next best was Ann Neumann's 537. The very best the Morton team could muster was Penny Smith's 180-179-146—505. Joan Lindahl had an even 500, and the rest of the team was well under that mark.

THIRD PLACE River Rand Bowl closed the gap separating it from the Morton team by decisioning Owens Plastics 3-1. Marge Lindenberg led the winners by topping all the ladies in the league for the night with a series of 180-215-200—595. One of the best bowlers in the PWCTL, Ethel Juenger, was absent, but her 522 average added significantly to River Rand's winning total. Owens was led by Peggy Harris, who rolled 189-163-171—523. Donna Reinhardt checked in with 500.

Everybody bowling for Bill Cook Buick was in the low 500's as the team disposed of last place Country Lanes 3-1.

The best was Carol Swanson's 164-221-154—539, with the 221 the high individual game of the evening. Marlene Smith was next with 530. For Country Lanes, Vi Douglas had an admirable 172-191-220—583, and Maureen Nydam a 512 series.

Unless River Rand Bowl or Morton Pontiac gains significantly on Steve's Restaurant this week, it would seem that Steve's has it all wrapped up. Steve's, in its six consecutive wins, has accumulated an amazing 21 of a possible 24 points, and seems to just roll along.

First Net Loss For Prospect

Defeat plagued Prospect's netmen all the way and they underwent a 5-0 whitewashing from Maine South on Tuesday. It was the season's initial effort for coach Chuck Sandine's tennis squad.

Tom Johnson began the defeat for the Knights as he went down 1-6, 1-6, in first singles action. In second singles Tom Bryant also lost but it took three sets. Bryant dropped the opener 3-6, rallied 6-3, but went under 4-6 in the finale.

Third singles was dropped by Prospect's Doug Heitzman 1-6, 3-6.

In doubles competition the team of Craig Wolf and Tom Graves fell 1-6, 4-6, while Paul Colianni and Bryan Kiehl stumbled 7-9, 2-6.

The Knights' frosh-sophs also were defeated but at least they weren't shut out. Glen Morton picked up a second singles win for the losers and the final tally was 4-1.

Prospect's next tennis meets will be home matches today and next Monday. This afternoon the Knights host Maine West and on Monday the opponent will be Conant.

Increases Loop Lead

Pioneer Gains Key 5-2 Classic Victory

The first division met the second division in the Paddock Classic Traveling League last Saturday, and only Pioneer Lanes of the leaders emerged with a victory. But for the Pioneers, it was a win of the highest order, enabling them at last to break free of the cluster at the top.

By subduing Casares Pro Bowl 5-2, Pioneer Lanes continued the winning form it resumed last week and increased its lead to a full five points over second place Bill Cook Buick. The Bill Cook team, after a strong charge the past two weeks, fell to The Brass Rail 5-2. Concourse Sports Chalet was victimized 4-3 by Morton Pontiac, and fourth place Country Lanes lost by the same score to Jeffery Lanes.

The change in the standings, with the end drawing near in this season's PCTL competition, is dramatic. Where once a margin of three points separated the first four teams, the bulge is now 10. And Pioneer Lanes' five point lead is the biggest of the second half play.

GEORGE SCHMIDT

CASARES PRO Bowl, hosting the match with Pioneer Lanes, started fast and won the first game. But the Casares gang cooled off quickly, and Pioneer put together some solid bowling for the victory. Tops for the leaders was the reliable George Schmidt with 191-235-220—646. Bob Krisch and Larry Thon came in with 586 and 580, respectively. Don Oberg was way ahead of his Casares teammates with 229-191-230—650.

Bill Cook Buick, after moving to within two points of Pioneer Lanes, lost its momentum by meeting The Brass Rail at River Rand Bowl. It was mostly a case of the Brass Railers being particularly warm. Their team series score of 3031, best of the night in the PCTL, included three individual 600 series. Cas Dewitz had 236-222-197—655. LeRoy Papineau added a 628 and Ron Fogarett a 608. For Bill Cook Buick, Al Jordan led with 199-234-178—611.

The Sports Chalet squad, meeting Morton Pontiac at Beverly Lanes, missed its chance to move into second when the Morton men bowled just enough to eke out the win. The best score on the Morton team was Glen Westman's 202-212-188—602. Mike Wagner had 245-182-206—633 and Tony Sasso 236-221-168—625 for the losers, but their teammates were much behind that, opening the way for the Morton win.

AT JEFFERY Lanes, the home team dealt Country Lanes its fourth straight loss. Hec Healey led Jeffery with a consistent 236-210-210—656, best of the night in the league. Bill Harris had a 597 series. For Country Lanes, Wayne Hahn took the best individual game of the night, 248, and put it with 181 and 219 for 648. Herm Simonis had an even 600.

Only two Saturdays of PCTL action now remain before the rolloff. This Saturday, Pioneer will take on Jeffery Lanes; Bill Cook and Sports Chalet will fight for second; Country Lanes will meet Casares; and Morton Pontiac and The Brass Rail will liven up the second division.

Lions' Track Teams Claim One Victory

An overwhelming victory on the freshman level gave St. Viator High School its only victory Saturday in outdoor track and field competition at Rockne Stadium in Chicago.

St. Viator rocked St. Ignatius in the frosh competition, 70-25, but dropped sophomore and varsity decisions to the Wolves.

"Actually, the track wasn't too bad considering the weather we've been having," St. Viator coach Tom Hansen reported. "They didn't hold the pole vault, broad jump, or high jump."

ST. VIATOR landed three firsts in a 66-29 varsity setback with senior Steve McNamara flashing two wins in the 100 yard dash (:10.6) and 180 yard low hurdles (:22.2).

Gary Forston, who looms as the Lions' best bet for a state meet berth, got off a fine 143-0 toss in the discus.

The Arlington Heights school posted three seconds with Bill Roser in the low hurdles (:23.0), Paul Larson in the 880 yard run (2:09), and Dennis O'Donnell in the shot put (42-10). O'Donnell was only two inches behind the winner.

BOB COOPER, Dennis Forston, and Jim Ryan were double winners for the Lion sophs although St. Ignatius still pulled out a tight 48-47 victory.

Cooper won the 100 yard dash in 11 seconds flat and also headed the 220 in :25.8. Forston won the shot put (43-5) and discus (108-0) and Ryan won the 70 yard high hurdles (:11.1) and lows (:25.2).

Bob Nemec gave St. Viator its other first with a 5:03.2 clocking in the mile run.

The Lions had nine winners in the frosh meet, seven in the individual events. Local winners were Tom O'Malley (70 yard high hurdles), Frederich (100 yard dash), Booth (880 yard run), Cunningham (mile run), Bellino (200 yard run), Ron Rose (shot put), and Leo Zikomski (discus).

St. Viator also won both the half-mile and mile relays.

Death Penalty Ban Vote to Be Close

by SEN. PAUL SIMON

SPRINGFIELD — Most people have no opinion on some issues of tremendous importance which face the legislature, but one issue on which a final vote will soon be taken in the Senate almost everyone has a strong opinion on: whether the death penalty should be abolished.

Two proposals are before the legislature, one to abolish the death penalty for a trial period of six years, the other to remove it permanently except for crimes of treason and the killing of a policeman or prison guard. At this point, the latter bill is the one which looks more likely to pass.

THE VOTE probably will be extremely close. The measure already has passed the House and two years ago came within four votes of Senate passage.

One of the interesting features is that there is a tendency for some legislators who have served a term or two and have had a chance to study the issue in depth to switch from being for capital punishment to being against it. This is true of one of the main sponsors this time, Rep. Robert Canfield, Republican of Rockford. He is a former state's attorney of Winnebago County and when he first entered the legislature he voted to retain capital punishment, and now is the chief sponsor of one of the bills to get rid of it.

Why does someone like Rep. Canfield change his mind? There are several reasons:

1) THE MAIN reason of capital punishment is to protect society from killers. Evidence indicates that rarely if ever is capital punishment a deterrent to murder. States like Michigan that do not have capital punishment have a lower rate of murder than does Illinois, and have a better record for putting killers in jail quickly. As long as the electric chair hangs over a man there will be endless trials with both juries and judges reluctant to find a man guilty if there is any doubt on the matter.

2) Capital punishment is reserved for poor people. If you have enough money to hire a battery of top-flight attorneys you will almost certainly not get capital punishment.

3) Occasionally it is found after execution that a man is innocent. The warden of one of the state's prisons believes that one of the men executed in Illinois within the last three years was innocent of the crime for which he was executed.

4) TESTIMONY of experts in the field is overwhelmingly for abolishing capital punishment. They believe society is better protected by sure, swift jail sentences than by the occasional execution.

If the vote is favorable to getting rid of the death penalty, the reasons given above will be responsible. Much credit will also have to go to Senator Robert McCarthy, Democrat of Lincoln, who has been a pioneer on this issue.

The trend among states and nations is to get rid of capital punishment. This year our neighboring state of Iowa joined the states abolishing the death penalty.

Whether Illinois will join this trend is yet to be determined. There will be some strong speeches by sincere men on both sides of this issue before the final vote is taken in the Senate.

Report from Washington

New Jr. College Affected By Federal Manpower Act

by BRUCE LADD
Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Northwest suburban residents took an important step forward last month in approving establishment of a Junior College District for the area.

This decision of the voters is important because it will permit genuine and local emphasis on an ever growing need for providing young people with vocational training.

It will take some time, but vocational training as a part of the Junior College District's curriculum will prove to be one of its greatest contributions to the community. The days of suburban residents producing all Princeton and Harvard type youngsters are gone. Economic diversification among suburbanites is a reality.

Despite a sharp drop last month in the nation's unemployment rate, manpower development through training and retraining in the vocational skills is a prime national goal.

LADD

And, despite more than 2½ years of successful operation of the federal Manpower Development Training Act, the manpower challenges which gave rise to the initial legislation in 1962 still face the nation.

THESE MANPOWER challenges include shortages of workers in key areas, 20 million Americans without the minimum training needed for most jobs, burgeoning technological innovation, radically changing skill requirements, and unprecedented numbers of youths seeking jobs for the first time.

In order to cope with these challenges, the House of Representatives has passed a new act ... the Manpower Act of 1965 . .. to carry on the program of assisting persons interested in meaningful employment.

THE CONCEPT of manpower development through retraining is a basic tenet of both political parties. The Manpower Development Training Act of 1962 was conceived by Republicans on the House Education and Labor Committee and was quickly accepted by the Democratic majority.

A bill extending the act until 1968 and to liberalize its training programs and allowances was passed April 1 by a 392-0 vote in the House. This seldom-seen unanimity illustrates the overwhelming bi-partisan support for MDTA.

The Senate has passed an almost identical measure that would extend the act until 1970. The Administration had asked Congress to make it permanent.

THE MDTA programming has been credited with training 320,000 unemployed workers in three years and finding jobs for most of them.

Besides extending the program, the new bill would continue full federal financing until June 30, 1966, the original expiration date. Present law would require the states to put up one-third of the funds starting July 1 of this year.

Under the bill, the states would have to pay 10 per cent of the training costs starting July 1, 1966, but the federal government continues to pay the full cost of training allowances, which range between $20 and $35 a week.

The 1966 act would direct the Secretary of Labor to proceed to work toward supplying job skills to those who, for one reason or another, failed to acquire them earlier.

DURING 1964, the second full year of MDTA operation, the previous year's program was more than doubled. Training opportunities were brought not only to displaced experienced workers, but also to increasing numbers of youths and disadvantaged persons at the bottom of the economic ladder whose absorption into the labor force presents the greatest obstacles to full employment.

The 1965 act would also expand the Secretary of Labor's authority by permitting him to use grants as well as contracts for manpower projects, extend the authorization for labor mobility demonstration projects, liberalize training allowances, permit daily commuting costs of trainees, and replace limitations on annual appropriations with an "open end" authorization for the entire act.

IT MEANS A successful program for rehabilitating people off of relief rolls is being continued. It means a resultant potential for reducing public expenditures. It means continuation of the federal government's role.

It would be to the advantage of northwest suburbanites to see to it that the new Junior College District curriculum consists, in part, of an effective vocational training program.

A dramatic session on proposed state legislation dealing with delinquents or children "otherwise in need of supervision," was one of the highlights of the third annual Governor's Conference on Youth last week in Chicago.

Critics of the bill claimed that it would subject children to a "trial," and said an informal type hearing in which the judge sits in the role of a "father" should be preserved.

There was also much concern expressed that the bill would be inviting secrecy in juvenile court hearings, and difficulty in prosecuting repeat offenders.

Still other complaints were that the proposed bill would handcuff law enforcement agencies, downgrade the role of probation officers, and give too much authority to judges.

FIELDING THE criticism — and asking where the opponents of the bill had been while it was being formulated the past two months — were two of the authors of the bill, Rep. Bernard Peskin of Northbrook and Senator Robert Cherry of Chicago. Also on the panel was Judge Conway Spanton of Cambridge, who helped write the bill.

Contrary to the fears expressed, the bill would help insure a fair hearing and constructive disposition of juvenile cases. Spanton said. He noted it would be the first change in the present juvenile code in 60 years.

There would be only three "major differences in philosophy" between the present and proposed juvenile codes, according to Peskin.

ONE WOULD BE that it would raise the minimum age limit for criminal responsibility from 13 to 16. That is, a judge would not have the option of referring to felony or juvenile court offenders through 15 years of age. They would be handled only in juvenile court.

The other two changes were that judges and private agencies would recommend adoption rather than probation officers, and only the press would be allowed at juvenile hearings and court records would be "subject to no one's inspection."

There will also be two other changes in the present code, Peskin noted, but indicated they are simply putting in legal language what is already being practiced.

THE FIRST IS that only confessions of juveniles 18 or under which are taken in the presence of a parent or attorney for the child, may be admitted as evidence.

The other is that the judge rather than the state's attorney would handle juvenile cases, but the state's attorney would still be present and able to submit evidence, it was emphasized by the bill's sponsors.

"Many probation officers want to kill the bill," Peskin stated.

Panelists opposing the bill in the Thursday afternoon forum of the two-day conference were two attorneys, Peter R. Scalise of the Community Services Advisory Board of the Illinois Youth Commission, and Matthew Beemsterboer, formerly employed in the Cook County Family Court. Also there was Dr. Matthew Schoenbaum of the Loyola University Social Work Department.

SCALISE maintained the proposed law would subject delinquents to a "trial" rather than a "simple discussion" before a judge. He emphasized that in juvenile cases the judge should take the "role of a father."

A trial for a teenager is the "worst thing you can do," he said. Juvenile offenders should be heard in a "gentle and relaxed atmosphere."

Goal of the court hearing should be to fit the juvenile "back into society. . . not to find him guilty."

Beemsterboer commented that "young people have a right not to be helped" as well as helped.

Although he felt the proposed bill is an improvement over the existing law, he warned of "Star Chamber type proceedings" resulting from private hearings.

AT LEAST THE "vigilant press" should be allowed in the juvenile hearings, he said, as a deterrent to "injustice and possibly incompetence" on the part of the judges.

State's attorneys should have the right to prosecute juvenile offenders at their own "discretion," according to Beemsterboer.

State's attorneys should continue to have at their own "discretion" the right to prosecute juvenile offenders, according to Beemsterboer. This right has not been "abused," he said.

"Judges are wearing too many hats," was Beemsterboers final criticism. They administer the courts, condcct the hearings, and are put in a "supervisory capacity" over other professional people involved in juvenile cases, such as psychiatrists, probation officers and family agencies.

Schoenbaum said the bill "seems to hit at incompetency in our judiciary." If so, then "we should address ourselves" to that directly. (He was evidently referring to the more spelled out procedures for conducting juvenile hearings.)

UNDER THE BILL two hearings would be instituted, Schoenbaum reminded, and warned that there may be a long delay between the hearings. (One hearing would be to air the charges, and the other to present all evidence and dispose of the case.)

The judge would be the "prosecutor and arbiter" in the hearings, Schoenbaum continued. And he would be limited to considering only factors pertinent to the offense rather than the juvenile's background.

"Juveniles are the scapegoats in our society," Scalise hotly stated. "They have no lobby . . no power structure."

"Treat causes rather than effects," he continued. Goof balls are furnished to teens by adults.

"Experts, experts and experts" are called upon to formulate bills, he said. "Why not let people do this. . . "

OPPOSITION TO the bill has only recently cropped up, Peskin pointedly commented. "In five weeks of hearings (on it) I had not received a single letter or phone call in opposition."

Sen. Cherry said that the state constitution provides that a state's attorney may be present at any court hearing, but that this would be specifically stated in the bill if desired.

The bill is also to be amended to specifically include the press in juvenile hearings, he added, but no one else. "We don't want curiosity seekers coming in to listen to the plight of a family and minor."

Peskin noted that although judges will be given more authority, probationary officers will continue to be involved in juvenile cases "from the beginning."

JUDGE SPANTON told the audience of over 500 that a "child should have the same competency to defend himself as a state does to convict him." He was referring to the provisions of the bill which guarantee that either an attorney or a parent would be present whenever testimony is being given by a juvenile.

The present juvenile act doesn't require "record and proof" of delinquency, Spanton said.

Comments from the audience included suggestions that rehabilitation facilities should be at the disposal of every court, and the right of press attendance is being put above a family's right to privacy.

Judge Richard F. Scholz of the Community Services Advisory Board, moderator, said, "We owe to both sides our sincerest gratitude. The children of our state are finally becoming a focal point of adult attention."

Ducklings, Bunny Vie For Children's Favor

By BETTY ROGERS

What's causing all the comment from Randhurst shoppers? What is it everyone watches day after day? Why are the visitors so astonished? What are they intrigued by? What were all those phone calls about? What is the subject in all the letters that pour into our office?

The topic of discussion, subjects of correspondence, and the objects of everyone's vision are the little ducklings in the Bunnyland pond. These cute rascals are causing so much attention and affection by shoppers, visitors, and Randhurst employes. They are an instant hit with everyone!

WE HAVE COME to our own conclusions about the breed these ducklings might be, we have decided they are either one of two — "all ham" or "all corn!"

I thought that frisky rabbit was terrible, but these lively ducklings are something else again. There is only one uncontrollable bunny, but there are 18 unmanageable ducklings. How do you reason with a duckling? You can't!

Every day I try to tell them, "please keep your water clean, little ducks," but every day we find it dirtier and dirtier as the ducklings get bigger and fatter. We discovered a long time ago that the ducklings like clean, fresh, cool water. But they like even better to get it dirty! The first few days the Bunnyland pool stayed clean for a reasonable length of time. But as they grow older they grow smarter too and realize that the people like to see them in action.

So every few minutes it is "everyone into the pool!" Now every few hours it's "o.k. men, this pool has to be cleaned again!"

RANDY RABBIT is so jealous. Of course, I can't really blame him. How would you like it if someone "stole your show!" He still has something over those perky ducklings, he gets his picture taken with the children. The photographs are taken by a professional photographer, only upon request. The cost of the colored picture is $1.50. Please do not feel you have to have your picture taken.

Everyone is invited to visit with "Randy" whether you have a picture taken or not.

Bring the children over to Randhurst to visit with "Randy Rabbit," the Easter Bunny. Also be sure they receive an entry blank for the Easter Coloring Contest. All children under the age of 12 are eligible to enter. The winners in the contest will be three lucky girls and three lucky boys. Prizes for the contest are six shiny new bicycles. Completed contest blanks are deposited in "Randy's mailbox in Bunnyland.

Richard Thomas has also been appointed a vice president. He joined the company in 1958 as an assistant supervisor and later became a district supervisor of Payless Drug Company, a division of Stineway-Ford Hopkins, operating drug departments in discount department stores.

Erlenborn Reports

Voting Rights Bill Needs to Be Stronger

by JOHN N. ERLENBORN
U.S. Representative, 14th District

WASHINGTON, D.C. — What could be a rather dangerous political mood that has invaded Washington and the effect it is likely to have on a crucial piece of legislation — the voting rights bill. The mood is something like this: Do what the President asks and don't argue!

This mood is, in a way, understandable because of its objective of assuring voting rights to all citizens — an objective with which we all agree. But where legislation is concerned which could affect millions of persons, it is vital that the Congress take a cool and constructive look at it before final passage. All phases of it, all implications, all ramifications must be considered.

I want to emphasize that I want exactly what the President wants. Every qualified voter must have the opportunity to register and vote. This right has too long been denied too many Americans. At the same time, too many inadequate and fumbling attempts have been made in the past to remedy this state of affairs. Congress must do more than rush through another piece of legislation.

THE CONGRESS HAS tried three times in the past eight years to make effective the provisions of the Fifteenth Amendment, which prohibits States from denying citizens the right to vote because of race. The failure of past actions is obvious. This time, Congress must do the job fully and adequately. It must write a bill that is one hundred per cent effective. It must be a bill which will put an absolute end to all racial discrimination in the matter of voting.

The President's bill in its present form will not do this.

In essence, the Administration's bill would eliminate literacy and certain other tests for voting in all or part of the 20 States which use such tests. But, there are many States which do not have literacy tests and which still discriminate. These States are not affected by the present bill.

HERE ARE A FEW of the other techniques of discrimination. First and foremost is the poll tax. Then, voucher requirements or some other unduly technical method of identification. Rejection for insignificant errors in filling out forms. Failure to notify applicants of rejection. Delaying tactics. Lack of assistance to certain applicants and so on.

At least four of these "techniques of discrimination" are not attacked by the Administration's bill as long as they are practiced in a state that has no literacy test.

There is another almost incredible omission in the Voting Rights bill now before Congress. It does not combat discrimination in any of the 20 states to which it applies if less than 50 per cent of the population voted in the last election.

For instance, this bill does not affect Texas in which 187 counties had a voter turnout of less than 50 per cent. It does not affect Florida in which 35 counties had a turnout of less than 50 per cent. It does not affect Tennessee with 38 counties below this level of turnout. Only 38 per cent of the voters turned out in the District of Columbia, but the Capital is not covered by the bill.

BEFORE THIS bill is passed into law, these deficiencies will have been overcome. If debate on the bill seems overly lengthy, if the detailed consideration seems too minute, do not grow impatient. Emotions have been roused, many Americans are demanding that something be done about a major flaw in the American system, but, haste for haste's sake, is not the answer when Congress goes about the business of enacting an important piece of legislation.

Although a step in the right direction, the bill in its present form does not hit the target on the bull's eye. It does not protect the voter from all forms of discrimination, wherever they exist. This bill, in its final form must be the bill to end all voter discrimination all over. (FP

Methodists Host Handicapped Worshipers

by JIM CARNS
News Editor

It was a day of worship Saturday at the First Methodist Church of Arlington Heights, but the congregation was all new.

It was also a day of work for many people in the church's real congregation — work to bring the physically handicapped and blind from all over the Chicago area into fellowship, study and worship.

This is Project Renewal, a combined effort by Chicagoland Protestant churches to provide one day a month of such fellowship and communion for approximately 150 handicapped persons.

The Arlington Heights Methodist Church is the first church in the area to participate in the program, and had acted in the past to assist other churches in preparation and transportation for the rotating congregation.

But this was the first Saturday that the church had played host, and the endeavor was of major proportions. The full day was under charge of Mrs. Ellen Burrows, and included morning Bible study classes, a luncheon, and afternoon service.

ABOUT 40 of the special congregation are confined to wheelchairs, other are deaf-mutes and hear the sermon and Bible study through the hands of the Rev. Constance Elmes, a Project member.

Special provisions were made to handle all disabilities, including a ramp entrance to the church and four teams of four men each to carry those confined to wheelchairs up and down stairs.

A youth team cared for guide dogs for the blind, and a massive volunteer staff served lunch for more than 200 persons.

Five ministers conducted Bible study classes, and baby-sitting was provided by more youthful members of the Methodist congregation for those who brought children.

MORE THAN 40 cars were involved in the transportation program which brought persons from all areas in Chicago and suburbs. The effort was coordinated by Francois Palmatier.

Project Renewal was started in October, 1961, with 10 physically disabled persons attending the first meeting. Project officers now expect 120 to 150 persons for the regular programs of religious observance the first Saturday of each month.

In addition to its religious significance, according to Mrs. Burrows, the program also provides many of the physically handicapped their only opportunity to get out of their homes and fraternize with others.

Since this is the case, she said, the meeting is held every month, no matter what the weather or logistics problems involved.

THOUGH many churches are now affiliated with the project, there is still a need for host churches according to project officers.

Information on what may be done to help is available from Mrs. David F. Gordon, 715 S. Madison, La Grange. Phone FL 4-5007.

Nine Illinois Products in NCAA Meet

Nine products of Illinois high school wrestling programs competed in the recent National Collegiate Athletis Association wrestling championships at Memorial Fieldhouse, University of Wyoming.

Don Behm, sophomore at Michigan State and a New Trier High School graduate, and Vic Marcucci of Iowa State, a junior who prepped at Oak Lawn Reavis, posted the top finishes of the Illinois products with thirds.

Behm, a two-time state champion at New Trier who also won the Big Ten title, was third at 130 pounds. His only loss this season was to NCAA champion Yojiro Uetake of Oklahoma State, 1964 Olympic titlist from Japan.

MARCUCCI WAS the Illinois state champion in 1962. He gained his third in the NCAA at 167 pounds and was instrumental in leading Iowa State to the team title.

Bill Johannesen of Michigan, who was touted as a prep at Waukegan but dislocated his elbow during the early rounds of the state finals, won two bouts at 130 in the NCAA meet before falling to Oklahoma State's Uetake. He lost to Behm in the consolations.

Bob Billberg of Moorhead State, Illinois heavyweight champ as a senior at Waukegan and runnerup in the NCAA last year, lost his first match at Wyoming to Bob Broughton of Utah State.

GEORGE McCREERY of Palatine, a brilliant wrestler as a prep, represented Southern Illinois University in the NCAA. He drew a first round bye, then was pinned by Jerry Seaman

Rick Bay, captain of the Michigan team who was three-time Illinois state champion at Waukegan, dropped his first round match at 167. Bay owns two Big Ten championships but has been plagued with injuries in his collegiate career.

Bob Gibson from Evanston, now representing Denison, drew a bye and then bowed in his first match at 177 pounds.

Jerry Torrence from Thornton of Harvey, co-captain at Northwestern University, was pinned in his first match at 137 pounds. Torrence was an Illinois state champion in 1961.

Dick Ernst of Northwestern University; a Savanna, Ill. High School product, won his first match at 177 pounds before falling to the eventual champion.

The NCAA wrestling finals were taped by ABC-TC and will be shown on the ABC Wide World of Sports Saturday afternoon, April 17.

Legislator Invites Scholarship Bids

State Rep. Eugenia S. Chapman (D-Arlington Heights) this week announced open competiton among northwest suburban high school seniors for her two General Assembly scholarships.

Each member of the state legislature each year awards two four-year scholarships: one to a student planning to attend the University of Illinois, and one to a student enrolling at any of the other state universities. Value of each scholarship is about $1,000, to cover tuition and fees for four years.

To be sure students receiving the two scholarships are those who can use them to the best advantage, Mrs. Chapman said, she has appointed a scholarship committee composed of northwest suburban high school counselors.

ON THE COMMITTEE are Dr. W. D. Whiteside, coordinator of guidance and testing for Arlington High School District 214, as chairman; Father James Farley, St. Viator's; Dr. Louise T. Paine, Glenbrook; and Merlin W. Schultz, Maine.

The committee has set up the criteria and will consider all applicants and recommend the most qualified to Mrs. Chapman for final consideration.

Application forms, available from college counselors at all local high schools, should be completed and returned by April 20. (B10

25 Suburban Seamstresses

To Model Own Fashion Creations

Winners To Star In Show

(See additional photos inside this section.)

By MARIANNE SCOTT
Women's Editor

Modeling fashionable costumes of their own creation, 25 talented seamstress of the northwest area will star in a unique fashion showing Wednesday, April 14, when Seventh District IFWC holds its spring meeting.

The models, all winners from their indivividual clubs, will be parading the latest in spring ensembles ranging from the most glamorous of evening wear to the gayest of spring suits.

HIGHLIGHT of the showing, which is scheduled to take place during luncheon in Jefferson Park's Trinity Slovak Lutheran Church, will be the announcement of the winners in the District Sewing Contest. Heading this year's competition is Mrs. Fred Tonry of Des Plaines, District American Home Chairman who has announced that cash prizes will go to a daytime and evening ensemble in both the senior and junior divisions.

Additional prizes, gift certificates from Hagenbrings Department Store in Arlington Heights, will be awarded to any finalists representing Paddock Publications circulation area. Fifteen of the contestants will be eligible for these certificates, which are offered as a joint effort of Hagenbrings and Paddock Publications.

Still other awards are being donated by Montgomery Wards and Sears Roebuck Stores.

Judging his year's contest were Miss Nancy Swanson of the Singer Sewing Center at Golf Mill, Mrs. Esther Zable of the Montgomery Ward Sewing Center at Randhurst, and Mrs. R. Stange of Des Plaines, an expert seamstress and member of Riverview Home Bureau Unit, who evaluated the 25 costumes in a private showing April 6 in Park Ridge.

Their decisions, based 75 per cent on workmanship and 25 cent on becomingness to the wearer and overall appearance, are being kept secret until the April 14 showing.

INTERVIEWS with the 15 Paddock area women entered in the contest revealed that these seamstresses have no dilettantish approach to sewing, but a genuine interest in sewing as a challenging and rewarding hobby or avocation. They sew because they feel they get better workmanship, better fit, individual styling, and because they enjoy being creative.

For most of these nimble-thimbled women, sewing does not end with their own wardrobes, but extends to the wardrobes of their children, their husbands and their homes. Most of them also knit and do other forms of handiwork.

ENTRANTS from Prospect Heights Woman's Club are Mrs. Albert Mondus, 908 N. Elmhurst Prospect Heights, and Mrs. Donald F. Morton, 16 S. William, Mount Prospect.

Mrs. Mondus chose a simplicity pattern for her good-looking 2-piece suit of light green basketweave flannel. Stitching details the jacket which is worn over a raw silk blouse in a green and pink print. To complete her ensemble she has chosen a green rouch straw hat, white gloves and black patent shoes and bag.

Mrs. Mondus began her sewing career in elementary school and by the time she was in high school she was sewing her entire wardrobe, including suits and coats. Besides her own clothes she also sews for two daughters and a daughter-in-law. Her present project is a christening outfit for a grandchild expected "momentarily."

A beautiful floor-length evening suit of silk linen print is Mrs. Morton's entry. Using a McCalls - Butterick pattern, she also incorporated some of her own ideas, such as the silk shantung used for the blouse and lapels of the jacket. Practical aspect to this ensemble is the daytime-length extra skirt Mrs. Morton made to stretch the wearability of her costume.

Dyed to match olive green pumps, white beaded evening bag, short white gloves and pearl and rhinestone drop earrings completed her outfit. Mrs. Morton began sewing five years ago when she had difficulty purchasing suitable clothes for her very tall daughter. Crewel embroidery and quilts are also listed among Mrs. Morton's handiwork.

COAT AND DRESS ensembles were sewn by Mrs. Karl Broz of Schaumburg Juniors and Mrs. Lynn Schaller of Rolling Meadows Juniors for the District Seven IFWC sewing contest. The women will join other Paddock area sewers as well as women from Des Plaines, Park Ridge, Norwood Park, Irving Park, Franklin Park and Elmwood Park in modeling their creations at the District luncheon April 14, when winners will be announced.

REPRESENTING Arlington Heights Woman's Club are Mrs. Robert E. Hudak, 438 S. Patton, and Mrs. Leslie M. Jones, 315 E. Park.

Outstanding feature of Mrs. Hudak's handsome black homespun suit is the crewel embroidered flowers in white and shades of grey on the jacket. The suit is made from a composit of patterns; her white blouse is from Simplicity. Accents to the costume are patent shoes and bag, black straw hat, white gloves and pearl earrings and bracelet.

Sewing doll clothes as a child was the beginning of Mrs. Hudak's sewing career. She also sews for her husband, daughter and son, and enjoys knitting and embroidery.

An elegant 2-piece black brocade, floor-length evening ensemble has been created by Mrs. Jones for her entry. Fashioned from a Fabiani of Italy pattern, the gown features a one-shoulder neckline and side slit. The matching coat is lined in red taffeta. With this ensemble Mrs. Jones wears black lace leotards, black evening sandals, long black gloves and rhinestone jewelry.

Mrs. Jones began sewing 30 years ago and did such a thorough job in teaching her daughter to sew that the daughter now makes her own wardrobe; however, Mrs. Jones now sews for her granddaughter, and also does knitting and crocheting.

Six junior clubs in the Paddock area are entering contestants. Arlington Juniors' entries are Mrs. Edward Schmitz, 104 E. Willow, and Mrs. Henry Ehmann Jr., 114 S. Prindle.

Using a Vogue pattern, Mrs. Schmitz fashioned a very chic moss green and blue suit of Forstman wool with moss overblouse of silk. The jacket sleeves feature two brass buttons and are short to show off the long sleeves and French cuffs on her blouse. Green leather shoes and bag completed her costume.

Mrs. Schmitz was just 11 years old when she began making her own cotton dresses. Now she also sews for her two young daughters as well as close friends. Besides sewing, she loves music and plays her piano whenever time permits.

A STUNNING 2-piece evening ensemble done in black faille brocade is the entry of Mrs. Ehmann. The A-line coat, collarless and with single button closing, is lined in a vibrant shade of turquoise silk. The matching sleeveless dress by Vogue has a pyramid silhouette. Matching black silk shoes, evening-length white gloves and a single piece of jewelry, a large pin on the dress, complete her ensemble.

Mrs. Ehmann, who enjoys all types of sewing, began to make some of her own outfits while in high school. She knits extensively, paints and also does sampler work. Making coats for two small daughters and draperies for her home keep her sewing machine whirring a good part of the time.

Mrs. Roger Kantola, 387 Bianco Drive, and Mrs. Harold Greaves, 10 Evergreen, of Elk Grove Juniors chose designer patterns for their entries. A 3-piece striking suit in red nubby wool is Mrs. Greaves' entry. A Vogue design, the suit is made with wide, shawl type collar, flap-pocketed jacket, slim skirt and sleeveless overblouse. She complements her ensemble with a black straw with turned up brim, black shoes, gloves and bag.

Mrs. Greaves, who often creates her own patterns to personalize her wardrobe, says that she has always sewed but became an avid dressmaking fan when she needed "something special" while at college. A fashion illustrator by profession, Mrs. Greaves enjoys all forms of arts and crafts. She also knits and sews for two sons, a daughter and the children's daddy.

Christian Dior designed the enchanting gold embossed brocade short evening gown entered by Mrs. Kantola. An A-line dress, the dress features a plunging neckline. Gold kid shoes, gold and rhinestone jewelry and white kid gloves add the final touch to this glamorous costume.

AN AWARENESS of fashion and prices led Mrs. Kantola to take up sewing while she was a high school student. Her interest in the art continued through college and into her married years, and she now sews for her children, too. She especially enjoys making evening wear in elegant fabrics, and little girls' dresses.

A dashing black and white houndstooth check wool ensemble and a magnificent gold and blue brocade evening ensemble are the entries from Rolling Meadows Juniors. Mrs. H. Lynn Schaller, 2607 School, fashioned the houndstooth into a cape and dress from a Butterick - McCalls pattern. She uses red accents in a scarf and flower, her shoes are black patent, and her hat and bag are also black.

Mrs. Raymond L. Sielig, 2403 Dove fashioned the brocade evening dress and jacket from a Simplicity pattern. Matching shoes and crystal earrings complete her ensemble.

A professional model, Mrs. Sielig has been sewing for 15 years and enjoys all types of sewing, including items for the home. Her husband, daughter and two sons are all happy that Mom adds to their wardrobes.

FLOOR-LENGTH evening dresses are the entries of Mrs. Donald Morton of Prospect Heights Woman's Club and Mrs. Leslie Jones of Arlington Heights Woman's Club for the District Sewing Contest. Winners in both evening and daytime wear will be announced at the District's Spring meeting April 14.

GREEN WOOL SUIT with silk overblouse and a designer pattern coat of white wool are the entries of Mrs. Edward Schmitz of Arlington Heights Juniors and Mrs. Jack Piper of Mount Prospect Juniors for sewing competition sponsored by Seventh District.

APRONS AND pajamas were the first endeavors of Mrs. Schaller. Then a junior high student, she soon graduated to more complicated clothing. She especially likes to sew her own daytime wear and children's clothing for her two youngsters. Knitting is also on her list of creative talents.

It was making a low cut summer cotton five years ago that inspired Mrs. Karl Broz of Schaumburg Juniors to take up sewing. Her entry in the current contest is a lovely gray wool coat, single breasted with lapel collar, and a blue flattering blue wool shift dress with tie belt. She also made her matching blue wool hat with black patent leather band and a blue scarf. Mrs. Broz also knits, making knee sox for her husband and mittens for her 5-year-old daughter.

The Brozes reside at 6 Wayland Court.

SECOND entry from Schaumburg Juniors is Mrs. William Nolan, 37 Kingston Lane. Using a Vogue Young Fashionable pattern, she fashioned breath-taking black velvet, empire-waisted dress with deep plunge neckline and long, fitted sleeves. Black lace trims the neckline, sleeves and hemline.

Mrs. Nolan began sewing daytime ensembles in her junior year at college. Now, in addition to daytime wear, she enjoys sewing evening fashions and occasionally sews for her mother and two sisters. However, her three children benefit most from Mrs. Nolan's sewing abilities. Knitting, crocheting, sketching and painting are also among her creative talents.

Only entry from Mount Prospect Juniors is Mrs. Jack R. Piper, 714 W. Busse, who is entering her beautiful white coat of wool petit point weave. The coat is fashioned from a Vogue Couturier Design and with it she wears black patent shoes and bag, black lace straw pill box and black elbow-length gloves.

Mrs. Piper began her sewing with shorts and slacks while in high school and now she creates her own evening and daytime wear. She also knits and likes to make fancy decorations for clubs and dances. She also sews for her son and daughter.

WHEELING Juniors are entering Mrs. Julius Benjamin, 1016 Beverly Drive, and Mrs. Charles Hunt, 120 Highland. "Still experimenting" is Mrs. Benjamin's comment on her sewing which she began only last year. Eager to learn all she can, Mrs. Benjamin studied along with channel 11 when it presented a recent 13-week sewing course. Her entry is a perky McCall jumper of turquoise washable wool. Washable wool, she will tell you, is 85 per cent wool and 15 per cent orlon. Doll clothes and children's clothes are included in her sewing accomplishments and painting and sketching are also among her talents.

Mrs. Hunt is entering her stylish 2-piece white brocade evening ensemble which consists of sleeveless dress with easy waistline and sheath skirt, and hip length jacket. With this she wears matching white brocade shoes, black faille bag and brushed gold necklace and earrings.

Not being able to find what she wanted in maternity clothes 2½ years ago is what started Mrs. Hunt in sewing. Now she is getting to be an accomplished seamstress and also makes brother and sister ensembles for her two sons and her daughter. Knitting is also listed among her creative accomplishments.

OTHER CLUBS entering the competition are Des Plaines Juniors, Des Plaines Seniors, Park Ridge, Norwood Park, Irving Park, Franklin Park and Elmwood Park.

So the big question now is—will one or more of the area women be named winners in the April 14 showing, and if so, who?

Current PTA Project Will Aid Children in Appalachia

At a PTA meeting in the Park School, Arlington Heights, recently, one woman "donated her husband" to a current PTA project. He turned carpenter long enough to put together three sturdy wooden boxes.

Students in Kansas City, Mo., vocational schools are building 100 similar wooden boxes. Volunteer box-builders are working on the same specifications for PTA's at the John F. Kennedy school in Clearwater, Fla.; the Alhambra high school in Martinez, Calif., and in scores of cities in between.

The carpenters' union in Hackensack, N. J., is producing, professionally, dozens of the same kind of boxes.

They're all making a special contribution to the National PTA's program of providing one million books to children who probably never before owned a book, thousands of children who attend one-and two-room schools in the Appalachian mountains of Kentucky.

BOX-BUILDING is a vital part of participation in the project of "Books for Appalachia's Children," says Mrs. Jennelle Moorhead, president of the National PTA.

For these are very special boxes, to serve first as secure cartons for shipping 50 or more books at a time. Equally important, they will serve, after delivery, as bookshelves in the barren little schools in the mountain hollows, where there's no money for a school book collection, no nearly town with a library and usually no road good enough for even a visiting bookmobile to travel.

The REA has offered a special flat rate, good for three months this spring, for shipping these bookcase boxes to Appalachia from anywhere in the continental United States.

THE APPALACHIAN Volunteers, an organization of college students, will distribute boxes and books throughout Appalachia.

Acual collection of the children's books most wanted in the Appalachian area is also proceeding well, Mrs. Moorhead reports.

In the western New York community of Warsaw (pop. 3,600), the PTA expects to fill from 50 to 100 bookcase boxes by May 15, according to Mrs. Edwin A. Stearns, project chairman. Tiny Spring Lake, Mich., has contributed enough books to fill six or seven boxes, says its PTA chairman, Mrs. James Brunner. Response has been "overwhelming" in Kettering, Ohio, where PTA council president Mrs. John Clark anticipates her 19 local units will send more than one box each, filled with children's books.

THE KING STREET PTA, Chambersburg, Pa., has 25 boxes ready for shipment and at least half a dozen are due from Woodland PTA in Woodlake, Calif., There children, parents and teachers contributed both new and used volumes toward the book collection and helped pack the bookcase boxes.

While their response was "beyond our expectations," says Mrs. Robert S. Grorud, in charge of the Woodland PTA's project, "it's still just another way of helping our neighbors, whether they be near or far."

Zest Company Pork Chops With Orange Spice Sauce

FRESH ORANGE JUICE and grated peel add zest to this marinade for thick pork chops.

The French obviously love "le mot juste," the exact word, as witness their words zeste, zist and zest. Together they add up to an orange peel. Zeste is the golden exterior which adds intriguing flavor to so many dishes; zist is the pithy inner lining likely to be a bit bitter; and zest is the in-between layer, neither good nor bad.

Don't grate too ambitiously, warn home economists of the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association, if you want the best, most tantalizing tingle of orange peel. Dig in just deep enough to remove the golden outer cells.

GRATED ORANGE rind gives superb flavor to all kinds of baked goods — cheese cakes, spice cakes, muffins, nut breads, coffee cakes. Good with pork and chicken, too, and with sweet yellow vegetables such as carrots, sweet potatoes and winter squash.

In spite of the appetite appeal of its covering, the real worth of an orange lies in its very nutritious "meat," its fresh and health-giving juice. Oranges, and citrus fruits generally, are distinguished for their fabulous vitamin C content; one large whole orange gives us all the vitamin C we need for a day.

Vitamin C isn't stored in the body in large amounts so we should make it a habit to insure an adequate daily intake of this nutrient. There are at least 150 different substances in a fresh orange, and probably a great many more. Biochemists are still hard at work analyzing the marvels of this golden fruit.

Meanwhile, we consumers can be sure that an orange is not only very good, but very good for us. It's also an excellent flavoring ingredient in the following company recipe.

BAKED PORK CHOPS, ORANGE SAUCE

½ cup fresh orange juice
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon ground allspice
½ teaspoon soy sauce
2 teaspoons finely chopped onion
¼ teaspoon grated orange peel
6 loin or shoulder pork chops, 1-inch thick
1½ tablespoons oil
2 oranges, sliced ½-inch thick

Combine first eight ingredients and pour over chops. Cover and refrigerate overnight. Remove chops from marinade and saute in oil until browned on both sides. Arrange chops in heat-proof casserole.

Pour over remaining marinade. Bake in heated moderate oven (350 degrees) for 1 hour or until pork is tender. Garnish with sliced oranges. Serve with remaining sauce.

Yield: 6 servings. (SH

Surprise Rice Balls Nestle Cheese Cubes

Surprise Rice Balls served with a seasoned Bechamel sauce are an appetizing dish for a Lenten lunch or dinner. The rice, cooked in water and flavored with golden seasoning and broth, is shaped into balls around cheese cubes and deep fat fried. Served piping hot, the rice balls are cut open to reveal a melted cheese center.

With the balls, serve the smooth sauce, seasoned with golden seasoning and broth. Add a crisp greens salad, a vegetable and you'll complete the menu for an appealing meal.

SURPRISE RICE BALLS

2 envelopes Golden Seasoning and Broth*
2 cups water
1 cup rice
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
8 (1½") cubes sharp American cheese
2 eggs
4 tablespoons dry bread crumbs

In a saucepan, mix together, golden seasoning and broth, water, rice, and butter. Bring to a boil; cover. Reduce heat to low and cook for 25 minutes or until rice is very soft.

Using about 2½ tablespoons rice for each ball, shape it around a cube of cheese. Beat eggs until bubly. Dip rice balls into beaten egg and then roll lightly in bread crumbs.

Put Spring in Budgets By Using Canned Foods

Spring is here and new clothes for the family are right around the corner. Tailor your food budget well and you'll meet your clothing allowance without a tight-fitting bank balance.

Canned foods are economical, reports the National Canners Association, and with careful menu planning you can make them even more so. Thrifty canned fruits and vegetables contain essentially the same nutrients and vitamins as their fresh counterparts — and often compare favorably in price.

TAKE ADVANTAGE of canned food sales. Stocking up here can mean a substantial saving. Canned foods keep almost indefinitely and need no special storage space which makes them a wise buy for the homemaker who plans ahead.

Plan your canned food pantry in menu groupings. A selection of canned main dish items, fruits, juices, vegetables, soups, seafoods, specialties and desserts each stacked categorically will let you know at a glance what needs replacing.

And after you've returned with all those marvelous packages from the department store a little bit later than you expected — turn to the canned food shelf for a quick, tasty dinner. Here's a "new hat" menu guaranteed to soothe the most irate husband, using canned foods exclusively.

Especially for Women

New Jersey, New Home For Janice Lynn May

Standing before an altar bedecked with vases of white gladioli and stephanotis, Miss Janice Lynn May became the bride of Arnold Egli Jr. in a March 7 wedding service in Faith Lutheran Church, Arlington Heights.

In a candlelight setting at 7 p.m. Rev. Edger H Behrens united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. May of 1521 N. State Road, Arlington, and the son of the senior Arnold Eglis of Fairlawn, N. J.

For her early March wedding Miss May choose a white satin gown with lace bolero bodice and chapel train. Of French illusion, her three-tiered veil was attached to a satin orchid trimmed with seed pearls and crystals.

Adding beauty to the ensemble was a cascade bouquet, formed with white orchids and stephanotis.

White satin bows and palms marked the pews for the bride's entrance. Preceding Miss May in the procession were Mrs. Francis Webster of Champaign, matron of honor; and bridesmaids, Mrs. Hugh Thompson of Des Plaines, and Misses Judy Stroebel and Carol Steadman of Arlington Heights.

ALL FOUR WERE gowned identically in floor-length turquoise chiffon. Their crowns of turquoise lace were designed with Aurora Borealis crystals and butterfly veils; pink and white rhubrum lilies and miniature pink roses made up the cascade bouquets.

White orchid wrist corsages accentuated the outfits of both mothers. Mrs. May was attired in a floor-length blue crepe detailed with beaded bolice and matching accessories, and Mrs. Egli selected a hat, purse and gloves to match her pink chiffon, also beaded.

The newlyweds hosted a reception for 150 guests in Rolling Green Country Club and later spent a week vacationing in Nassau. They have now made their new home in Wayne, N. J.

AN ARLINGTON High graduate, the new Mrs. Egli attended Valparaiso University for two years and was employed at Parker-Hannifan, Des Plaines.

Mr. Egli, a graduate of Valparaiso, is employed at the Federal Reserve Bank in New York. (Bak Studio (S

Judy Odom, John Baird Live In Madison As Newlyweds

Now living in Madison, Wis., where the groom is serving with the U.S. Air Force are John and Judy Baird who were married Feb. 27 in Queen of the Rosary Church, Elk Grove. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Odom, 19 Pine St., Willoway Terrace, Arlington Heights. The groom's parents are John H. Baird of Arlington Heights and Mrs. Sue Young of Boaz, Ala.

The noon rites were performed by Fr. Steven Magnam, and a reception followed for 112 guests at Lincoln Square Post, Chicago.

AS THE BRIDE was given in marriage by her father, she wore an embroidered silk organza dress which had a 5-tiered skirt fashioned into a bell shape over a hoop, just touching the floor. Her 3-tiered veil of silk illusion was held in place by a pillbox crown, and she carried a cascade bouquet of carnations, stephanotis and lilies of the valley.

Her matron of honor was Mrs. Charlotte Holbrook of Willoway Terrace, and bridesmaid was her sister, Patty Odom. The groom chose his brother, Ronald Baird of Boaz, as best man.

THE BRIDAL attendants wore light blue taffeta dresses, floor-length, with a white lace bodice. They carried feathered carnations tipped in blue and tied with matching streamers and feathers.

Also in the wedding party were Patricia Browder, 6, of Willoway Terrace as flower girl, and 7-year-old Duffy Kilrain of Palatine, who carried the double rings.

The flower girl wore a short length dress of light blue chiffon over taffeta and carried blue tipped carnations.

SHADES OF blue were also chosen by the mothers of the pair, as they witnessed the ceremony and greeted guests at the reception. Mrs. Odom wore light blue chiffon over lace, while Mrs. Young was attired in a dark blue crepe. Each had a pink rosebud corsage.

The couple traveled south for a week's honeymoon before setting at 1034 Jenifer St., Madison.

The bride, a Forest View High School graduate, worked for A. C. McClurg Co. in Elk Grove before her marriage. (S

Here's a hot party idea for a hamburgers for the crowd. Let the guests cook their own burgers (kabob-style) on a table-top hibachi.

Then, give the party a quick, refreshing lift with banana split 7-Up "floats."

BURGER KABOBS

Combine 1 pound ground beef with 1 teaspoon garlic flavored salad dressing mix and ½ teaspoon salt. Form into 18 small meatballs. Alternate on six-inch metal skewers with onion wedges, green pepper squares and strips of partially cooked bacon.

Cook slowly over glowing coals and serve in hollowed out frankfurter buns. Makes 6 servings.

Sausages Perk Morning Meal

Homemakers who want to get their family moving in the morning should give them a pep-up breakfast.

If Mom is up and hustling in the kitchen, if wonderful aroma emanates from the range, it's difficult for husband and children to stay in bed.

They're bound to get up to see what it's all about—and once up, they might as well have breakfast.

SOME BREAKFASTS are pretty hard to resist — frying bacon, sizzling sausages, fragrant cinnamon rolls, chilled grapefruit and sunnyside-up eggs or that old-fashioned favorite, sausage scrapple.

The first step in making scrapple is to brown the sausage slowly, then pour off the drippings. Make the scrapple the evening before so it can be chilled and sliced. It needs only dipping in cornflakes and egg before browning.

SAUSAGE SCRAPPLE

- 2 pounds fresh pork (bulk) sausage
- 2 cans (6 ounces each) evaporated milk
- 2½ cups water
- 1 cup yellow corn meal
- ½ teaspoon sal.
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 2 cups crushed cornflakes
- 2 eggs
- 3 to 4 tablespoons lard or drippings

Cook sausage slowly until lightly browned and pour off drippings. Combine milk and water. Measure 3 cups of liquid and add to sausage.

Reserve remaining liquid for dipping scrapple. Heat sausage mixture to boiling and slowly stir in corn meal and seasonings. Cook 5 minutes, stirring constantly.

Pour into a greased 9 x 5-inch loaf pan and chill until firm. Unmold and cut in ½-inch slices. Dip into cornflakes. Combine eggs and remaining liquid and dip slices in this mixture, then in cornflakes again.

Brown in lard or drippings on both sides and serve hot with syrup. Eight to 9 servings. (SH

Chunky Beef Chili Now On Market

A premium Chunky Beef Chili, created as a gourmet dish and made from boneless beef cuts from government - inspected plants, is being introduced in this market area by Gebhardt Mexican Foods, San Antonio.

The first Chunky Beef Chili of its kind, according to W. P. McCarthy, general manager of Gebhardt, it exceeds the minimum federal requirement for meat content by more than 15 per cent and contains no beans.

Large chunks of beef are the principal ingredient in this new chili which contains special seasons to give it an authentic chili flavor. In contrast, plain chili is made from ground beef.

A heat-and-eat convenience item, the Chunky Beef Chili also is an excellent main dish when served over tamales, boiled rice or spaghetti, or with eggs.

Approximate retail price for a 19-ounce can which has a distinctive green, red, white and gold foil label is 69 cents. (SH

Lemon Meringue Is a Favorite

Old-fashioned lemon meringue pie conjures up happy memories for many people. In some households, it is almost a tradition.

The bright pie has all the flavor of spring and the dazzle of summer. The flaky crust, tart and sweet filling and the fluffy topping combine to make one of the most attractive desserts to be found anywhere.

This recipe, developed by home economists at Meadow Gold Dairies, is in the true old-fashioned tradition of lemon "cream" pie

LEMON MERINGUE PIE

- Pastry for 9-inch pie shell baked
- 1¼ cups sugar
- ½ cup flour
- Dash of salt
- 1½ cups water
- 3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
- 3 lemons, juice and grated rind

Combine sugar and flour in heavy pan. Add salt. Slowly stir in water. Add egg yolks and rind. Cook over low heat until thick. Stir in lemon juice. Cool slightly. Pour into cooled pie shell. Top with meringue.

MERINGUE

- 3 egg whites
- ¼ cup sugar
- Dash of salt

Beat egg whites until frothy. Slowly add sugar and salt. Beat until meringue stands in soft peaks (not dry). Cover pie with meringue. Bake at 350 degrees for 10 minutes or until browned.

Take care to seal the meringue to the shell so the topping will not shrink. (SH

Fudgy Brownies

Here is a recipe for brownies from Meadow Gold Dairies that will delight the appetites of every chocolate addict.

The recipe is so simple, even the youngsters will want to try their hands at baking these brownies.

FUDGY BROWNIES

- 23 stick of butter (about 5 tablespoons)
- 2 squares unsweetened chocolate
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 eggs
- ½ cup flour
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- Dash of salt
- ½ cup nuts (optional)

Melt butter and chocolate. Cool slightly. Add rest of ingredients. Mix well. Pour into greased 8" by 8" pan.

Bake for 20 minutes or until done, (brownies will be moist).

Circus Birthday Created With a Popcorn Carousel

Whether it's the circus, a sideshow or a carnival, each holds equal fascination for the younger set. And one of the greatest attractions is the merry-go-round.

Holding bright colored paper horses, a popcorn carousel with candy stick poles will lend a merry note to parties for the young set.

It can all be done in a jiffy as the popcorn base is made with corn ready for popping in its own foil frypan. The popped corn is mixed with a cooked syrup and shaped into a ring.

WHILE THE CAROUSEL will make a fascinating centerpiece, it can also be the special prize for the afternoon. How excited a child would be to take home the carousel as his reward for pinning the tail on the donkey or hopping the fastest on one foot.

This popcorn carousel is as good to eat as it is intriguing to look at, so do let it do double duty at your next child's birthday party.

PARTY CAROUSEL

- 1 pkg. Ready-To-Pop Corn*
- 2 cups sugar
- 2/3 cup light corn syrup
- 1 cup water
- 8 marshmallows
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 6 hard candy sticks

Pop corn according to package directions. Grease a 5 quart kettle or large bowl; place popped coorn in it. Put sugar, water crn syrup in saucepan and cook, stirring constantly, until sugar is completely dissolved.

Then cook over medium heat, uncovered and without stirring, until candy thermometer registers 270 degrees F. Meanwhile, cut marshmallows into pieces. Draw a 12-inch circle on a piece of aluminum foil.

When syrup mixture reaches temperature, remove from heat and add marshmallows and vanilla. Stir to mix in melted marshmallows. Pour over popped corn and mix well. Drop onto aluminum foil. With well greased hands, shape into 12-inch circle.

Make small holes about 2 inches apart in popcorn circle and place candy sticks into holes. Push popped corn around base of stick to hold in place.

To make top of carousel: Use heavy construction paper, and cut a 12-inch circle. Fold in half and then from side to side in an accordion fold. Unfold and rest on top of candy sticks.

To make horses: Make a cardboard pattern of circus horse. Cut horses out of heavy construction paper. Paste onto candy sticks. (SH

Torte Wins Praise from Cook's Sons, Husband

Jam and Chocolate Used for Filling

by LOIS SEILER

"My most used recipes" is the way Mrs. Charles O. Bennett of Arlington Heights describes the specialties which she chose from among her extensive collection to share with readers today.

Recipes that are used often are naturally family favorites, and so it is with these. They range from a savory beef stew to an elegant Vienna torte.

Mrs. Bennett uses the torte to dress up a dull dinner, and it is a delicious party dessert, too.

A light chocolate cake is the basic for this torte. Baked in a jelly roll pan, it is cut into thirds and assembled in layers with raspberry jam and a rich chocolate filling. The filling is also used to frost the cake, which is then decorated with slivered almonds.

Mrs. Bennett usually freezes half the torte and keeps it in rserve for a busy day. The other half is stored in the refrigerator and is sliced thin for serving.

ANOTHER OF her dessert specialties is for a rich and delicious candy-like cookie which is delightful to serve for an afternoon tea or bridge party.

Like the Vienna Torte, it too, is made in layers. Called a Three-Layer Cookie, it has a solid foundation of butter, sugar, eggs and cocoa combined with graham cracker crumbs, coconut and chopped nuts. This is pressed into a 9 by 13-inch pan.

The middle layer is soft and creamy while a thin but firm lay of chocolate forms the topping.

BECAUSE THEY are so very rich, the cookies are sliced and served in very small pieces. As a result, one recipe will make about nine dozen of these elegant confections. They are stored in the refrigerator, or may be frozen and can be used almost immediately upon being removed from the freezer.

And for those days when bridge parties or organizational activities keep homemakers away from the kitchen, Mrs. Bennett's beef stew is a cook's delight. The meat need not even be browned in this recipe, but will brown itself during the baking period.

It is combined with celery, carrots, onions and tomato sauce, with tapioca used as the thickening agent. Baked for four hours in a slow oven, potatoes are added the last hour of cooking and wine may be blended in just before serving.

VERY EASY to prepare, this dinner takes care of itself so that a housewife may be free for an afternoon. Yet the result is such that no one could guess it took so little effort. The meat is tender, the vegetable flavorful, and the gravy thick and rich.

Mrs. Bennett's husband, Charles, and sons, Doug, 12, and Tom, 10, are especially fond of this meal, and because it is as attractive in appearance as it is enjoyable to taste, it makes an excellent company dish, too.

Mushrooms and green pepper may be added to the stew at will — and a tossed salad and French bread make appealing accompaniments.

In addition to her culinary interests, Mrs. Bennett is an active circle member of the Women's Association of the First Presbyterian Church, and is treasurer of the Arlington Heights Center of the Infant Welfare Society of Chicago.

The Bennetts live at 111 S. Drury Lane in Arlington Heights.

VIENNA TORTE

4 eggs, separated
⅓ cup sugar
¼ cup almonds, ground
5 tablespoons cake flour
⅓ cup chocolate bits
¼ cup butter

Beat egg yolks and half the sugar until very thick. Gradually beat in nuts and flour.

Melt chocolate and butter over hot water. Beat egg whites until stiff; gradually beat in remaining sugar.

Fold yolk mixture into whites, then gently fold in chocolate. Pour into lightly-greased and floured jelly roll pan. Bake for 15 minutes at 350 degrees. Remove from pan while warm. Cut into three even strips. Cool.

Prepare the following filling:

½ cup water
¾ cup butter
¾ cup sugar
2 egg yolks
¾ cup raspberry jam

Melt chocolate in double boiler. Add water and blend. Cool.

Cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy; add egg yolks and beat thoroughly. Add chocolate mixture.

Spread ¼ cup jam on the first layer, then some of the filling. Continue in same manner, covering each layer with jam and filling. Frost sides with chocolate filling. Decorate with slivered almonds. Refrigerate. Slice thin for serving. Serves 12 to 14. This torte will freeze well.

THREE-LAYER COOKIES

¼ cup sugar
⅓ cup cocoa
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 egg, slightly-beaten
2 cups graham cracker crumbs, crushed
1 cup grated coconut
½ cup chopped nuts

Place butter, sugar, cocoa and vanilla in top of double boiler and cook until blended. Add egg and cook five minutes longer.

Add cracker crumbs, coconut and nuts. This will be a very thick consistency. Press into the bottom of a 9 by 13 by 2-inch pan. Let stand 15 minutes. Prepare the following:

½ cup margarine
3 tablespoons milk
2 tablespoons instant vanilla-flavored pudding
2 cups confectioners sugar

Cream margarine until light and fluffy. Mix milk and pudding together; add to butter and mix well. Add sugar gradually and beat until smooth. Spread over first layer and let stand in refrigerator until firm. Prepare the following frosting:

1 6-ounce package chocolate bits
1 square baking chocolate
1 tablespoon margarine

Melt chocolates in butter and spread over second layer. (Mixture will be thick). Cool. Cut into small pieces. Store in refrigerator or freezer. May be used almost immediately after being removed from freezer.

BEEF STEW

1½ pounds lean beef stew
1 cup sliced celery
1 cup sliced carrots
1 cup sliced onions
1 8-ounce can tomato sauce
1½ tablespoons tapioca
Salt and pepper

Do not brown meat. Place all ingredients together in a casserole. Cover and bake at 250 degrees for 3 hours. Add 1 cup diced potatoes; bake one additional hour. Red wine (¼ cup) may be added before serving. Serves 4 to 6. (SH

THEIR MOTHER'S ELEGANT Vienna torte always evokes smiles from Tom and Doug Bennett of Arlington Heights. Because it is such a family favorite, Mrs. Charles O. Bennett often makes this torte to dress up a dull meal, and it is a excellent party dessert, too.

Do face creams really work?

by Helen F. Porter

A good part of my time as a beauty consultant has been spent studying all kinds of face creams. I've found, as I'm sure many of you have, that while most did some good, none really satisfied me.

But recently I've been using a face cream that I think is just what women have been hoping for. It's light and greaseless, and its skin-softening emollient formula includes polyunsaturates. This is important — because our skin's supply of moisture —retaining natural oils—skin softening polyunsaturates and emollients — actually drains away slowly with time.

But this cream puts a supply of oils and emollients, including skin-softening polyunsaturates, right on your skin. Yet it smooths in almost instantly, and never leaves a greasy film on your face, or pillow case.

This cream, which is made here at Prince Matchabelli, is called Polyderm. I wish you'd try it, because I'm sure you'll find, as I did, that with daily use Polyderm moisturizes your skin — gives you a softer, smoother, younger looking complexion.

So you can see what Polyderm's emollient polyunsaturate formula will do for your skin, I suggest you go to the Toiletries Department of Monaco Drugs, 1828 N. State Rd., Arlington Heights, and ask for a jar. A 4-month supply is $5.00 and a 2-month supply is $3.50 plus tax.

She Laments That Long Wait

All It Takes Is Patience? Suburb Homemaker Has Doubts

By BETTY AINSLIE

Unless I can bring an item home with me at the moment of purchase, I'm afraid to buy.

Personally, I'm tired of waiting for deliveries that never materialize and delivery men who never show up.

I've had it with repair men who promise immediate service and let me and my broken down wash machine, dryer, dishwasher, TV set or disposal wait until the spirit moves them to come in answer to my frantic call of several days previous.

NOW IT COULD be that most delivery men are heavy muscled fellows with strong backs and a weak conscience about keeping promises — but they must have cheerful dispositions to take all the raving and ranting offered by the kept waiting, irate housewife.

I buy something with the promise of delivery on a day mutually agreeable to me and the store.

"Will that be morning or afternoon?" I ask.

"When would it be most convenient for you?" beams the salesman.

"Make it morning, please." I figure I can do all of my shopping in afternoon, and mornings I can arrange to be home.

BUT IT SEEMS once the truck contact is lost, and the delivery men are on their own switching their stops to suit themselves. Like all the ones for morning are put in the afternoon and vice versa.

After I've waited all morning and far into the afternoon, I rush down to meet Pop and what happens? Well, naturally the delivery is made after six o'clock and I'm gone and so are the men.

Not long ago we bought box springs and mattress sets. Delivery was to be no problem according to the salesman — the warehouse would call me and it would be at my convenience that the delivery would be made.

Sounded fine — the warehouse man called. They would be out the next day with my beds.

WHEN I remonstrated feebly that I had a club date the next day, the man's voice was bored but firm.

"That's the day we'll be your way lady. That's our day to come." He waited as I shuffled the club date and a beauty shop appointment around.

"Would it be morning or afternoon?" I questioned.

"We couldn't say lady — all depends on where we start delivering."

So I called and canceled, called and canceled. Packed Son No. 2 a lunch and prepared to spend the next day at home awaiting the packages. The room was cleared of the other beds and all was in breathless readiness.

I GAVE UP the vigil at six and went to meet Pop leaving Son No. 2 as host to the wandering delivery men.

"They wouldn't stay and wait for you," son No. 2 declared about ten minutes later when I returned. They didn't have the headboard anyway so they'll be here on Monday he said."

So one day of inactivity down the drain and another to go.

"They never even asked if I'd be here," I said hotly to no one in particular and set about canceling the dates I'd made for Monday.

THE DAY arrived and waned. I called the warehouse where I was told that the truck might be at my house today, but really the driver shouldn't make any definite dates on delivery.

I was about to let Pop walk home from the train when the truck arrived. One man brought in the headboard and then there was much searching and moving around in the truck while I started biting my fingernails and paced up and down the cold living room — they'd pinned the front door open.

After 15 minutes of searching one man appeared to request the use of the phone. As I eavesdropped I heard there were three mattresses but only one box spring and no two mattresses matched.

"I'm sorry," said the really nice driver. "They pack the trucks and I just deliver. The stuff will be here on Wednesday."

WEDNESDAY, I thought wildly. Yes Wednesday would be fine. I had bridge club here so I'd be home.

The beds were delivered through the snow of Wednesday by two who trotted happily from door to bedroom in boots that spread snow liberally along the way.

"I just takes life as I finds it," said one man as he tried to talk me out of the salesman's promise of setting up the beds. "But I refuses to put them boots off and on even if we do put up the beds."

So it took three full days to deliver one purchase. That's why I hesitate about buying any thing larger than a bread box that needs the assistance of the unconcerned delivery man.

I guess I just lack patience that's all, and as Benjamin Franklin said — "He that can have patience can have what he will—." But I wonder if he ever waited for a delivery man?

Expert Gives Advice On Spring Planting

The first soft breezes of spring awaken in homeowners the eager desire to begin home landscaping projects.

Bacil Hurr, president of Illinois Landscape Contractors Association, says "Beware!"

"Whether your plans include just top dressing a lawn, planting one shrub or an extensive landscaping project, beware of the uneducated, ill-prepared or unscrupulous landscaper, shrubbery and dirt peddler who may try a high pressure, quick sell approach."

This Chicago landscape leader explained that through ignorance or out-right dishonesty, the "humus huckster" has bilked many Chicagoland homeowners.

TO PROTECT THE the home owner and the good reputation of the many ethical landscapers, Hurr suggested some rules.

1. If sizeable project, ask for a contract. Both parties can then have full understanding of work to be done.

2. Ask for references. Request names and locations of previous contracts, preferably done several years before.

3. Wherever possible purchase Illinois grown nursery stock. If funds are limited, it's best to purchase one good specimen plant than several which are low priced but also low quality.

4. TRY TO deal with known, reliable local man. His membership in a trade association may indicate he is interested in good ethics and in bettering his work.

5. Be certain to understand necessary maintenance. When landscaper says, "Water tree well," ask for details. Holding landscaper responsible for replacement is not the answer. Valuable time is lost with failures.

6. Be wary of fantastic claims! There are no miracles. The beauties of conventional plant material and procedures are worth waiting for — and worth the money.

7. REPORT abuses to Better Business Bureau.

8. In purchasing plant food, look for guaranteed analysis on the bag. Black dirt top dressings are not always conducive to good growth of certain grasses. Beware of exorbitant charges and promises despite minimum effort.

9. Be prepared. Write to Illinois Extension Office, 201 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights, for free bulletins on lawns, shrubs and landscaping.

The Illinois Landscape Contractors Association is endeavoring to raise the ethics of the profession by promoting education and good practices in monthly meetings, seminars and field trips for all landscapers. (15BB

How Industry Helps Medicine Is Theme of Heart Meeting

Chicago area business and industrial leaders will converge on Chicago's Sherman House Tuesday to learn how one of their own kind is cooperating with the medical profession to save the hearts of management and labor.

The luncheon session, using the electronics industry as an example, will show how business and doctors can join forces to assist medical science through technological advances.

The spotlight will be on heart-related equipment developed by electronic firms.

Sponsored by the Chicago Heart Association and the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry, the program is known formally as the 12th Heart - In-Industry Conference. Its theme is "The Electronic Miracle—Industry Saves Hearts for Industry."

MORE THAN 30 other labor, business and health organizations, including the Public Health Council of DuPage County, are cooperating in the session.

It is hoped that through a conference such as this, companies will learn of technological medical advances, especially in the heart field, that can benefit them and their workers. Another conference goal is to stimulate additional firms to enter the medical instrumentation field.

The two luncheon speakers will be Joseph S. Wright, president and chief executive officer of Zenith Radio Corp. of Chicago, and Dr. Lawrence E. Hinkle Jr., associate professor of medicine and director of the division of human exology at Cornell University Medical College in New York.

WRIGHT'S TALK will revolve around industry's participation in medical instrumentation.

Dr. Hinkle will use a motion picture he developed at Cornell to illustrate how the human electrocardiogram varies under conditions of daily life.

As an "on-the-spot" example, a mystery guest somewhere in the room will have been previously wired, and throughout the luncheon and talks his electrocardiogram will be flashed on a screen visible to the audience. His identity will be announced at the end of the conference.

THE EQUIPMENT used for this demonstration will be supplied by Telemedics Inc.

Commenting on the conference, Dr. Harold P. Lyon, medical director of Swift & Co. and chairman of the Chicago Heart Association's industrial medicine committee, said:

"The electronics industry through the development of new instruments has become one of the foremost contributors to advances in the field of medicine, especially in problems relating to the heart and circulatory system.

"THERE SEEMS little doubt the industry will continue to progress along this road. The speed and extent of this advance will depend upon a well-developed working relationship between an electronics - oriented group and a medically-oriented electronics group."

Presiding at the conference will be Dr. Morris Fishbein, president of the Chicago Heart Association, and Thomas H. Coulter, chief executive officer of the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry.

Organizations with exhibits or contributing equipment besides Telemedics include: Avionics Research Products Corp., Nuclear Data Inc., Beckman Instruments, Westinghouse Electric Corp., Burdick Corp., Sanborn Co., Illinois Bell Telephone Co., Zenith Travenol Laboratories and Service Activities of Volunteer Engineers.

Tickets for the conference, which include luncheon, are available through the Chicago Heart Association, 22 W. Madison St., Chicago, 60602, or the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry, 30 W. Monroe St., Chicago, 60603. (15BB

Briefs Homeowner On Fire Insurance

Each winter the sharp increase in home fires causes many homeowners to find out they are carrying too little fire insurance, according to Carl F. Krieg, regional manager of the Allstate Insurance Companies.

"We estimate that nearly half the homeowners in America carry fire insurance which is less than the actual cash value of their homes," pointed out Krieg. "The high percentage of underinsured homes is not surprising when you consider the tremendous increase in building values since World War II.

"Many families purchased their fire insurance years ago and have never bothered to review their protection since," commented the Allstate spokesman. "Every homeowner should review his fire insurance or homeowner's policy often to make sure it is adequate for his needs."

Krieg said a homeowner can check his policy by first writing down the amount of his insurance purchased for his house. Next, he should write down the estimated current cash value of the house, excluding the cost of the land. If the amount of the policy is less than the actual cash value of the dwelling, then the house is underinsured and the homeowner would have to bear part of the loss himself if fire totally destroyed the home.

"HOMEOWNERS must remember that the most they can ever receive under their policies is the amount of insurance purchased," warned Mr. Krieg. "Homeowners should insure to the full value of the home. The difference between the cost of insurance at 80 per cent of the value and the full amount is small when you consider the peace of mind it brings."

The Allstate executive reminded homeowners that today's fire and homeowners' policies can provide not only insurance for residences and personal property, but for special needs including personal liability and theft insurance.

Golf Mill to Show Unusual Log House

An unusual home is going to be on display in the Golf Mill Shopping Center at Golf and Milwaukee Roads in Niles this month.

Fashioned from a hollowed out California Redwood log estimated to be about 1,900 years old, the three-room home will be exhibited near the Mill from next Monday through the following Saturday, April 17.

While the log dates back to the time of Christ, it features the latest in housing, building technique and interior design. It is 33 feet long, eight feet wide and nine and a quarter feet high. Exhibitor Keith Straughan and his son took more than a year to build this unusual home.

STRAUGHAN got the idea for the house during a fishing expedition some 30 years ago when he was caught in a squall on the Klamath River. He took shelter in the burned-out trunk of one of the giant trees. However, he did nothing about his idea until after World War II.

After tramping through redwood forests for a month in search of a suitable tree, he selected a 267-foot high tree that was 14 feet in diameter. The section selected for the house was 65 feet above the ground.

For the children Golf Mill merchants have a special attraction in bunnies Flopsie, Mopsie and Cottontail, who will be at the center handing out free candy on Saturdays, April 10 and April 17.

Reduction In Distance Phone Rates

Lower rates for many long distance telephone calls went into effect April 1. This is the second reduction in telephone rates in two months; the first one went into effect Feb. 1.

Illinois Bell Telephone said the April 1 cuts, ranging from 5 to 20 cents for the first three minutes, will be made on all daytime "station" calls of 601 or more miles which cross state lines. These rates also apply on calls between 4:30 and 6 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The maximum rate for a three-minute station call between Chicago and anywhere in the United States, except Alaska and Hawaii has been reduced from $2.10 to $1.90.

Automobile Should Have Post-Winter Check-Up

Your car has been through a long, hard winter.

Now that spring is just around the corner and before your attention is drawn to other affairs, take five minutes to give the old buggy a once-over.

Your service station man will be glad to do this for you, and the five minutes you take will pay off in long hours of carefree operation during the coming months, according to a spokesman for Standard Oil division of American Oil Co.

WHAT ARE THE things to look for during the five-minute check-up?

First of all, the oil. The motor oil in your crankcase probably is winter weary. The oil may be diluted with gasoline left behind when your car failed to start immediately, contaminated with water and acids that collected in the crankcase when the temperatures were low, and polluted with dirt, dust and carbon.

If your oil is in this shape, it cannot keep your engine from rusting, and it cannot prevent the wear that will lead to extensive engine damage and an expensive overhaul. An oil change is a good investment. Change the oil filter at the same time. That completes this important cleaning process.

Incidentally, never exceed the manufacturers' mileage or time recommendation for oil changes. To be absolutely sure, change oil at least every 60 days.

HERE ARE some other items that should be checked for safety and better performance:

Tires — Remove snow tires, rotate the others when you replace them, and check for wear and danger signals.

Batteries — Batteries have just gone through their roughest use. A quick check can tell you whether your present battery should have a fast charge or be replaced. Check the rest of the electrical system also: Spark plugs, distributor cap and breaker points, condenser, wir-electrical system also: Spark breaker points, condenser, wiring.

Radiator — For best performance, drain out the winter's anti-freeze and flush.

BRAKES — have the brakes and wheel alignment checked. Don't forget a check on the steering linkage.

PCV — The positive crankcase ventilator valve (PCV) is on almost all 1963 and later model car engines. When it is working properly, it helps reduce air pollution. When it is not, it can impose an additional load on the motor oil and increase consumption, cause rough idling and increase wear and corrosion in the engine. Have it checked.

The extended interval lubrication advertised for most new cars applies only to the chassis — actually, in most cases, only to the front suspension unit. Such items as door hinges, latches, bushings, grommets, shackles, pedal shafts, fan and other belts, and similar items need regular lubrication.

STEERING LINKAGE, wheel bearings, parking brake cable, chassis bearing seals must be checked regularly and lubricated when necessary. Shock absorbers, differential, exhaust pipes, brakes, mufflers, body bolts, lights and other parts need periodic checking.

This sounds like a long list. Actually, all these things can be checked very quickly and most, if not all, of the necessary repairs, replacements and adjustments can be done at your regular service station.

The result is not only a better operating, more reliable, more serviceable automobile, but a safer one as well.

For safety and performance — take five, then take off.

Income Tax Queries Answered by Agency

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. This is the final column in this series answering questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — WE HAD some heavy medical expenses this year. So far, we've paid only part of the bill. Can we deduct our entire medical bill or just what we paid on it last year?

A — Only the amount you paid last year should be used as the basis for figuring your medical expense deduction. Also, the medical bills you paid last year must be reduced by whatever reimbursement you received from hospital and medical insurance plans.

Don't forget that only medical expenses, except those for taxpayers 65 or over, in excess of 3 per cent of your adjusted gross income are deductible. Further, only medicine and drug costs in excess of one per cent of adjusted gross income can be included with your medical expenses if you are under 65.

Q — I'VE RECEIVED another W-2 since I filed my return. What should I do?

A — If you forgot to include the income from the late W-2 on your return, file an amended return as soon as possible with the W-2 attached. Mark the return, "amended" at the top and complete it containing all the information required.

If you included the income covered by the W-2 on your return, then just hang onto your W-2. You may be contacted by our office requesting it to complete your return.

Q — MY FATHER receives about $1,200 yearly from Social Security. I gave him $25 per week for food in addition to buying his lunches, paying his rent, etc. Can I claim him as a dependent?

A — If your father receives no income other than the items you mention, then you may be entitled to claim him as a dependent. The key question is whether you provide more than half his support assuming the other tests of dependency are met. Your weekly payments of $25 plus taking care of his rent would be more than he receives from Social Security and unless someone else is also furnishing him support you are entitled to claim him scbject to certain other qualifications being met. You will find these covered in the Form 1040 instructions and in the Internal Revenue Service Booklet, "Your Federal Icome Tax."

Q — THIS SORT of question can usually be answered based on income information alone. The amount of your deductible expenses has an important bearing on the tax return to be filed.

Generally, a joint return is most advantageous for married couples. However, you should figure your tax both ways, filing jointly and filing separately, and file the way that costs less.

Q — CAN I deduct the costs of operating my automobile for the driving I do as a salesman on company business on a mileage basis?

A — Yes, you can, at the rate of 10 cents per mile for the first 15,000 miles and 7 cents per mile thereafter, as you can list your actual expenses. Howe v e r, check the rules (found in Revenue Procedures 64-10) for specific limitations ande requirements.

Q — I WAS OUT of work for some months last year and received unemployment compensation from the state. Must I report this on my return?

A — No. State unemployment compensation benefits are not taxable.

Q — INTERNAL Revenue has asked me to appear for an audit of my last year's return. The man who helped me prepare it says he is not permitted to represent me. What should I do?

A — Anyone who helped you prepare your return and signed the return in the space provided can appear with you when your return is audited.

However, should the audit lead to a proposed change in your tax liability and you disagree with the examining agents report, then you can only be represented on appeal by someone who holds a Treasury Card. This means they are qualified to practice before the Internal Revenue Service.

Many of the firms specializing in tax help are qualified to practice.

HINTS TO HOMEOWNERS

by Richard H. DeLano, Associate Farm Advisor

ALERT HOMEOWNERS DIAL DAILY 392-3060

Our most valuable shade tree is the American elm. How long we can continue to enjoy it depends in our ability to control Dutch elm disease. In the past, fertilization, quick removal of diseased trees and spraying has controlled the problem.

In addition to these tried and proven techniques, a new controversial method is being publicized. It involves injecting Bidrin into the tree. The technique has been extensively tested by the Illinois Natural History Survey.

In 1959, Drs. L. L. English and Walter Hartstirn of the Illinois Natural History Survey started five years of experiments on the use of Bidrin for the control of the Dutch elm disease. Their preliminary studies of 1959 indicated that this chemical would protect the American elm against most of the feeding of the smaller European elm bark beetle for about a month. This bark beetle is the main vector of the disease.

In these preliminary experiments it was also determined that the dosage necessary for the control of beetle feeding would cause some injury to the trees.

IN 1960 A FIELD experiment was established to determine how much disease control would be experienced with Bidrin and how trees would react to yearly treatments. Half of the trees in this experiment, which were about 4 inches dbh, were treated with Bidrin once each year for a period of four years. The remaining half of the trees were held untreated for comparison.

Chemical toxicity to the trees was extensive and accounted for the death of 13.6 per cent of the treated trees while 8.6 per cent of the treated trees died of Dutch disease. This amounted to a 22.2 per cent loss of treated trees compared to a 21 per cent loss of untreated trees due to the disease.

These results were so unfavable that the Bidrin evaluations were terminated at the end of 1963. Not only was there insufficient control of Dutch elm disease with the use of Bidrin, but losses due to chemical injury were much too great.

ALTHOUGH results obtained by other research workers in 1964 were reported to be more favorable, and there may have been some change in composition of the material, this later work needs repeating and wider evaluation before we feel we can consider Bidrin for recommendation.

The United States Department of Agriculture will conduct some of this research in 1965 in an attempt to determine whether they can or cannot recommend Bidrin for the control of Dutch elm disease.

We will wait with much interest for the results of these tests, but until more favorable data on the use of Bidrin for the control of Dutch elm disease is available, the Illinois Natural History Survey recommends that people continue to use the control procedures recommended in the past. (15 BB

Jr. College Needs Citizens' Support

A great opportunity awaits residents of Wheeling, Elk Grove, Palatine and Schaumburg Townships.

By a good margin, they have approved creation of a community college, responding to today's need for more education. The people have accepted responsibility for action themselves, without waiting for some higher governmental agency to do it for them. The task of creating a junior college begins with a clean slate.

Some opponents of the junior college have been free with gloomy predictions. One letter-writer to our Fence Post page declared flatly that it is destined to be "another second-rate" junior college.

The junior college will be what the community determines it shall be. There is nothing in the nature of junior colleges, or of the four-township area, that pre-destines this effort to have a second-rate result. However, it will take continued citizen knowledge, interest and participation to make it first-rate.

The law provides that the election of a governing board take place 30 days after the canvass of the referendum vote on establishing the college. Candidate filing is hurried and, for the new district, will end tomorrow, April 9. The election has been set for May 1.

The law should be changed to provide more than a month between the referendum and election of the board. However, the new district must comply with the law as it now stands.

Voters must make the most of the short time available to familiarize themselves with qualifications of those seeking board seats.

We hope the new board will move promptly to set up a Citizens Advisory Committee to help launch the new institution.

Such committees have been important in charting and getting voter approval for expansion of area high schools to serve expanding populations.

A Citizens Study Committee did yeoman work in developing the facts on which the successful referendum to establish a junior college was based. Further contributions of such a committee can be invaluable.

A host of questions must be answered: What is the probable character of the student body? What should be included in the curriculum and where should the emphasis fall? What particular community needs must this college satisfy? How will financing be obtained? What is the junior college experience of other areas?

The junior college board will need help to get complete, factual and up-to-date answers to these and other questions that will arise. That is why it should call upon civic, professional, educational, business and industrial leaders of the community to serve on a Citizens Advisory Committee.

If the best talents to be found in four thriving townships are enlisted in the cause of planning the college, how can it be anything less than first-rate?

A Superior Choice

Suburban Cook County voters will cast ballots Saturday in the election for township school trustee, an office abolished as outmoded by the 101 other counties of Illinois.

Township school trustees are responsible for holding title to school property and for appointing the township school treasurer, who has little to do except occupy office space, duplicate work done by school district business managers, and draw a salary. This system is costing suburban taxpayers an estimated $750,000 annually.

Increasingly, political organizations have used the prestige of the trustee office as a reward for partisan service and to satisfy the natural desire of party workers for a titled public office. It is regrettable that some candidates this year are better known for their partisan interests than for their interest in the cause of public education.

Trustee candidates in Palatine, Elk Grove, and Schaumburg Townships have not campaigned long enough or arduously enough to acquaint voters with any important distinctions in their qualifications for office. Any recommendation for these townships would, at this point, be mere guesswork.

We do feel qualified, however, to make a recommendation in Wheeling Township, where there is a clear distinction to be made among the four candidates. One stands out as a superior choice; we recommend the election of Mrs. Ellen S. Burrows for Wheeling Township school trustee.

Of the candidates, she is best informed on the township school trustee system, having served in 1963 on the Cook County School Committee urging legislative reform in the system. She has become well acquainted with Wheeling Township schools by regularly attending school board meetings for several years as well as all announced meetings of township school trustees.

Mrs. Burrows is free of any partisan political ties; her concern is solely with the welfare of schools and the advancement of economical, efficient local government.

She is the only candidate to publicly declare herself on the future of the township school trustee system. Her position concurs with our own judgment that this office is obsolete, wasteful, and an unnecessary burden on taxpayers whose tax dollars could be better spent on meeting the legitimate educational needs of our suburban communities.

City with a Smile

The village of Streamwood has launched a civic betterment program with an enthusiasm we hope will be contagious.

Choosing "City with a Smile" as its slogan, Streamwood is providing its residents with a booster kit enabling them to take part in publicizing Streamwood far and wide. The packet contains a bumper strip, two campaign buttons, and a sheet of gummed labels for envelopes. The name and fame of Streamwood will soon reach from coast to coast.

Of course, the campaign includes more than mere hoopla. Its aim is to advance worthwhile civic projects and to induce more able citizens to participate in the process of government and civic growth.

As such, it seems a natural continuation of Community Betterment Month, sponsored in Hanover Township by Paddock Publications, and now in progress.

As an important part of Community Betterment Month, the Hanover Streamwood Herald has asked readers to clip and complete a form giving their opinion on vital community matters, including improvements most-needed.

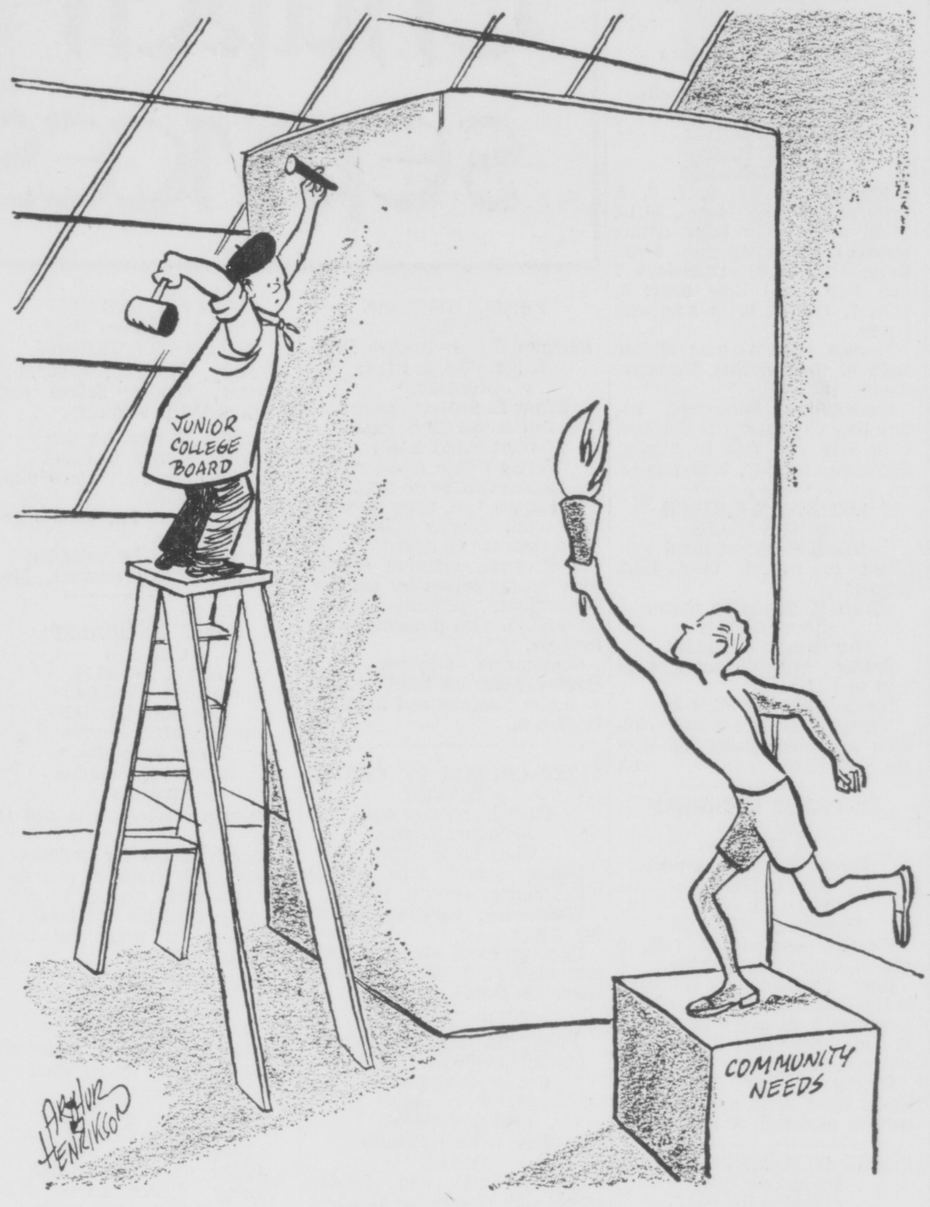

Readers who take the time to clip and fill out the survey form are providing valuable assistance to their elected officials.

First, they are letting these officials know what they want and need. Second, they are demonstrating that they are interested in their hometown and possess civic pride.

This will be equally true of those Streamwood citizens who join in that community's civic betterment campaign.

Streamwood boasts that it is a youthful village. The energy and enthusiasm of youth can accomplish miracles. Watch out for Streamwood!

Speak Up!

Should Cats Be Licensed?

by DAN PRIBILSKI
Staff Writer

The "Speak Up!" column has a way of catching people off guard.

But northwest suburbanites are a hardy and quick witted lot and they can be counted on to whip up an opinion on short notice.

This week's question: "Should villages license cats?"

What would you answer?

People were split over this issue, but one official viewpoint should set the record straight.

The viewpoint comes from Rolling Meadows Police Chief Cy Campbell. He said, "The question has never come up primarily because state law does not allow it. If my information is correct, we'd have to change the state law."

DESPITE THIS view, for the sake of discusion, let's see what others think.

"Cats?!! License cats?!!" said or rather laughed Mrs. Glen Newland, 612 N. Chestnut, Arlington Heights. "Why license cats?"

This reporter could give her no answer.

She asked, "How in the world would you keep a check on cats? They're just as bad as rabbits. You can't control them. Not having a cat, I don't care. I never thought about it. No, cats shouldn't be licensed."

THEN MRS. Newland asked still laughing, "You're not quoting me?" She was assured she was being quoted. "You're joking!"

But seriously:

Said Mrs. Joan Reddy, 304 Washington Blvd., Hoffman Estates: "I know a person ought to be thinking about these important matters, but I must say I've never considered this question. So, I'll have to give my opinion without much thought."

So Mrs. Reddy whipped off this opinion: "I don't really think it would be necessary. It would only be a means of getting extra revenue. You'd have to prove it is necessary to me."

PRIBILSKI

She was asked if she wasn't concerned with the birds who are constantly being preyed upon by cats. Would not a law requiring cats to wear bells be beneficial so birds are warned of these silent hunters?

"I don't worry about the birds," she replied. "It just doesn't disturb me."

MRS. JUDY Grashorn of Palatine owns cats and likes them. She said, "It all depends. I'd say yes if cats could still be free to roam. They do keep the city clean of mice."

She gave full assurance she does not let her cats roam.

"Wearing bells is a better idea than a license as such," she commented. "If they wear bells, this helps the birds and they would still be free to roam and kill mice."

Mrs. Grashorn added, "We'd still have a lot of cats roaming around even if they are licensed. But it would be easier for the police when they find them to return them to their owners."

A QUESTION arose of really how many cats roam around the suburbs.

Said Mrs. Lowell Fell, 1723 Robbie Lane, Mount Prospect: "I've seen one. That's all." She said it would be a good idea to license cats.

And Mrs. Marty Stallone, 271 Barron St., Bensenville, said, "I've never seen any stray cats. Probably not that many people who have cats let them run loose. Anyway, I personally prefer dogs."

Mrs. William McNeal, 232 S. Dwyer, Arlington Heights, had a cat when she lived in Michigan, and she said "I do appreciate how hard it is to keep cats in.

"They won't stay around. So offhand, I think cats should be licensed. It would be easier for the police to identify them. People truly interested in their cats would want it."

Quotoons

People who like to stir up trouble usually succeed.

If you want your wife to pay close attention to what you're saying, talk to her about buying some new clothes.

An optimist is a man who can hand his car over to a parking lot attendant without looking back.

A good executive is a man who isn't afraid to correct a mistake made by his secretary . . . no matter how pretty she is.

A man can always surprise his boss by picking up flowers for her on his way home from the office.

A welcome visitor is one you hate to see leave.

Critic's Corner

Colorless Kooks

By Ben Burns
Staff Writer

This is a true and accurate historical fantasy of the White Muslins and the Kooks Klucks Klan, both radical hate groups.

The White Muslins is a much older organization and thus is steeped in more colorful traditions.

BURNS

Take the White Muslin leader for instance. He is a tiny, frail, little man, who is known to the faithful as Algebra 42X Minus Y Square. He is also known as the Grand Elixer.

Algebra (that is what his friends call him) is so old and decrepit that he surely must be a prophet, according to White Muslin followers.

ALGEBRA IS called the Grand Elixer because that is what his occupation has been for years. During the daytime he has been Oafeekinoafy Swamp's expert distiller of moonshine elixers for the past half century. However, increased pressure from Yankee revenooers in recent years has forced Algebra to take up the Muslins as a sort of a moonlighting sideline to his moonshine profession.

Now the White Muslins are very misunderstood in our modern society, which refuses to devote time to the really important things. While the White Muslins are admittedly a hate group, they do not discriminate as biased sociologists claim. No, indeed, they hate just about everybody. In their white muslin sheets (from whence the many derived) they ride through the night burning huge X's on lawns and going snickerty-snick with their rifles at integrationists, who are black and white ordinarily, but black and blue after the Muslins catch up to them.

The reason the Muslins go snickerty-snick at the integrationists is because the integrationists are persecuting this minority group by trying to bring them into the fold, so to speak. By marching through Georgia, the integrationists hope to root out the Muslins from their swamp sanctuaries and either get them into the main stream of American thought or into insane asylums, which ever seems more apprporiate.

GETTING BACK to our history, the X in each White Muslin's name is in the true Algebraic tradition. It stands for the unknown. This stems from the fact that like Algebra 42X Minus Y Square, most Muslins can't write his name. Thus over the years the X has come to symbolize the final names of group members. A number is usually prefixed on the X in order to aid data processing systems for the Muslins.

This has created a problem for such men as Clarence 409X, who is sure to be the Muslin's first martyr. He usually gets caught by local police when the group goes on its midnight raids because it takes him so darn long to complete burning all those X's and most lawns are not big enough to contain them.

Of course, since the muslins stick pretty much to the South where the weather is decent enough to go kiting about the countryside clad only in a sheet, Clarence 409X's problems are somewhat reduced.

LOCAL POLICE, notoriously underpaid folk, usually are top ranking Muslin members because of their snickerty-snick training in the line of duty. Therefore Clarence 409X ordinarily gets off with a stern warning when caught lying in ambush with his trusty rifle; however, since the South takes considerable pride in its lawns, he has served several years for that offense.

The symbol of Muslin superiority is WAX (pronounced wacks). This stands for White, Anglo-Saxon and the traditional X for inability to read or write. Since only WAX's are eligible for membership, this gives the Muslins a broad spectrum of personalities which they can hate with "vigah," a word they happen to dislike particularly.

Since we have adequately dealt with the customs and traditions of the Muslins, let us now turn our attention to a recently organized group, known as the Kooks Klucks Klan. The KKK, better known as the Kooks, don't have much room in our society for hating because the Muslins have general patent rights on almost any group you might care to mention.

THIS FORCES the Kooks to devote their entire attention to hating White Anglo-Saxons. The KKK actually has none of the color or traditions of the Muslin organization. It was formed by an out of work Kluck, Elijah, by name, who happened to be of Scottish ancestry.

This capitalistic soul figured anything was better than being a bum on the streets, so he organized the Kooks in the north where the Muslins had not penetrated. Since the Kooks are more recent, they must be more discriminating. They allow only persons of red, yellow and black colors to join. This has become known as Rainbow nationalism to concerned whites.

This creates a problem for the Muslins and succinctly points out the moral of our treatise. It simply shows you can't tell a Kook by the color of his skin.

Cummins' Comment

P.Q. Tests for Recruits?

by BOB CUMMINS
Staff Writer

Recently we have heard a great uproar over the use of gas in warfare, as well as the use of napalm and phosphorus bombs and what not. The whole dispute shows how many loose ends of warfare have been allowed to unravel.

CUMMINS

I say we need a little better organization, else our wars are apt to become utterly confused and senseless.

Knowing I have an obligation not just to offer negative criticsm, I tried to think constructively. I finally came up with the theory that the entire trouble can be traced to inadequate basic training procedures among the armies of the world.

WE ARE ALL familiar with many of the aspects of basic training. We know about the intelligence tests, administered to new recruits. We know about the aptitude tests that ensure each man being assigned his proper military role.

We also know about the obstacle courses in basic training, over which even the most weak and awkward soldier crawls and climbs and runs until he is fit and ready for battle.

But one thing we have entirely neglected—and that is determining each soldier's pain quotient, or P.Q. for short. This neglect has been costly; it has resulted in sending soldiers into combat situations for which they were not prepared.

THEY COME face to face with cold steel and shudder at the thought of being run through by a bayonet; they flinch as the napalm balm sprays their barricades area with jellied gasoline, and they turn pale at the first sniff of mustard.

I think each basic training recruit should be given a series of torture tests, in addition to those he now receives, to determine his P.Q.

Let him plunge his bare arm up to the elbow in boiling oil, as in the medieval trial-by-ordeal. Let him walk over live coals as the Hindu mystics do. Let the fox gnaw at his breast, as one did in the story of the Spartan lad.

LET THERE be present at all these tests a sergeant who records each recruit's reactions and then computes his composite P. Q.

Only when a soldier's composite P.Q. is known would he be assigned to a regiment. The different regiments would have various names descriptive of the type of troops they contained.

Those whose P.Q. was very low might be assigned to the Chicken Regiment, for example. Those with a slightly higher P.Q. would comprise the Stiff Upper Lips. And at the top of the P.Q. scale would be the Roughnecks.

EACH REGIMENT would have a different color uniform which would be registered with the United Nations. And the United Nations would proclaim rules of warfare absolutely forbidding tactics too severe for any particular regment's P.Q.

Thus, the enemy would be allowed to stick a bayonet in a Chicken Regiment soldier but not to twist it around.

The enemy could drop burning gasoline on the Stiff Upper Lips, except on days when the temperature already exceeded 85 degrees.

GAS COULD be used only on those soldiers whose lungs were already pretty well shot as a result of excessive smoking.

Strict adherence to these rules would go a long way to silencing criticism of modern weapons and would help prevent warfare from degenerating into senseless barbarism.

a surrender to God

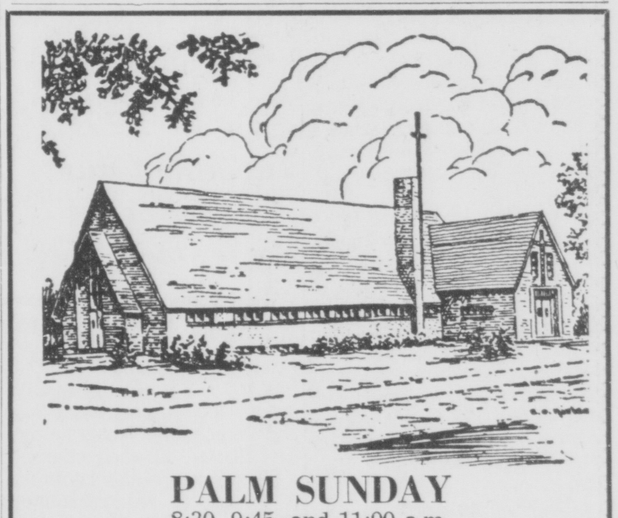

There's a kind of surrender that is really victory. It takes place in a man's heart. He gives himself up to a new way of looking at things and a more outreaching love. It's a way of healing. You're invited to hear a one-hour lecture on this subject by Paul A. Erickson of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship. Title: "The Way to Hope and Freedom." Everyone is welcome to come and listen.

New Zoning Concepts Needed To Prevent Apartment Blight

The apartment houses of 20 years ago that are so familiar in the minds of many readers are quite different than the apartments that are constantly being debated today. I have a gripe, not against apartments as such, but against the character in which the apartment building has fallen.

Allowing zoning boards to zone lots for apartment use in bunches, is the biggest mistake in judgment that the various boards have ever made. Over the years this type of zoning has had a tendency to make areas of villages look like dormitories.

These buildings are built for the sole purpose of producing profit. Profit, incidentally, is gotten by keeping maintenance at a bare necessity. The owner of the building rarely lives in it himself, thus all those "little things" have to be paid for or they are simply not done. Many are operated by management firms, who must according to sound business policy extract a profit for the owner and themselves.

In suburbia the apartment building is just an investment period. This character of the apartment building must be changed. One answer would be to encourage people to buy 2, 3 or 4 flats and live in them. You do this, by not zoning for apartments in clusters. This is the reason that discouraged the potential owner-resident. Who wants to live in a long row of commune-like buildings that are so common in this area?

The larger the apartment building, the less personal care it receives from tenants and owners. You cannot compare the absentee landlord with a resident landlord. You are talking about two entirely different breeds.

First of all, the resident owner chooses his occupants 10 times more carefully than the absentee landlord. He has to—these people are going to live in the same building with him. The falling behind in rent is checked earlier. The taking of parting souvenirs, such as stoves and refrigerators, is almost eliminated. The law, flowers, trees all look no different than that of the single-family residences that surround it, and not like a well trodden football field.

If need be, this resident landlord can ask for more rent than a comparable apartment with an absentee landlord, and I am sure he would receive it. The tenants of these neighborhood apartments will have a closer look at the community that they will be in, not near.

Different people will be added to the neighborhood. Teachers, young married couples, an engineer on assignment, and of course, the most important person, the semi- and fully- retired older folks. These are the ones with the most time on their hands. Time which could be used for civic activities or neighborhood baby sitting. Can you imagine what a waiting list would exist for any grandma that wanted to baby-sit?

In order to attract this type of tenant, in order to encourage a person to buy and live in an apartment house, zoning must be such that allows from one to three low-standing two to six apartments per block.

If apartments are here to stay —let's get them into the community.

Attendance at Flower Show Topped 340,000

The Chicago World Flower and Garden Show this year, in spite of inclement weather, reached an impressive attendance figure of over 340,000 visitors.

It is remarkable that this figure was attained in spite of inclement weather for most of the nine days.

This attests to the fact that Midwesterners are hungry for information obtained at the Flower Show and also are desirous of a preview of spring, which was literally the case this year at McCormick Place.

Information about the show was made possible by your valued newspaper, for which we are exceedingly grateful.

We pledge that we shall outdo even the success of this year's Show in 1966 which is scheduled from March 19 through March 27.

Heart Victim Praises Fire, Police Action

The weekend of Feb. 27 and 28 was drawing to a close in a normal, quiet and restful manner. Then at 4:30 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 28, without any warning, I was stricken with a heart attack.

The reason I am here today and able to extend my thanks and appreciation is due to the prompt and efficient efforts of the Roselle Fire Dept. and Schaumburg Police Dept. Both responded within a few moments to administer artificial respiration and oxygen, and even calling for an ambulance service for an emergency trip to Northwest Community Hospital.

I know of no words to describe properly how very grateful I am to these public servants. How does a man thank other men for giving him back his life. Thanks, fellows!

Objects to Use Of Word 'Hostile'

In the March 11 story on dual enrollment "Trial Asked By Bardwell," it is said that "Both Father Morrison and the Rev. William Cunningham of St. Zachary's Catholic School expressed some doubt about a proposal because of fear of hostile reactions from the community at large."

Their use, or the paper's use, of the word "hostile" should not go unnoticed. People should be able to discuss proposals that would build up or benefit the Catholic religious school system without being called names, in this case, "hostile."

Junior College Board Requires Capable Leaders

The Area Commcnity College Committee wishes to express our sincere appreciation for the fine coverage of the junior college referendum held March 27th.

We were most grateful for the excellent editorial in support of the referendum, as well as the many articles you presented giving the facts of the proposed junior college district, to the voters.

The next step, the election of the board of education for the junior college, is an important one. Due to the statutory limits, the election must be held May 1st. This is not an arbitrary date, as many people suppose, but must be called by the County Superintendent of Schools, in accordance with the Illinois School Code.

We hope, therefore, in view of the shortage of time, that you will be able to give as much coverage as possible to those who have filed petitions, so that the voters will be able to learn of the qualifications and interests of each candidate before the election date.

The ACCC is making no recommendatons but is our hope that the voters will be interested in electing a well-rounded, forward-looking group of men and women, who will be willing to devote a great deal of time and energy to this all important phase of the junior college development.

Juvenile Court Act Endorsed By Women Voters

The League of Women Voters of Palatine supports the proposed new Juvenile Court Act now before the Legislature (H.B. 513, S.B. 388.) We feel the sponsoring legislators, both Republican and Democratic, should be publicly thanked for their efforts.

The purpose of this legislation is to protect and rehabilitate children, as well as protect society. We concur in this aim. We feel that it can best be accomplished if juvenile court hearings continue to be private, and case records remain confidential, as these bills now provide.

Illinois was responsible for establishing the first juvenile court. The enabling Juvenile Court Act of 1899 was excellent, but many amendments and 66 years have passed. The League believes the proposed Juvenile Court Act will be another progressive step in the treatment of Illinois children.

President
League of Women Voters of Palatine

Says Sheehan Asked Partisan Township Slate

For years township elections in the north-west area, have been run on a non-partisan basis and it has always met with the entire approval of its citizens.

Mr. Thos. P. Cupan's article in your March 25 issue, captioned, "National Party Labels Opposed in Townships" and his defense of the non-partisan way, I think expressed the opinions of most people in all townships, of which I am one of the many.

In your Dec. 31, 1964 issue of the Herald, there was an article, where—Wheeling Township Republican Committeeman Thomas Houser, said, "In the past the township elections have been non-partisan, but it will be a partisan election this time." Why didn't he come out and say, where he got his directive from??

I'd like to know why the Republican committeemen of both Wheeling, Palatine and other townships, don't come right out in the open and say that Mr. Timothy P. Sheehan, Cook County G. O. P. chairman, asked them (??) to run Republicans as Republicans in the April 6th elections, and to disregard any and all non-partisan tickets, sponsored by many true and civic minded citizens of the community, for the betterment of the township.

These are the very same Republicans who are so very adept and prone to associate and identify the other national party candidates for various offices, be it non-partisan or partisan, as being under the wing and so called control of their party's county chairman. Now that its out in the open, and the shoe fits, let the Republicans wear it, and I hope (or do I) that they don't get bunions.

Disagrees with Candidate on 'Stagnation'

I'm amazed that a man who aspires to be Mayor of Palatine thinks of his home town as an "Island of Stagnation."

The Palatine Village Board recently adopted one of the best subdivision control ordinances in the state and the Enterprise recently reported the "rave" notices from all over the United States on our new "Plan for Palatine." Mr. Porter, who has been on the Village Board during this time, apparently hasn't been paying attention.

I'm sure that Palatine taxpayers will be interested in Porter's statement that Palatine development requirements are "too rigid." We have had some experience with developers who have tried to bend or relax our requirements. We're still paying for the few who succeeded in years past.

One question, Mr. Harry Porter, and only one: During the three years you have served as a village trustee, name just one proposal that you initiated or carried through to bring our village out of its "stagnation."

It's one thing to achieve progress, another to work for it; still less just to talk about it. But not even to recognize it when you're right in the middle of it — to find yourself and your neighbors to be in a "tight little island of stagnation" — that takes a remarkable individual!

Defends School Board Decision Not to Boost Salary Schedule

For all the years I have lived in Mount Prospect, I've tried to keep myself informed on our educational program. To do this I have read, I have talked to educators, I have taken some special classes myself, and I have attended board meetings.

The recent action by the board of education regarding teachers' salary schedules has resulted in a great deal of vilification from some of the teachers. The board is being accused of short-sightedness, prejudice, lack of concern and willingness to ruin Mount Prospect's good educational name.

The impression has been left that the individual teacher's salary will be identical next year. The board has decided to continue this year's schedule into next year unchanged. Almost every teacher will still get $100-$400 more as a normal increment written into the schedule. In my memory this will be first year that the entire schedule hasn't also been raised. So the teachers can't have been too badly treated year after year.

I've kept notes at the board meetings, and I believe I understand why they did what they did. The president of the board has distributed a financial summary sheet which shows that, at best, the district will have only $9,000 left at the end of next year on a $2,000,000 budget. This is a narrow enough margin, but those who are criticizing the Board are overlooking several vital facts:

1. To finish this school year the board has had to "borrow from itself" by taking next year's advance tax payments to meet all expenses right now in March, April, May and June. Apparently, this will be necessary next year.

2. The estimated income includes $111,000 of additional state aid which hasn't even been approved by the State Legislature.

3. The estimated expenses have been pared to an austerity level for which the Board has also been criticized by some of the teachers and the superintendent.

4. The teachers' own salary demands would have cost $86,000 more than is now budgeted.

What was the Board to do? $9,000 won't equal $86,000. If the State Legislature doesn't come through, the Board won't even have that $9,000. Besides, this year's tax rate increases were approved by the barest of majorities. How can the Board assume that another tax rate increase would be approved next year?

One of the board members has pleaded for "fiscal responsibility." This point of view has been echoed by all but one of the board members in their vote on teachers' salaries. Of course, the teachers are disappointed, but threats of strike or investigations, both of which I have heard several times in the last two weeks, are so unprofessional as to be disgusting.

I wonder how some of the teachers would have voted if their roles were reversed and they had to represent the Mount Prospect tax payer?

Appreciates Publicity on Rummage Sale

On behalf of the Wheeling-Buffalo Grove Nurses Club, I would like to thank the Wheeling Herald for the excellent publicity we received concerning our recent rummage and bake sale.

I would also like to thank all those good-hearted people who donated so generously of rummage and bakery goods to us. It is only through such community response that we are able to carry out our activities.

Thanks again and remember—save your clothes and household items for our fall rummage sale.

Mrs. E. Kuffel, R.N.

Antiques Fair Was Success

The Mount Prospect Woman's Club wishes to thank you for the excellent publicity given the club's Antiques Fair in the Mount Prospect Herald.

Because of the success of this event, we will be able to make substantial donations to club philanthropies.

Mrs. W. E. Lyman

DON'T YOU READ BEFORE YOU BUY?

Most people do. For nothing can tell you as much about a product as a message in print. Print shows colors best. Styles, too. And comparative prices, special uses, designs, shapes. Shows them as no other medium can. That's why your customers —and your competitor's customers—look to print when they're really ready to buy. If people can paint with your product, sit on it, eat it, serve it to company, walk on it, wear it, freeze foods in it, or drive it . . . better put it in print. Print makes sense, because print makes sales.

KNITTERS

Have you ever knitted with linen or cotton yarns? This year we have the largest selection we've ever had — and they are more popular.
They vary in weight from requiring a #3 needle up to a #7 needle. Linetta and Lucerne are two of the finer yarns. Delino and Chalet are more coarse. Aldebaran and Sunlin spun are the most coarse and fascinating. We have a few pieces of linen material to match the Lucerne. It's beautiful Belgian linen — enough for a dress for $5.50.

FINEST, FRESHEST PRODUCE ANYWHERE

EVERYTHING'S "IN-SEASON" ALL YEAR 'ROUND IN YOUR EAGLE'S "GARDEN OF GOOD EATING"

You won't find finer, fresher produce anywhere! All the "Top Fresh" fruits and vegetables in your Eagle produce department are just hours away from the best orchards and gardens in the world, where they were tenderly raised and pampered for Eagle customers. When Mother Nature has done her best, Eagle hurries the crop, in refrigerated trucks to your food center. Your Eagle produce department is like a "breath of Spring" all year 'round. The brightest colors are exquisitely arranged . . . just like a garden. You have the largest selection in all Chicagoland from which to choose. You can toss a salad with tender, crisp, little heads of Bibb lettuce and crackling fresh Romaine. You can get fresh mushrooms to smother in butter for your steaks. Or you can serve delicate Watercress sandwiches at tea time. You'll get exciting new menu ideas every time you stroll through Eagle's Top Fresh produce department. Best of all "the time is always ripe at Eagle" and everything is priced to save you money.
